

This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

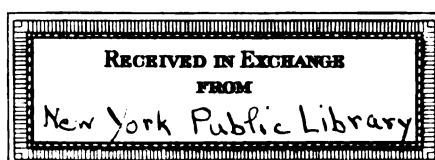

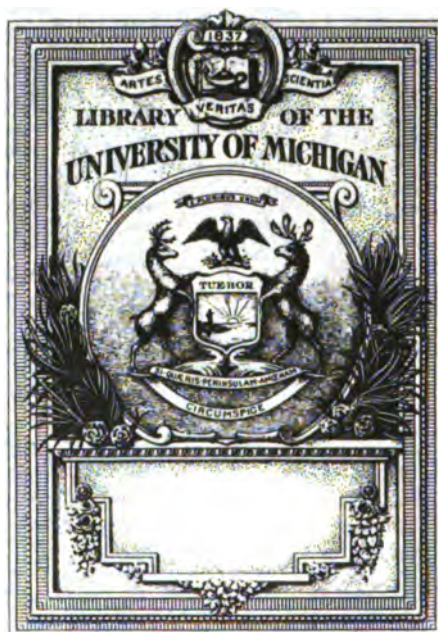

We also ask that you:

MESSAGE.

To the Senate and House of Representatives:

Section five, of article one, of the Constitution, prescribes that the Governor "shall, at the commencement of every session of the Legislature, communicate in writing such information as he may possess in reference to the condition of the State, and recommend such measures as he may deem expedient."

This year, for the first time in the history of the State, the term of the retiring Governor does not expire until six days after the assembling of the Legislature, and thus it is made my duty, under the provision of the Constitution above recited, to transmit to you this communication.

I have no disposition, however, to trespass on any prerogative of my honored successor. An experienced legislator and a citizen familiar with all the concerns of the government and people of Kansas, he is abundantly qualified to advise you concerning legislative requirements and executive policies. But as the Constitution imposes upon me the duty of addressing you, it seems appropriate that, in discharging it, I should present such information concerning the condition of the State and its departments of government, and submit such suggestions touching the practical working of our institutions and laws, as my observation or experience may appear to justify.

THE DEVELOPMENT OF KANSAS.

The last two years have not been, in all portions of Kansas, seasons of plenty and prosperity. The harvests in many counties of the western half of the State have been below the average of former seasons. But, notwithstanding this, our general condition is fairly prosperous. The growth of the State has been constant, and the development of her resources and industries remarkable. This fact is best shown, perhaps, by a comparison of the vote cast in 1884 and 1888. Both were Presidential years. The total vote of 1884 was 265,379, while that of 1888 was 330,215—an increase of 64,836. A contrast of the vote of 1880 with the United States census of that year, shows that the ratio of population to voters was nearly five to one. This ratio increases with the age of a State. The vote of 1888, therefore, clearly establishes the fact that the population of Kansas is fully 1,651,000—an increase since 1880 of over 654,000, and since 1885, of 392,000.

During the past four years twenty-three counties have been fully, and one partly organized, making a total of one hundred and six. These newly organized counties embrace an aggregate area of 19,932 square miles, or very nearly one-fourth of the total area of the State. At the date of their organization their population aggregated 66,147, and they polled, at the November election, an aggregate vote of 19,428 votes, indicating a population, at that time, of 97,140. Their territorial area exceeds that of Massachusetts and Vermont combined, and nearly equals that of the three States of Maryland, New Jersey and Connecticut. Four of these twenty-four counties were organized in 1885, viz.: Comanche, February 27th; Clark, May 5th; Thomas, October 8th; and Meade, November 4th. Eleven were organized in 1886, viz.: Hamilton, January 29th; Kiowa, March 23d; Cheyenne, April 1st; Lane, June 3d; Seward, June 17th; Scott, June 29th; Stevens, August 3d; Gove, September 2d; Sherman, September 20th; Morton, November 18th; and Wichita, December 24th. Five were organized in 1887, viz.: Stanton, June 17th; Haskell, July 1st; Garfield, July 16th; Gray, July 20th; and Logan, September 17th. Three have been organized during the past year, viz.: Kearney, March 27th; Grant, June 9th; and Greeley, July 9th. Wallace county, organized in 1868, was declared, by a recent decision of the Supreme Court, to have been disorganized in 1879, and, on petition of the legal voters and householders of the county, a census-taker was, on the 24th of November last, appointed to make an enumeration of the inhabitants, preliminary to the reorganization of the county.

At the beginning of the year 1885, only three cities, Topeka, Atchison and Leavenworth, were organized as cities of the first class. There are now six, Kansas City, Kansas, Wichita, and Fort Scott, having since been so organized. During the same period twenty-seven towns have been organized as cities of the second class, viz.: Cherryvale, Abilene, Eureka, Minneapolis, Anthony, El Dorado, Seneca, Weir, Great Bend, Dodge City, Larned, Hutchinson, South Topeka, Kingman, Garden City, Council Grove, Caldwell, Concordia, Coffeyville, Osborne, Horton, Belleville, Nickerson, Holton, Marysville, Galena, and Marion, in the order named.

The increase in the area of land in cultivation, during the past four years, aggregates 6,756,873 acres; and of land taxable, 13,032,815 acres, while the assessed value of property has, during the same period, increased $116,227,941.

The educational interests of the State have kept pace with its material development. There are 1,591 more school-houses and 1,969 more teachers employed than in 1884, while the value of our school property has swelled from $5,715,582 to $8,608,202—an increase of $2,892,602. The school population in 1884 was 411,250; in 1888, 532,010—an increase of 120,760. The receipts for common-school purposes in 1884 aggregated $3,013,778, and the expenditures, $2,882,- 963; while for 1888 the receipts were $4,732,403, and the expenditures $4,703,647—an increase of $1,718,625 in receipts, and $1,820,684 in expenditures. On the first of January, 1885, the Permanent School Fund aggregated $3,068,985.01, and on the first instant it aggregated $4,853,540.40—an increase of $1,784,555.39.

The most extraordinary growth, however, is shown in the railway system of the State. On the first of January, 1885, the railways of Kansas aggregated 4,064 miles of main and 489 miles of side track, or a total of 4,553 miles. On the first of January, 1888, they had completed and in operation 8,799 miles of main, and 899 miles of side track, or a total of 9,698 miles, and an increase, in four years, of 5,135 miles. The assessed value of railway property in March, 1884, was $28,455,909, while on the first of March, 1888, (when the assessments are made by the State Board,) it aggregated $52,829,664—an increase of $24,373,757 in four years, or very nearly double the valuation of 1884.

On the first of January, 1885, sixty-nine counties were traversed by one or more railways; on the first of January last, one hundred counties were traversed by railway lines. In railway mileage, Kansas is now the second State of the Union. Her railways average one mile to each nine and a half miles of Territory, and five and a half miles for each one thousand inhabitants.

These facts clearly indicate that the State, even during two years of partial crop failures, has continued to grow. Indeed, Kansas has never, since her organization as a Territory, failed to attract attention, labor, enterprise and capital, nor to find for these, employment and advantage.

FINANCIAL.

The biennial reports of the State Auditor and Treasurer, herewith submitted, show in detail the receipts and expenditures during the biennial period ended June 30, 1888, and present, also, a general exhibit of the financial condition of the State.

The balance in the State Treasury, June 30, 1888, aggregated $324,882.06. The receipts, for the six months ended December 31, 1888, were as follows: From taxes, $519,-363.72; from principal on school lands, $157,105.96; from principal on bonds paid, $115,168.56; from interest on school lands sold, $147,217.91; from interest on school bonds, $115,333.63; from all other sources, $166,560.09—making a total (including balance in the Treasury, June 30th,) of $1,545,631.93.

The disbursements during the same period aggregated $1,301,801.18, as follows: General revenue, $522,141.14; State House, $115,282.74; State bonds redeemed, $30,000; interest on State bonds, $28,075; Militia Fund, $135.46; Veterinary Fund, $1,250.63; Permanent School Fund, $287,-022.50; Annual School Fund, $260,438.59; University Permanent Fund, $4,300; University Interest Fund, $3,908.22; Normal School Permanent, $10,875.90; Normal School Interest, $8,000; Agricultural College Permanent, $15,415; Agricultural College Income Fund, $14,956—making a total of $1,301,801.18.

The balance in the Treasury December 31, 1888, aggregated $243,830.75, divided among the several funds as follows: General Revenue, $14.99; State House, $29,978.25; Sinking Fund, $953.62; Interest, $13,526.70; Militia, $809,-84; Veterinary, $21,159.34; Permanent School, $94,229.70; Annual School, $69,274.18; University Permanent, $948.33; University Interest, $1,011.14; Normal School Permanent, $1,449.71; Normal School Interest, $462.76; Agricultural College Permanent, $3,251.72; Agricultural College Interest, $2,901.97; Insurance, $2,234; Library, $1,624.50.

The bonded debt of the State, on the first of January, 1889, was $803,000, showing a reduction since January 1, 1886, of $127,500; and a total reduction, during the past four years, of $132,500. Of the bonded debt outstanding, $256,000 is in the hands of individuals or corporations, and $547,000 is held by different State funds. The Permanent School Fund holds $537,000; University Fund, $9,000; and the Sinking Fund, $1,000.

State bonds to the amount of $86,000 will fall due on the first day of July, next, but provision has already been made for meeting them, by the issue of new four-per-cent. twenty-year bonds, to be sold to the Permanent School Fund, under the terms of an act of the last Legislature. No other bonds of the State are due and payable prior to October 15, 1894.

APPROPRIATIONS FOR THE CURRENT YEAR.

There are some facts in connection with the financial condition of the State which it is necessary that the Legislature should bear constantly in mind. The current fiscal year ends on the 30th of June, next. The tax levies for this year are already made, and the assessment of property values is on the tax-rolls. Neither of these can now be changed. The assessed valuation of all the property of the State, for the current fiscal year, aggregates $353,248,332, and the State tax of three and one-half mills, levied by the last Legislature for general revenue purposes, will produce a revenue of $1,236,369. The appropriations made by the Legislature of 1887, payable out of the general revenue fund for the current fiscal year, aggregate $1,103,340.

If, therefore, the entire amount of the tax levy could be collected and paid into the State Treasury before June 30th, it would exceed the appropriations already made only $133,059. Experience has shown, however, that there is invariably a deficiency of about five per cent. in the collection of the tax levy, resulting from double and erroneous assessments, that have to be corrected, and from delinquencies in payments. A similar deficiency, this year, would aggregate $61,818, leaving in the general revenue fund, in excess of the appropriations already made, only $71,241. A few receipts from miscellaneous sources will probably swell this amount somewhat. But the aggregate appropriations of the present Legislature, payable out of the general revenue fund for the current fiscal year, cannot exceed $125,000 without creating an indebtedness for the payment of which no money can be provided.

The State has steadily adhered to the wise policy of making the revenues of each fiscal year meet the appropriations for the same year. It is reasonably certain that the assessed value of property, for the fiscal year ending June 30th, 1890, will not greatly exceed that of the current year. The percentage of taxation should not be increased. The financial condition of the people forbids this. It is important, therefore, that the facts above presented shall be kept in view in making the appropriations for the next two fiscal years. The revenues of the State will be ample to meet the ordinary current expenses of all the departments of the Government, and to pay for all public buildings absolutely necessary to accommodate our public charities. But the strictest economy in appropriations is, at the same time, imperatively demanded, and should be rigidly adhered to.

MONEY RECEIVED FROM THE UNITED STATES.

The Governor is made the agent to receive from the United States all moneys due the State. During the past two years I have received drafts, which have been turned over to the State Treasurer, for the following amounts: January 14, 1887, on account of expenses of the militia in 1864, $237.01; November 23, 1888, on account of five per cent. on sales of Government lands, $26,700.95.

MUNICIPAL DEBTS AND TAXATION.

In my messages to the Legislatures of 1885 and 1887, I called attention, at some length, to the enormous aggregate of our municipal debts, and earnestly urged that stringent restrictions and limitations be put upon the debt-creating and tax-levying powers of counties, townships, cities and school districts. In my message to the Legislature of 1887 I pointed out the fact that these municipal debts were largely created by voting bonds to aid in building railroads, and urged that all authority to vote or issue such bonds be revoked, except in counties having no railway lines within their limits.

The Legislature of 1885 took no action on this subject. The Legislature of 1887 enacted a law reducing the limit of such aid from four thousand to two thousand dollars per mile, but unfortunately this law, by its own provisions, did not go into effect until the 1st of July, 1887.

The steady and enormous growth of our municipal indebtedness amply justifies all the recommendations touching this subject made in the messages referred to. On the 1st of July, 1884, the county bonds and warrants outstanding aggregated $8,065,748.29; township bonds and warrants, $2,650,030.90; city bonds and warrants, $2,487,436.17; and school-district bonds and warrants, $2,748,714.50 — making an aggregate municipal indebtedness of $15,951,929.86. On the first of July, 1886, the aggregate of this indebtedness had increased to $17,779,299.42, and on the first of July, 1888, it had reached the appalling sum of $31,107,646.90, with $373,712.03 in sinking funds, making the net municipal indebtedness to be yet provided for, $30,733,934.87.

The county bonds outstanding on the first of July, 1888, aggregated $13,207,265.25, and the county warrants, $732,-963.37; township bonds outstanding, $7,162,002.65, and township warrants, $12,308.33; city bonds outstanding, $5,-244,307.40; and city warrants, $164,168.66; school-district bonds outstanding, $4,513,237.59, and school-district warrants, $41,393.65—making a total, as above stated, of $31,-107,646.90. In other words, the municipal indebtedness of Kansas has been doubled since, in January, 1885, I called the attention of the Legislature to this subject, and urged that the most stringent restrictions and limitations be put upon the debt-creating and tax-levying powers of all municipalities.

It seems to me, in view of the facts and figures presented, that it is the imperative duty of the Legislature to at once repeal every law authorizing the creation of municipal debts for any purpose whatever, except, perhaps, the building of school-houses. "Pay as you go" ought to be, henceforth, the motto of every municipality of the State.

RAILROAD BOND VOTING.

Fully four-fifths of all the county, township and city bonds issued have been voted to aid in building railroads. It is reasonably certain that three-fourths of the railway mileage constructed during the past four years would have been built if not a single dollar of municipal aid had been voted. And it is an unquestionable fact that every mile of railway built in Kansas during the past four years, for which there was any legitimate demand, or that has been of real benefit or substantial value either to the business of the State, the prosperity of the people, or the pecuniary welfare of the railways or their stockholders, would have been constructed without the stimulus of a dollar of municipal bonds.

Kansas long ago passed the period when the fictitious stimulus of municipal bonds was necessary to secure the building of legitimate railway lines. The decade of war ended in 1865, and that of doubt or experiment closed in 1875. From that year to the present time no intelligent citizen of the United States has ever questioned the resources or doubted the prosperous development of Kansas. Every dollar of municipal bonds voted, during the past eight years, to stimulate the building of railroads, has been a useless and unnecessary public burden. Sagacious railway managers and builders understood, perfectly, what an inviting field Kansas offered to common carriers, and they would have occupied this field promptly and systematically, as the rapidly increasing commerce of the State demanded railways for its transportation. And, if the recommendation made to the Legislature of 1885, touching municipal indebtedness, had been favorably acted upon, Kansas would have had, to-day, all the railway lines necessary or important in transporting her commerce, while on the other hand her municipalities would have been burdened with fully $16,000,000 less of bonded indebtedness.

It is a fact capable of exact demonstration, that railway building in excess of the legitimate demands of State commerce is a curse, instead of a benefit, to every interested party—to the State as well as to railway stockholders, to the people as well as to railway managers. What all classes of the people are most interested in and benefitted by is a steady and rapid reduction of freights and fares to the lowest possible minimum. But this result is inevitably prevented or delayed by railway building in excess of the legitimate carrying trade of a country. The transportation rates of all railways are largely regulated by the volume of their business. Public sentiment or law will soon force a reduction of rates when it can be shown that the business of a railway is earning for it large profits. But when two railroad lines traverse a country whose carrying trade is sufficient to maintain only one, transportation rates will inevitably be high. The operating expenses of the two roads are double those of one; the capital invested in them is doubled; and, at the same time, the transportation business of the country they traverse is divided. The natural results are combinations or agreements to maintain high rates, and a long postponement of those conditions which invite and make possible a reduction of freights and fares. Competition in railway building, when it goes beyond the volume of the carrying trade of any section of the country, does not and cannot effect a reduction of transportation charges. On the contrary, it retards or prevents such reduction.

RAILWAY BUILDING IN KANSAS.

I do not, for these reasons, regard the extraordinary era of railway building that has characterized the past four years, as an unmixed blessing. Many of the new lines, it is true, are legitimate and necessary. They were demanded by the marvelous development of the State and the enormous increase of its carrying trade. But it is not an exaggeration to say that of the 5,135 miles of railway constructed in Kansas during the last four years, at least 1,500 miles were not demanded by either the growth of the State or the increase of its trade; that they are a hindrance rather than a help to prosperity, and that they will not earn enough, for many years to come, to pay their operating expenses. Their construction has entailed upon the people of many of our counties, townships and cities enormous municipal debts, which will be a burden, if not a curse, to their populations for a generation.

It is often said that these municipal debts were voluntarily contracted by the people. But this statement is not, in all cases, based on fact. In many instances, indeed, the votes authorizing them have been secured by compulsory processes.

Directly or indirectly the people have been informed that failure to vote bonds would result in the location of railway lines by such routes as would seriously injure or utterly destroy existing communities, in which were centered all the hopes, the efforts, and the accumulations of years of labor and enterprise. In this age, railways make or unmake cities and towns, and when a community, knowing this fact, has a railway bond proposition submitted to it, the alternative is well understood, and the freedom of action allowed its people is not very clearly apparent.

DISCRIMINATIONS AGAINST KANSAS TOWNS AND INTERESTS.

Many communities, too, have been deluded by hopes or defrauded by promises of local advantage that have not been, and never will be, realized. And worse than all, and of State as well as local concern, several of the railway lines of Kansas are so operated as to build up and foster alien communities, to the detriment or destruction of our own towns and cities. Extravagant and burdensome as is the volume of municipal indebtedness our people have voted to aid in building railways; it would not be disastrous if these corporations, the creatures of our laws and the recipients of the prodigal bounties of our municipalities, were so managed as to build up, promote and foster Kansas interests and Kansas communities. But several, if not most, of the railroads traversing our State are so operated as to retard the growth and damage the prosperity of communities that have materially aided in building them, and that are bearing heavy burdens of taxation to meet indebtedness contracted for this purpose.

The Board of Railroad Commissioners, in its last annual report, calls attention to some of these discriminations against Kansas interests and communities, and asks that additional powers be conferred upon the Board, by law, to compel the railways to deal justly in such matters. I cordially indorse this recommendation, and trust that the Legislature will vest in the Board ample authority not only to redress the wrongs specially mentioned, but to protect Kansas communities and Kansas interests generally against discriminations and injustice. That such legislation is necessary, no observing citizen of the State will question. On several Kansas railways, trains are run and freights and fares are adjusted for the benefit of alien communities, that bear none of the burdens of our government, and have no common interest in the prosperity of our people. One great line of railway, traversing a large portion of our State, has termini at two points on our border, both outside the limits of Kansas. Another line disregards the orders and defies the authority of our Board of Railway Commissioners. The rights, the interests, the welfare of Kansas towns and cities are ignored by many, if not most, of our railways, or if justice is done them it is grudgingly conceded, not as a right, but as a favor. It is time that the law-making power of the State gave these matters its serious attention. Kansas communities are justly entitled to all the benefits and advantages that Kansas railways can give them. Millions of acres of State lands, and millions of dollars in bonds, have been given by our people to aid in building these roads. The beneficiaries of this prodigal generosity should recognize their obligations to the people of the State, and so operate their lines as to confer the largest possible benefits and advantages upon Kansas communities. The Legislature, by wise and firm enactments, should demand that the trade and commerce of the State shall not be utilized for the sole benefit of alien cities and towns. The Board of Railroad Commissioners should have ample authority to prevent injustice being done to any Kansas community, either in the running of trains, in the adjustment of freights and fares, or by any other form of discrimination hurtful to Kansas interests or Kansas people. Appeals to the justice and fairness of many railway managers have been tried, again and again, for many years, and have failed to accomplish any important results. It is time to try what stringent law, backed by determined public sentiment, will do to secure justice for Kansas at the hands of Kansas corporations.

ILLEGAL METHODS.

I call your attention, also, to methods adopted by several counties and municipalities, for evading the existing limitations put upon their tax-levying and debt-creating authority. The Legislature of 1879 enacted a law "to enable counties, municipal corporations, the Boards of Education of any city, and School Districts, to re-fund their indebtedness." It was the plain intent and purpose of the Legislature, in enacting this law, to confer upon these municipalities, boards and districts authority to re-fund bonded indebtedness only; that is, to take up outstanding bonds, and issue others in their stead. But the letter of the statute confers upon any one of these municipal subdivisions of the State power to "compromise and re-fund its matured and maturing indebtedness of every kind and description whatsoever, upon such terms as can be agreed upon, and to issue new bonds * * * in payment for any sums so compromised."

In several, if not in many counties, cities, townships and school districts of the State, I am informed that the authorities have issued warrants or orders on the treasury for any purpose whatsoever, and whenever these warrants or orders aggregated a considerable sum, have treated them as "matured indebtedness," and proceeded to "compromise and re-fund" them by issuing in their stead interest-bearing bonds. In some of the newly organized western counties such warrants have been issued to pay expenses incurred in conducting county-seat contests, as well as for other unauthorized or extravagant expenditures.

This law should be so amended, at once, as to embody its original purpose in plain language, that cannot be perverted. The authority intended to be conferred, under its directions, was perhaps necessary. But the authority exercised was never intended to be conferred, and has been used, in many instances, to further wanton extravagance if not flagrant public robbery and official malfeasance.

ASSESSMENT AND TAXATION.

In two previous biennial messages I have called the attention of the Legislature to the fact that our laws for the assessment and equalization of property values needed thorough revision. Their defects, universally recognized, are organic. The system they create invites undervaluation and encourages partiality and injustice. It is impossible to secure a uniform and just assessment of property until there is a radical change in the methods of assessing and equalizing values. So long as township trustees are employed as the assessors, just so long will unequal and unjust assessments be the rule. It is absurd to expect that these officers, holding their positions by the votes of those whose property they assess, will not each endeavor to secure for his neighbors and constituents all possible exemption from the burdens of taxation.

Our laws, too, are contradictory in their directions to assessors. Section 15, chapter 107, Laws of 1879, requires that all classes of property shall be assessed "at the true value thereof in money." Section 58, of the same chapter, however, directs assessors to assemble at the county seat, on the first Monday of March of each year, "and then agree upon an equal basis of valuation of such property as they may be called upon to assess." The assessors invariably interpret the last quoted provision as authorizing them to fix any "basis of valuation" they may deem proper, and, as a rule, agree on a "basis" of one-third or one-fourth of the real cash value. But in actual work, even this basis is frequently disregarded by assessors, and numerous instances can be cited, in nearly every county, where property is assessed at not to exceed ten per cent. of its real value.

The county clerks, at a convention recently held, adopted a resolution looking to the election of a county assessor for each county. The officers making this suggestion have a knowledge and experience touching the practical working of our assessment laws, that entitles their opinion to considerate attention. The questions involved, however, are complex, and it will be difficult to establish a system that will not be open to some objections. But it is certain that a more unfair, inadequate, and objectionable system than that now provided by our laws cannot be devised. Any change, therefore, would be an improvement.

This subject is of such general and grave importance that it should receive your prompt, careful, and intelligent consideration. I call your attention to the suggestions made in the fifth biennial report of the late State Treasurer.

I desire to add that, in my judgment, it is essential that the powers of the State Board of Equalization shall be largely increased. This body is supposed to "equalize" assessments, but in fact it has no authority that will enable it to correct notorious inequalities. The limitations put upon its duties, by law, are of such a character that it can, at best, only partially adjust the inequalities of the assessment rolls in so far as they relate to State taxation, while the graver and more odious wrongs and injustice often done to different communities in the same county are beyond its jurisdiction or control.

PUBLIC EDUCATION.

The report of the State Superintendent of Public Instruction, which is submitted herewith, shows the public school system of the State to be in a condition of steady growth and improvement. Our school population—persons between the ages of five and twenty-one years—now numbers 532,010, an increase of 34,225 during the past two years. The number of scholars enrolled during the last school year was 403,351, an increase of 38,112 over 1886. The average daily attendance was 245,881, an increase of 25,978. Number of teachers employed in 1886, 9,387; in 1888, 11,310. The average wages paid teachers, per month, were: Males, $41.01; females, $33.64. There were in the State, at the close of the fiscal year, 8,196 school-houses, having 10,142 rooms, and valued at $8,608,202—an increase of 1,405 school-houses, 1,958 rooms, and $2,015,445 in valuation during the past two years. The receipts and expenditures for school purposes, during the school year ended July 31, 1888, were as follows:

Receipts.—Balance in district treasuries, August 1, 1887, $533,200.10; amount received from county treasurers from district taxes, $3,075,867.81; from State and county school funds, $553,390.28; from sale of school bonds, $900,597.83; from all other sources, $202,557.84—making a total of $5,265,613.86.

Expenditures.—Amount paid for teachers' wages and supervision, $2,677,513.29; for rents, repairs, fuel and incidentals, $636,567; for district libraries and school apparatus, $62,893.45; for sites, buildings and furniture, $1,051,124.94; and for all other purposes, $275,649.16—making a total of $4,703,647.84, and leaving in the hands of district treasurers, July 31, 1888, a balance of $561,966.02.

Your attention is respectfully invited to the suggestions made by the State Superintendent concerning changes in our school laws and other questions involving the improvement of our public school system.

HIGHER SCHOOLS.

The reports of the Regents of the State University, State Agricultural College, and State Normal School, give full detailed information concerning the present condition, future prospects, and needs of these great institutions of learning. Every citizen of Kansas must feel a just pride in their rapid growth and extending reputation, and will cordially approve any measures you may adopt to promote their welfare and increase their usefulness.

Very large appropriations have, however, been made, during the past four years, for buildings and other permanent improvements, at each of these schools, and I cannot approve some of the recommendations made by their Boards, advising additional appropriations for similar purposes. I have no doubt that all of the suggested improvements are desirable; and it is natural that the Regents, zealously anxious to promote the efficiency and usefulness of the institutions in their charge, should regard all as necessary. But appropriations for such objects ought to be considered not alone with reference to the needs of the institutions; the ability of the people to provide the necessary revenues, and the pressing necessities of all other public institutions supported by taxation, must also be considered. The past two years have not been, in many sections of our State, seasons of prosperity. Crop failures, epidemic diseases among stock, and other calamities of nature, have impoverished many of our people. Public expenditures should, therefore, be carefully guarded, and no appropriation that is not absolutely necessary, should be made. Increased salaries, at such a time, are especially obnoxious, and should not be allowed.

THE STATE UNIVERSITY now comprises six departments—Science, Literature and Arts, Law, Music, Pharmacy, Art, and Medicine. The Preparatory Department has been recently discontinued, as the Normal Department was a few years ago, and advanced tests for admission have been established, so that the institution may be devoted to legitimate university work, leaving secondary education with the high schools and academies of the State. These changes have largely reduced the number of students qualified for admission, but notwithstanding this fact, the number in attendance shows a steady and gratifying increase. On the first of January, 1885, the students enrolled numbered 419; and 24 professors, assistants, and instructors were employed. On the first of January last, 483 students were enrolled, and the corps of professors, assistants and instructors numbered 30.

During the past four years several important additions have been made to the buildings of the University. These include the "Snow Hall of Natural History," costing $50,000; a new boiler-house, built for $16,000; and an expenditure of $5,000 for strengthening the foundation walls of the south wing of the main building.

THE STATE AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE has, at present, 359 students enrolled, an increase of 21 since the close of the fall term of 1884. Its instructors in all departments number 25, an increase of four during the past four years. The improvements in buildings and fixtures, since January 1, 1885, have aggregated, in value, $27,000, and the increase in the value of the farm, furniture, stock and apparatus is over $70,000.

THE STATE NORMAL SCHOOL had 440 students enrolled on the first of January, 1885, and 660 are now enrolled. Fourteen instructors are now employed, an increase of three in four years. The expenditures during that period include $26,200 for buildings, $4,800 for museum and apparatus, and $5,000 for furniture and miscellaneous improvements.

The buildings of all these institutions are commodious, handsome, substantially built, and admirably adapted for their purposes, and it can be fairly said that the reputation of the University, the College and the Normal School, for thorough and exact work in their several departments, has more than kept pace with their improved facilities and attendance.

THE STATE CHARITABLE INSTITUTIONS.

The Board of Trustees of State Charitable Institutions has discharged its arduous duties with creditable industry and ability, and its biennial report embodies detailed information concerning the condition and needs of the institutions under its supervision. These are all in a healthy and prosperous condition. Their management is in excellent hands, and each is doing the work assigned to it with greater efficiency and vigor than at any previous time in its history. This judgment is confirmed by the universal testimony of the communities where they are located, and by all who have visited them. The State has just reason to be proud of the work accomplished by these institutions, and of the high reputation they enjoy among public charities of similar scope and aim throughout the Union.

Large and valuable additions have been made, during the past two years, to the Institution for the Blind, the Institution for the Deaf and Dumb, and the State Reform School, and the accommodations for the pupils of these institutions—with the possible exception of the Reform School—are now ample to meet all demands for several years to come.

THE INSTITUTION FOR THE BLIND had in attendance, on the first of January, 1885, 63 pupils; at the present time it has 86 pupils enrolled. During the year 1885 a boiler-house and laundry, costing $7,000, were built, and during the past two years a large addition to the main building, costing $18,000, was completed. The training of pupils at this institution is judicious and thorough, and the school is, in every sense, doing good work.

THE INSTITUTION FOR THE DEAF AND DUMB had, on the first of January, 1885, 172 pupils. It now has 321 enrolled. Two large school buildings and a laundry have been erected during the past four years, at a cost of $82,000. The Kansas Institution for the Deaf and Dumb now ranks, in size, as the eighth in the United States. Its discipline and morale have been greatly improved since its present Superintendent was appointed, and the course of instruction enlarged and thoroughly systematized.

THE STATE REFORM SCHOOL had 103 pupils enrolled, on the first of January, 1885; it now has 208. During the past four years two family cottages, a dining hall, with chapel in second story, a boiler-house and laundry, a barn, and a water tower, have been built; at a total cost of $54,512. The School maintains its reputation for efficiency in the important work assigned it. I regard it as a model among the institutions of its kind in this country.

THE SOLDIERS' ORPHANS' HOME is a newly organized institution, authorized by the Legislature of 1885, and opened for the reception of children on the first of July, 1887. It was soon crowded beyond its capacity, and is now the home of 109 orphan children of deceased soldiers of the Union. The law authorizes the admission of children under sixteen years of age, but the Board has been compelled to exclude all over ten years. Additional buildings are absolutely necessary, not only to accommodate the demands made upon it, but to provide for the health and well-being of the children admitted. The report of the State Board details its needs, and suggests, also, certain necessary amendments in the law providing for its government. These recommendations should receive your considerate attention and action.

THE ASYLUM FOR IDIOTIC AND IMBECILE YOUTH was removed to Winfield in March, 1887. There are now over one hundred children cared for in this institution. The new building is well adapted for the uses of such an asylum, and was completed at a cost of $25,000. The report of the Board touching the condition and needs of this institution should receive your consideration.

THE INSANE ASYLUMS at Topeka and Osawatomie now contain 1,203 patients. On the first of July, 1882, the insane patients in these asylums numbered 548; on the same date, 1884, the number had increased to 692; July 1, 1886, to 881; and July 1, 1888, to 1,181.

During the past four years the State has expended for new buildings, and for permanent improvements at its insane asylums, over $353,000. Yet to-day it is confronted with an apparent necessity of providing additional accommodations for this class of helpless dependents. The maximum capacity of the Topeka Asylum is stated at 700, and that of the Osawatomie Asylum at 500. There are now 1,203 patients cared for in the two institutions. This seems to be a very large number. But when comparison is made with other commonwealths, the ratio of insane per thousand population is, in Kansas, smaller than in most States.

In my judgment it would not be wise to increase, very largely, the capacity of the present asylums. If additional buildings for the care of the insane are necessary—and this seems to be certain—a new asylum, located in the central or western portion of the State, should be built. This opinion is based on several reasons. First, the superintendent of such an institution cannot give reasonable or adequate personal attention to more than eight hundred patients. Second, the cost of transporting the insane from the western counties would be reduced by the location of an asylum nearer to that section.

I suggest a careful investigation of this subject, to the end that the law-making power may understand the necessities of the situation, and make provision for them.

THE SUPREME COURT.

For many years past it has been impossible for the three Judges of the Supreme Court to dispose of the large number of cases brought to that tribunal for final adjudication. I called the attention of the Legislature to this fact, in my messages of 1885 and 1887, and at the last session of that body an act was passed authorizing the appointment of three Commissioners, to assist the Court in the performance of its duties. These officers were appointed, and I am advised, by the Judges of the Court, that they have discharged all the duties assigned them with energy and ability. During the existence of the Commission, its members have written opinions in three hundred and sixty-two cases.

The Court, with the assistance of the Commissioners, has decided five hundred and sixty-four cases during the past year. But the litigation coming to it constantly increases.

During the year 1885, the new cases filed numbered three hundred and seventy-nine; in 1886, four hundred and fifty-four; in 1887, five hundred and eighty-seven; and during 1888, six hundred and ninety-eight. It is, therefore, apparent that the Commission must be continued after the expiration of its three years' tenure of office, March 5th, 1890, or some other method of relief for the Court must be devised.

Three other methods are suggested: to increase the number of Supreme Court Judges, to create other appellate courts, or to limit the cases that may be taken to the Supreme Court upon appeal or error. The method first mentioned can be adopted only by constitutional amendment.

The Legislature should give this subject its considerate attention. The vital importance of a prompt hearing and adjudication of all causes will not be questioned. The fact that three Judges of the Court of final appeal cannot possibly hear and determine the large number of cases brought before them, is equally apparent.

THE STATE PENITENTIARY.

The reports of the Directors, Warden, and other officers of the Penitentiary will furnish you a detailed statement of the expenses, receipts, general condition and requirements of that institution.

The Kansas Penitentiary deservedly enjoys a high rank among the penal institutions of the country. Strict discipline is enforced, but harsh or cruel punishments are never inflicted. The prisoners are supplied with abundant and wholesome food, the tasks allotted them are not excessive, and their health is carefully looked after. The present Warden has made many valuable improvements in the prison, has discharged all of his duties with conspicuous ability, integrity, and economy, and has won a deservedly high position among the prison officials of the United States.

During the past four years appropriations aggregating $54,481 have been made for permanent improvements, including a new cell-house, insane ward, workshop, reservoir, barn, and other minor buildings, and putting in plants for electric lights and steam heating. The value of these improvements, as made, including cash outlays for materials and prison labor employed, aggregates $243,920.

The operation of the coal mine has been very successful. The output of coal has steadily increased. During the year ended December 31, 1885, the total output was 1,255,242 bushels, valued at $86,704.04; while for the year ended December 31, 1888, the output aggregated 1,992,247 bushels, valued at $127,241.79. For the calendar year 1885, the coal furnished the State institutions, for public use, aggregated 393,733 bushels, valued at $27,561.31; while for the calendar year 1888 the coal furnished State institutions aggregated 658,582 bushels, valued at $46,100.74.

During the four years ended December 31, 1888, the total output of the Penitentiary coal mine was 6,205,498 bushels, valued at $400,916.69. Of this amount, 2,033,720 bushels, valued at $142,360.40, were supplied to State Institutions; 4,120,670 bushels, valued at $255,002.98, were sold for cash; and 51,108 bushels, valued at $3,553.31, were furnished in payment for royalties on coal lands.

The most gratifying fact connected with the Penitentiary, however, is that the number of prisoners, when compared with the population of the State, has been steadily decreasing for eight years past, and that there has been an actual decrease in the number in confinement during the past two years. On the first of January, 1870, the State prisoners (not including United States civil or military,) numbered 218, or one for every 1,671 inhabitants; at the same date in 1875, the State prisoners numbered 435, or one to every 1,214 inhabitants; in 1880, the number was 633, or one to every 1,573 inhabitants; in 1885 the number was 673, or one to every 1,885 inhabitants; and on the first of January, 1889, the State prisoners numbered 861, or one to every 1,921 inhabitants. On the first of January, 1887, there were 895 State prisoners confined in the Penitentiary; on the first of January, 1888, there were 898; and on the first of January of the present year, 861.

The Warden states, in his biennial report, that more than sixty thousand criminals are serving out sentences for felonies, in the prisons of the United States, or about one prisoner for every thousand inhabitants. The same ratio, in Kansas, would give our Penitentiary 1,651 State prisoners. We have, to-day, a total of only 861, or not much more than one-half the number of criminals, per capita, reported for the United States.

THE INDUSTRIAL REFORMATORY.

The Legislature of 1885 directed the building of an Industrial Reformatory, which was located at Hutchinson. Appropriations aggregating $80,000 were made in 1885, and additional appropriations, aggregating $100,000, in 1887. The Board of Commissioners having the building of this institution in charge, report that a cell-house, with fifty completed cells therein, has been inclosed; and the foundations and one story for the office, guard room, dining room, kitchen, boiler-house, and an additional cell-house, with their connecting corridors, have been built. The biennial report of the Board gives full details of the progress of work, with estimates of the amounts necessary to complete the buildings commenced, and make the institution ready for the reception and care of prisoners.

The general scope and design of an Industrial Reformatory is in harmony with the best thought and experience of the age. The Penitentiary should be a prison where hardened and vicious criminals are punished for their crimes, and kept in confinement in order to protect society against their depredations. The Reformatory is a place where law-breakers of a milder type, who are not naturally vicious or criminal, may be properly punished for their misdeeds, and, at the same time, reclaimed and reformed by wholesome instruction. Kansas has wisely determined to separate the two classes of law-breakers by establishing a Reformatory, and should carry out the original purpose in view, until the success of the experiment is demonstrated, or its failure to accomplish the results aimed at is shown.

THE BOARD OF PARDONS.

The law enacted by the Legislature of 1885, providing for a State Board of Pardons, has proven very satisfactory in its results. The Board appointed has been diligent in investigating all cases referred to it, has made full and comprehensive reports to the Executive, and its findings and recommendations have been alike humane and just.

The Constitution vests the pardoning power in the Governor, "under regulations and restrictions prescribed by law." Section 324, chapter 82, Compiled Laws, provides that "in all cases in which the Governor is authorized by law to grant a pardon, he may grant the same on such conditions and under such restrictions as he may think proper." A similar provision is embodied in chapter 73, Laws of 1868. No law has been enacted, however, providing adequate remedies in case the conditions on which a pardon or commutation is granted, are violated. The courts of several States have sustained the authority of an Executive to enforce penalties for the violation of conditional pardons, even in the absence of statutory provisions. Such authority, however, ought to be clear and definite. The Legislature should enact a law providing that a violation of any of the conditions on which a pardon or commutation of sentence is granted shall subject the person guilty of such violation to arrest and return to confinement under the terms of his original sentence, and conferring upon the Executive authority to issue a warrant, directed to any sheriff, for the arrest and return to confinement of the offender. Such a statute would have a wholesome restraining influence upon law-breakers who are conditionally pardoned.

THE INSURANCE DEPARTMENT.

The present Superintendent of Insurance has, in preparing his annual reports, eliminated a vast mass of statements and reports made to him by insurance companies, and has thereby effected a large reduction in the printing bills of the State. But he truly says that "not one fact of importance has been omitted." All statistics and facts of the least value or importance to the public, are given in a clear, compact, and systematic manner.

The business of insurance is of such universal interest to the people, and has grown to such vast proportions, that the most stringent and comprehensive legislation is essential to protect the public against irresponsible companies, organized for fraud and plunder. A few years ago, Kansas was invaded by a swarm of these swindling insurance companies, some of them incorporated under our own laws; others of alien origin and authority. Hundreds of thousands of dollars have been stolen from the people of this State by so-called insurance companies, that did not, and could not, insure. The only persons benefitted by such organizations are their officers and agents, who pocket the salaries and commissions they receive, and give nothing in return therefor. Our laws should make it impossible for any insurance company to do business in Kansas unless its ability to pay any and all losses was well established, and the integrity of its organization was equally unquestioned.

The present Superintendent has waged an unceasing war upon these fraudulent companies, and has driven most of them from the State. His efforts to protect the people against them should be upheld by the Legislature. The suggestions embodied in his report are commended to your attention and favorable action.

THE STATE CAPITOL.

A contract for the foundations of the east wing of the Capitol was let on the second of May, 1866, and this wing, partially completed, was occupied by the State officers on the twenty-fifth of December, 1870. It was not finished, however, until early in 1873. The State issued and sold bonds to the amount of $320,000, to provide means for its construction. Its total cost, however, was $480,000.

In the summer of 1879 the building of the west wing was commenced, and it was, though in an unfinished condition, occupied in the summer of 1881. It was completed in 1882, and cost $312,000.

Work on the central building was commenced in 1881, and its foundations were completed in 1884. Early in the spring of 1885, work was begun on the first story, and the walls are now finished to the height of the fourth and last story. The cost of the central building, to date, has been $517,000, and it is estimated that from $600,000 to $700,000 will be required to complete it.

The remodeling of the east wing, including the Senate Chamber, in 1885-6, cost $140,000; so that the Capitol, as it stands to-day, has cost an aggregate of $1,449,000. No bonds have been issued since the east wing was finished. The half-mill tax for State House purposes has provided a fund sufficient to meet all the expenditures made.

The central wing has been built in accordance with the plans approved by the Legislature of 1887. During the past two years, work on the building has been pushed forward with great energy, and I see no reason why the wings on either side of the dome cannot be completed within two years. Additional accommodations for the Supreme Court, the State Library, and several of the Departments of State, provided for in the central building, are greatly needed.

THE LABOR BUREAU.

The annual reports of the Bureau of Labor and Industrial Statistics embody interesting and valuable information, and should be carefully considered by you. It is a source of real satisfaction to be able to say that the statute books of Kansas contain more laws enacted to protect the rights of workingmen, to secure justice for them, and to shield them against the aggressions either of capital or corporate power, than do the statute books of any other State of the Union. The last report of the Labor Commissioner shows that the laws of Kansas now include nearly every enactment recommended by one of the great labor organizations of the country, as well as many others of similar scope and intent not formulated in this enumeration of desired legislation.

But legislation in this line should not cease so long as any injustice is complained of or any wrongs exist that law can redress or prevent. The platform of principles to which nearly all the members of your body are pledged, demands several reforms in the interest of workingmen. Some of these have been discussed in other portions of this communication. The weekly payment of wages by municipal and private corporations is specially advised. In my judgment the demand for weekly payments is sustained by so many considerations affecting the economies, necessities and rights of workingmen, and would in so many ways improve their condition and lighten their burdens, that no consideration of the convenience or expense of employers should prevent favorable response to it. The system thus advised will be practicable whenever it is made compulsory, and convenient whenever it becomes the general usage.

THE MINE INSPECTOR'S REPORT.

The report of the Mine Inspector, with the recommendations it embodies concerning needed changes in our mining laws, should have your careful consideration. A very serious explosion, occurring in one of the mines in Crawford county, in November last, and causing the death of a number of persons, suggests the need of further provisions for the safety of those employed in mining industries. The most experienced and expert miners agree that this accident was caused by some subtle and dangerous force, believed to be similar, in many respects, to that developed occasionally in flouring mills by floating and minute dust. The coal mines in Southeastern Kansas are, generally, what are called "dry mines," and several accidents occurring in them can hardly be accounted for unless the theory that coal-dust, under certain conditions, will cause disastrous explosions, is accepted. The mine in which the explosion occurred in November was one of the best constructed and most perfectly equipped in the State. That it did occur, notwithstanding these facts, is evidence that additional legal requirements in the construction and operation of mines are necessary.

THE ADJUTANT GENERAL'S REPORT.

The Adjutant General reports that the National Guard, consisting of four regiments, is well organized and equipped. Its discipline and appearance are matters of State pride, and its officers and men have responded to every call of duty with a promptness and zeal worthy of the highest commendation. The force is a small one, but is, in my judgment, ample to meet any emergency that is likely to arise. The members are supplied with the latest and best improved arms.

Ordnance and uniforms are now furnished by the General Government. The Legislature should supply all other needs of the Guard, and make ample provision for maintaining its organization. Annual regimental encampments should be allowed. The expense of these will not be great, and their benefits, in promoting emulation among the different regiments and companies, and instructing officers and men in the practical duties of soldiers, will be very great.

In March, 1887, reports came to me of outbreking troubles in Wichita county, growing out of a county-seat contest, and threatening serious consequences. Several persons had been killed and wounded, and the excitement and passion evoked by this affray were wide-spread. I at once directed the Adjutant General, accompanied by Lieutenant-Colonel Ricksecker, Second Regiment, to proceed to Wichita county, and ordered Companies F and H to be held in readiness for active service. The officers mentioned, on their arrival in the county, succeeded in allaying excitement and preserving the peace, and the troops were not called for.

Early in January, 1888, similar troubles were reported in Sherman county, also growing out of a county-seat controversy. I directed Brig. Gen. Adam Dixon, Third Brigade, and Capt. Frank McGrath, Third Regiment, K. N. G., to proceed to the county, and adopt such measures as in their judgment might be necessary to preserve the peace and protect life and property. These officers discharged the duties assigned them with tact and judgment, and were enabled to repress disorder and secure the orderly enforcement of law without calling out an armed force.

Early in June, 1888, the Sheriff of Stevens county telegraphed me that he had been driven from the county-seat, and requesting the presence of a company of militia. I at once dispatched Brig.-Gen. Murray Myers, Second Brigade, to investigate the facts, and make report. A few days later a writ of mandamus was issued by the Supreme Court, directing the County Commissioners to canvass a vote recently taken, and a special messenger was sent to serve this writ. On his arrival at Hugoton, this messenger found it necessary to request the presence of troops, in order to insure obedience to the decrees of the court, and I at once directed General Myers to take two companies of the Second Regiment and proceed to Stevens county. The Board of Commissioners canvassed the vote, as directed by the court, and the troops were thereupon ordered to their respective homes.

Late in July outbreaking troubles were again reported in Stevens county, resulting in an armed expedition to "No-Man's Land" by rival factions, and the brutal murder of Sheriff John Cross and three other citizens, by parties from Hugoton. I requested Attorney-General Bradford and Brigadier-General Myers to proceed to Stevens county, make a thorough investigation, and report to me. These officers, on their return, made a full report concerning the condition of affairs, and advised me that, in their judgment, the presence of a strong military force was necessary to prevent further bloodshed, preserve the peace, and insure the orderly enforcement of law. Acting on this advice, I directed General Myers to return to Stevens county, taking with him the Second Regiment, K. N. G., and to remain there until all danger of an armed collision was averted.

The officers and men of the Second Regiment promptly responded to this order. The command was transported to Stevens county by the most direct routes, and remained on duty until the 14th of August, when it was relieved. Full official accounts of these military expeditions are made in the report of the Adjutant General.

The expenses of the two expeditions to Stevens county, for transportation, subsistence, and pay of officers and men, aggregated $13,751.23. All the expenses of the first expedition have been paid out of the fund appropriated to the Governor for pay, subsistence and transportation of the militia when in active service. But this fund, aggregating only $5,000, was insufficient to meet the expenses of the second expedition. A balance of $8,631.27, for transportation, subsistence and pay of officers and men, remains unsettled. I respectfully ask that an appropriation covering this amount be made.

QUANTRILL-RAID CLAIMS.

The Legislature, at its last session, enacted a law "to provide for the assumption and payment of claims for losses sustained by citizens of the State of Kansas by the invasion of the State by bands of guerrillas and marauders, during the years 1861, 1862, 1863, 1864, and 1865."

This law assumed the payment of a certain amount of the claims audited by a Commission appointed in 1875; made the report of this Commission conclusive as to the losses of claimants; and imposed upon the State Auditor the duty of preparing a schedule of such claims, and issuing to each claimant per annum from July 1st, 1887, for the amount of his claim as assumed."

- "certificates of indebtedness bearing interest at four per cent.

The Auditor of State has issued certificates of indebtedness, as directed by this act, and in his biennial report submits a detailed statement, giving the amount of the original claim, the percentage of principal assumed by the State, the amount of interest due thereon, and the names of parties to whom certificates were issued. The claims thus audited, to the close of the last fiscal year, aggregated $346,776.54, and the interest thereon amounted to $98,252.90, making a total of $445,029.44. Since the close of the fiscal year, certificates aggregating $696 of principal and $197.40 of interest, have been issued; so that the certificates now outstanding aggregate $347,472.54 of principal and $98,450.30 of interest, making a total indebtedness of $445,922.84.

The law assuming the payment of these claims declared that they should bear interest "at four per cent. per annum, from July 1st, 1887," and the form of certificate embodied in the law states the same fact. The Legislature, however, neglected to make any provision for the payment of this interest, and early last spring the State officers were confronted with this embarrassment. The State Treasurer, after correspondence with the Fiscal Agent at New York, finally made arrangements for the money necessary to pay the coupons falling due July 1st, 1888, all the State officers signing a personal note for fourteen thousand dollars ($14,000), bearing interest at four per cent. per annum, and payable on the 31st of January, 1889. The State's Fiscal Agent holds the coupons paid, as security for the note. The action thus taken was necessary to protect the credit and good name of the State; and it is important that an appropriation be made, at once, for paying the coupons, and relieving the signers of this note of the responsibility they assumed.

The next installment of interest on the Quantrill claim certificates is payable on the 1st of July, 1889. The coupons following are for one-tenth of the principal, with interest, and fall due on and after the 1st of February, 1890, and on the same date of each year thereafter, until the whole of the certificate is paid. The Legislature should, therefore, at its present session, make the appropriations necessary to pay the principal and interest due on this class of certificates for the year 1890, as well as for the interest due July 1st, 1888, and July 1st, 1889.

PRICE-RAID CLAIMS.

In accordance with the provisions of House Joint Resolution No. 7, passed at the last session of the Legislature, Gen. John C. Caldwell was appointed as Commissioner to report, at the present session, "a full and complete detail of all the Price-raid claims which are unpaid, and which have been audited and allowed by any Commission heretofore appointed, and upon which Union Military Scrip has been issued," etc. He at once began the work assigned him, has prosecuted it with painstaking industry and energy, and will be able to present, for your guidance, as full information concerning these complicated and much-audited claims, as it is possible to secure.

Your attention is directed, in this connection, to the reports submitted by the State's Agent at Washington, concerning the nature of claims likely to be assumed by the General Government. In discussions of this subject it has been, at times, alleged that the United States will, in the end, relieve the State of the payment of such war claims as the Legislature may assume and pay. This, however, is only partially true. Congress has steadily refused to pay claims for losses or damage to property, or for property destroyed, during a period of war, or for interest on any claims allowed. It has always been ready and willing to assume and pay State claims based on the equipment, transportation, subsistence or pay of militia or State troops called into the service of the General Government.

These facts should be fairly understood. If the State assumes the payment of any war claims except those based on expenses for the equipment, transportation, subsistence, or pay of troops, it alone must bear the burden. The United States Government will not relieve it of a dollar of the responsibility.

It is undoubtedly true that the United States Commission which audited the Price-raised claims, in 1871, improperly rejected a considerable number because the facts were not fairly presented. Claims were made, in some cases, for "property destroyed," which should have been made out for "property taken for the subsistence of troops;" and other errors of similar nature were made in proofs submitted to the Hardie Commission. If the State can have this class of claims sifted from others, and sustained by positive proof, the General Government will undoubtedly pay them. But no relief can be hoped for in so far as other classes of claims are concerned, and if the State assumes payment of any of these, it should do so with a full understanding of the fact that it alone will have to bear the burden.

The State, as trustee for the claimants, received from the United States Government, in 1872, an appropriation of $337,054.38, and of this amount about $20,000 was diverted or misapplied. The State is in honor bound to repair the wrong thus done, and to pay to those thus defrauded the money due them.

SAVINGS BANKS.

During the past two or three years a number of banking institutions called "Savings Banks," have been organized under our laws, and many of these are inviting and receiving deposits of small sums, from people of limited means. The value and importance of such depositories, if the security afforded depositors is absolute, will be generally recognized. Properly managed, and surrounded with perfect safeguards, they encourage industry, thrift and economy. But the security afforded their depositors should be unquestioned. The Legislature should provide for their organization, management and supervision, and should surround them with such safeguards as will make it impossible for any depositor to lose a single cent of his or her hard-earned and slowly accumulated capital.

RATES OF INTEREST.

In my message to the Legislature of 1885 a recommendation was made that the legal rates of interest be reduced, and this recommendation was renewed in my messages of 1886 and 1887. Laws to carry into effect this suggestion were introduced, but failed to receive affirmative action.

The rates of interest established by our laws were fixed more than twenty years ago. They are higher than in any other State of the Union except one, and the penalty they impose for usury is wholly inadequate. Kansas securities are equal to those of any other State. The conditions existing when the present legal rates of interest were fixed have changed. There is no excuse for maintaining the present excessive rates of interest. They should be materially reduced. Severe penalties should also be fixed to prevent and punish usury. Our laws on this subject are notoriously defective, and the penalties they impose are wholly inadequate. I sincerely trust that, when your session ends, it can no longer be said that Kansas allows a higher contract rate of interest, and imposes a smaller penalty for usury, than any other State of the Union. And as nearly all the members of the present Legislature were elected on a platform which explicitly declares in favor of a reduction of existing rates of interest, and the imposition of severe penalties for usury, this subject will, no doubt, receive your early and favorable attention.

MORTGAGE LAWS.

The laws concerning mortgages need revision and radical improvement. It should require something more than a mortgage to steal a man's farm, either in this or any other State. Appraisement of property before its sale under foreclosure should be surrounded with the most stringent limitations to protect the interests of the debtor, and the right of redemption should be not only extended but made secure. Our chattel-mortgage laws invite outrages on property rights that are as flagrant as grand larceny, and the wrong and injustice that has been done under the shield of these laws, is a disgrace to civilized government. Our mortgage laws should be generally remodeled, so as to protect the interests and rights of debtors and mortgagors against the greed and inhumanity of creditors and mortgagees.

"TRUSTS" AND COMBINATIONS.

The declaration of principles upon which nearly the entire body of the present Legislature was elected, affirms that "all trusts and combinations to monopolize food supplies or control productions, are dangerous to the interests of the people, and should be prohibited under the severest penalties of law;" and specifically mentions, as especially obnoxious and destructive to the interests of all classes, "the trust or combination of the packing-houses to drive out of business all other butchers, and thus control the cattle markets, as well as the supply and prices of dressed meats."

No subject that has engaged the attention of the law-makers of the United States for a century past is of such vital importance to all classes of the people as is that of suppressing the so-called "trusts" or combinations of capital to control the market supplies and prices of the country. The real purpose and effect of these combinations, no matter what they may pretend, is, on the one hand, to fix the buying price of raw products without reference to the rights or interests of the producer or the public, and, on the other, to fix the selling price of the finished product without reference to the rights or interests of the consumer and the public. Wherever these "trusts" are organized, competitive properties and industries are destroyed, with ruthless system, until the public is at the mercy of their managers.

Within the last two years several of the most promising industries of this State, including several linseed oil mills, plaster paris works, and cracker factories, have been wantonly strangled by such combinations, to the serious damage of the communities in which they were located, and of the producers of the materials used by them. Recently the packing-houses have made a systematic attempt to drive out of business the local butchers in all parts of the State, and this effort, successful in some of our cities and towns, has failed in others only because of the firm action of local authorities.

The most stringent and far-reaching laws should be at once enacted to prevent and punish all combinations organized or intended to regulate or fix the price of any products of the soil, the factory or the workshop, and the penalties for a violation of these laws should involve imprisonment as well as heavy fines. Laws should also be enacted conferring upon the municipal authorities of all cities and towns ample authority to prevent and punish such combinations, and especially to protect their local industries against the rapacious greed of these destroying free-booters. Our Senators and Representatives in Congress should also be instructed to exert all their influence in urging the adoption of National laws having the same objects in view. The Republic must annihilate the so-called "trusts," under whatsoever name or guise they may be organized, or the trusts will sap all the sources of our National prosperity, and destroy the Republic. The "trusts" establish commercial despotism in the stead of individual skill and energy, destroy thousands of industries conducted by men of limited means, restrict or extinguish personal enterprise, and deprive the people of those fair opportunities for the exercise of talents, energy and skill which, for a century past, it has been our boast were open to every American citizen. The "trusts" invade every interest and outrage every right of the citizen, and establish, whenever and wherever they are successful in their aims, a despotism unequalled for audacity and rapacity in the history of the world's commerce.

NOTARIES PUBLIC.

The laws providing for the appointment of Notaries Public, and defining their duties, should be revised. These officers are authorized to perform many important duties. They are empowered to acknowledge conveyances of real estate, to take depositions, and to protest bills of exchange, bonds and promissory notes. Their official functions, involving a vast range of the most important financial and commercial transactions, should be discharged with scrupulous care and exactness. Full and accurate details of all their official acts should be kept in books of record, and they should be required to deposit their books, at the close of each year, in the office of the District Clerk. It is true that the law requires every Notary to "keep a fair record of his official acts," but no penalty is imposed for failure to comply with this requirement, and it is doubtful whether one Notary in a hundred ever does keep such records. No limitation is placed on the number of notaries to be appointed, and, as a result, every person who presents a petition signed by reputable citizens known to the Executive, is appointed. There are now over 9,500 citizens of Kansas holding commissions as Notaries Public.

Inevitably, the loose requirements of our laws and the enormous number of persons empowered to exercise the functions of Notaries, lead to a loose and reckless performance of notarial duties. In several cases that have engaged the attention of our courts, serious frauds in the attestation of conveyances and other important legal documents, have been discovered. These instances will multiply each year, unless the office of Notary Public is made what it ought to be, an important public trust, the duties of which are clearly defined by law, with severe penalties for their neglect. The record Notaries are required to keep of their official acts should be clear and full. It should give, in conveyances, the name of the grantor and grantee, the nature of the instrument of writing, the property conveyed, the consideration, the names of witnesses, and all other important facts; and it should be made the duty of the Notary, in all cases, to adopt every possible measure to guard against being made a party to the perpetration of a fraud. A limitation in the number of Notaries authorized to be appointed should also be made, thus more certainly insuring the selection of competent persons.

ALIEN LAND HOLDINGS.

The people, at the late election, adopted the following amendment to section seventeen, of the Bill of Rights of the Constitution :

"SECTION 17. No distinction shall ever be made between citizens of the State of Kansas and the citizens of other States and Territories of the United States, in reference to the purchase, enjoyment or descent of property. The rights of aliens to the purchase, enjoyment, and descent of property may be regulated by law."

The well-understood purpose of this amendment was to permit the enactment of laws prohibiting the accumulation of vast landed estates by aliens. Such accumulations are detrimental to the interests of the State, and should be made impossible. Comprehensive and stringent laws, embodying the spirit of the amendment above recited, should be enacted at the present session of the Legislature.

HONEST ELECTIONS.

I again call the attention of the Legislature to the fact that our present registration law invites and encourages, rather than prevents and punishes, illegal voting. All good citizens of all political opinions recognize the necessity of stringent laws to secure purity, honesty and correctness in the exercise of the elective franchise. A free ballot and an honest count wrongs no one. Every legal voter should be protected in the full enjoyment of his rights at the ballot-box, and, at the same time, no one should be allowed to cast a vote who has not all the qualifications of a legal voter. A just, wise, and adequate registry law will secure these results, and the Legislature should, at its present session, provide such a law.

THE TEMPERANCE LAWS.

There is no longer any issue or controversy in Kansas concerning the results and beneficence of our temperance laws. Except in a few of the larger cities, all hostility to them has disappeared. For six years, at four exciting general elections, the questions involved in the abolition of the saloon were disturbing and prominent issues, but at the election held in November last this subject was rarely mentioned by partisan speakers or newspapers. Public opinion, it is plainly apparent, has undergone a marked change, and there are now very few citizens of Kansas who would be willing to return to the old order of things.

The change of sentiment on this question is well grounded and natural. No observing and intelligent citizen has failed to note the beneficent results already attained. Fully nine-tenths of the drinking and drunkenness prevalent in Kansas eight years ago, have been abolished; and I affirm, with earnestness and emphasis, that this State is, to-day, the most temperate, orderly, sober community of people in the civilized world. The abolition of the saloon has not only promoted the personal happiness and general prosperity of our citizens, but it has enormously diminished crime; has filled thousands of homes, where vice, and want, and wretchedness once prevailed, with peace, plenty, and contentment; and has materially increased the trade and business of those engaged in the sale of useful and wholesome articles of merchandise. Notwithstanding the fact that the population of the State is steadily increasing, the number of criminals confined in our penitentiary is steadily decreasing. Many of our jails are empty, and all show a marked falling-off in the number of prisoners confined. The dockets of our courts are no longer burdened with long lists of criminal cases. In the Capital district, containing a population of nearly sixty thousand, not a single criminal case was on the docket when the present term began. The business of the police courts of our larger cities has dwindled to one-fourth of its former proportions, while in cities of the second and third class the occupation of police authorities is practically gone. These suggestive and convincing facts appeal alike to the reason and the conscience of the people. They have reconciled those who doubted the success and silenced those who opposed the policy of prohibiting the liquor traffic.

The laws now on our statute books, touching this question, need few, if any, amendments. Fairly and honestly enforced, they make it practically impossible for any person to sell intoxicating liquors, as a beverage, in any Kansas town or city. What is needed, therefore, is not more rigorous laws, but a systematic and sincere enforcement of the laws we have. The one addition I would suggest, is a law providing for the swift and certain removal and punishment of County Attorneys, Sheriffs and other local judicial officers, who fail or neglect to discharge their official duties as directed by law. The Attorney General should be empowered to commence, either in the District or Supreme Courts, proceedings in ouster against any County Attorney, Sheriff or other local peace officer, who neglects or refuses to do his duty in enforcing the laws prohibiting the sale of intoxicating liquors; and proof that "joints" or other places where intoxicating liquors are illegally sold, have been permitted to exist within the jurisdiction of such officers, should be made just and sufficient ground for their removal from office. With such a law to stimulate them, local officers would do their whole duty, and wherever and whenever they do this, the illegal traffic in intoxicating liquors can and will be suppressed.

Your attention is directed, in this connection, to the very full and comprehensive report of the Attorney General, whose knowledge of the working and results of our temperance laws is drawn from practical experience, and whose zeal, energy and courage in enforcing all laws has been conspicuously illustrated during his official terms.

THE FORT RILEY MILITARY RESERVATION.

The Secretary of War has, by letter, requested that an act be passed ceding to the United States jurisdiction over the territory included within the limits of the Fort Riley Military Reservation. The State ceded such jurisdiction, years ago, over the military reservations at Forts Leavenworth and Hays. The General Government is now making extensive improvements at Fort Riley, with a view to utilizing it as a school of instruction for cavalry and artillery.

RENEWED RECOMMENDATIONS.

I renew the recommendations embodied in previous messages, urging a revision of the laws relating to insurance, public highways, fees of officers, the mileage system, capital punishment, judicial districts, and railroads, and direct your attention, especially, to the suggestions therein made concerning public printing and the management of our State charitable institutions. Observation and experience have only confirmed the opinions already expressed upon all of these subjects.

CONCLUSION.

In conclusion, I desire to express my profound gratitude to the people of Kansas, who have not only honored me with two elections to the highest office in their gift, but sustained me with a constancy as unflinching as it was generous.

I wish, also, to acknowledge the steadfast and helpful support given me by all the State officers and heads of departments, during the past four years. No Executive has ever had the counsel of more competent and faithful officers.

That Kansas may continue to grow and prosper; that her citizens may enjoy, for centuries to come, the blessings of wise and just laws, protecting the rights and interests of all alike; and that your labors, gentlemen of the Legislature, may be not only pleasant to you but beneficial to those you represent, is my fervent hope and prayer.

GOVERNOR,

TO THE LEGISLATURE OF KANSAS.

To the Legislature: The provisions of the Constitution fix the second Monday in January as the commencement of the executive term, and the second Tuesday in January as the day on which the Legislature shall convene in regular session; contemplating that the two events shall always occur on consecutive days. By reason of an exceptional and unforeseen condition of things, the order of the dates thus fixed has this year been reversed, and you have been in session six days. The duty also enjoined by the Constitution upon the Executive at the commencement of each session, to communicate information and recommend such measures as he may deem expedient, has been performed by my immediate predecessor, whose term expired but yesterday.

Such an event has not occurred before under like conditions in the State's history. The incident of dates occurred in 1867, but the Governor then elect was his own successor, and in 1895 a condition similar to the present will exist unless the then Governor shall succeed himself. This unanticipated state of affairs is suggestive of the need of constitutional revision, and prompts the inquiry, whether it would not be well to provide by law that the outgoing Governor shall, in all cases, prepare and leave with his successor, to be delivered to the Legislature, a message reviewing the condition of State affairs since the last preceding regular session of that body, with such suggestions and recommendations as he may deem expedient. His experience necessarily gives him a familiarity with the various interests of the Commonwealth, and accurate knowledge of the condition and business requirements of its institutions and thoroughness of information in all matters of public concern. This information should be communicated to the Legislature as early as possible after its organization, and it would seem appropriate to devolve that duty upon the retiring Governor. For this practice we have a precedent in the valuable retiring message of my distinguished predecessor, Governor George T. Anthony, transmitted to the Legislature on the 13th day of January, 1879, by his successor—a precedent that should have the sanction of law.

As stated, this duty has been performed by my immediate predecessor in his message delivered to you on Wednesday last; a message covering every topic and embracing every subject of interest so far as relates to the business affairs of the State, including the transmittal of the reports of State and department officers, and the boards in charge of the several institutions; together with many suggestions and recommendations touching future legislation, based upon an experience covering the four years of his incumbency. These suggestions and recommendations I commend to your careful consideration.

Under these circumstances I feel in a great measure relieved of the burden involved in the duty of presenting in detail such a comprehensive review of the affairs of the State as would otherwise be demanded by the occasion, and it has been a question not free from doubt in my own mind whether I should not refrain altogether from intruding upon you at this time.

But having been chosen at the same time, and sharing with you the responsibilities of legislation and government, and being anxious, withal, to establish relations of cordial coöperation in whatever may promote the general welfare, I have deemed it my right and duty to supplement the message already communicated to you, briefly reviewing, by way of approval, without repeating, the recommendations therein contained which seem worthy of emphasis; adding, in a general way, such suggestions and advice touching those matters of special importance as have occurred to me in the brief time allowed since the delivery of the former message.

CONGRATULATIONS. •

First of all, permit me to congratulate you cordially as a body, and individually almost without exception, on the result of the late election, which restores to power in National administration the political party which has ever been dominant in Kansas. The determination of the issues involved in the election of Harrison and Morton has not only broken the power of sectionalism, but has settled the policy of the government for years in the future, on the line of honest elections, protection to American labor and American industries, justice to those who periled life and limb in defending the flag and the integrity of the Union, a foreign policy that shall be jealous of the honor and consistent with the dignity and power of the Nation, henceforth to be governed in peace by those who cherished and defended it in war. I deem this a proper subject of congratulation, because its significance is not partisan but patriotic, pointing as it does to a settled industrial policy in National affairs, that shall quicken the business impulses of the whole country with a renewed prosperity, of which the South and the West shall be the first to feel the talismanic touch.

Nor can I forbear reminding you for another reason, of the fact that in your body, in both branches, the dominant party of Kansas has practically an unanimous voice, and because of this, an undivided responsibility resting upon you, in all matters of legislation affecting vitally the many and varied concerns of a great State.

Bearing this ever in mind; coming, as you do, fresh from the people; understanding, as you do, their wants; remembering the questions discussed in the canvass and the promises made on the faith of which the people so generously gave you their suffrages, in all matters both of local and general importance, it is fair to assume that you will permit the full measure of popular confidence reposed in you to be exceeded only by your diligence in the conscientious discharge of your great trust.

I therefore briefly call your attention to such promises as were so made in the late campaign, believing that you will make haste to vitalize each and every one by necessary and proper legislation.

PLATFORM PROMISES.

1st. A continuance of the policy that has been conspicuous in Kansas legislation, friendly to the interests of wage-workers and laborers generally, and the further protection of labor against encroachment or influences tending to degrade or injure it by mere cheapness, through unfair competition or any kind of oppression whatever.

APPRENTICE LAWS.

2d. Such amendments to the present law concerning apprentices as may be just and necessary to render it effective in the protection of the interests of skilled labor against unfriendly competition.

WEEKLY PAYMENTS.

3d. Such legislation as shall secure the weekly payment of wages to employ  s of municipal and private corporations.

This demand and the foregoing in regard to apprentices, are but reasonable and in accord with the general principle of protection to labor and elevation of the laboring classes, which triumphed in the recent campaign. The call for weekly payments applies with special force to a large number of our citizens whose daily labor as employ  s is their only resource. On this subject attention is called to the several reports of the Commissioner of Labor Statistics, especially to the report of 1887. It will be remembered that a weekly-payment bill passed the House in the last Legislature, and only failed in the Senate for want of time to consider it. The Legislature of Connecticut has enacted such a law, and the testimony of those in position to know is to the effect that the law is well received and respected by all parties concerned and generally approved by public opinion.

INTEREST REDUCTION.

4th. Legislation was promised reducing the legal rate of interest upon money to six per cent. per annum, reducing the maximum contract rate to ten per cent., prohibiting usury, and providing penalties for violations thereof: and this promise I trust may be promptly enacted into law.

The present statute regulating the rate for use of money was enacted years ago. Since then all the conditions have changed which naturally determine the rate of interest between parties, viz., the security, the hazard, the supply and demand, so that the rates of interest in bank discounts and commercial circles generally, have been very greatly reduced. There seems to be good reason for the proposed and promised legislation. The present statute practically imposes no penalty for contracting in excess of the maximum rate; simply declaring that the excess shall not be collectible in the courts. The usual and proper penalty is the forfeiture of all interest. This the new proposed act should embody. While the principle of usury laws has been much debated, the practical wisdom of them seems to be well attested by observation. They are not objectionable to legitimate bankers and business people generally, operating within strictly commercial circles, and the necessity for their existence is the protection of the more unfortunate and improvident against the cupidity of those who would take advantage of their distress.

TRUSTS.

5th. Another promise was legislation, in so far as the State may legislate on the subject, hostile to so-called "trusts," or combinations, especially such as seek to monopolize food supplies, fix prices by controlling production and eliminating competition. The packing-house "combine" to drive out all other butchers and control the cattle market, is denounced as especially odious, as it seriously affects one of the most extensive of Kansas industries, the cattle business, robbing the producer and consumer of meat at the same time. It has come to my notice recently that some of the cities of Kansas are seeking to resist the encroachments of the dressed-meat monopoly, by enacting ordinances requiring all beef to be inspected on foot by a city inspector before being put on sale in such city. This would seem to be ingenious, and it is hoped will be effective, if the power of the city in such case is beyond question. If it be not, the Legislature should make haste to confer it fully, and do whatever else it may in the line of legislation against trusts and combinations of that character.

These so-called trusts are an excrescent growth of the age—an ill-begotten child of avarice and mendacity, exhibiting in its most obnoxious form that lust for gain, regardless of the rights and interests of the people, too often seen in lesser degree wherever capital is organized and wielded in masses. The enactment of such laws by you as shall even measurably control or repress these evils will be an occasion for the most sincere congratulation.

SOLDIERS AND SAILORS.

6th. To ex-Union soldiers and sailors of Kansas the assurance was given that the party in power in the State should continue to provide liberally for the maintenance of the Soldiers' Orphans' Home, and use its influence to carry out their wishes in regard to pensions, as expressed in the resolutions on the subject passed in the State and National encampments of the Grand Army of the Republic. To make good the first promise herein, it will only be necessary to continue the past generous policy of the State in behalf of orphans of soldiers. As to the second, you cannot do more nor less than to earnestly memorialize Congress, soon to pass into the control of a majority in full sympathy with Union soldiers, and willing to do them long-delayed justice.

COST OF MOVING CROPS.

7th. It was promised that the Board of Railroad Commissioners should protect the farmers against excessive charges in the removal of crops. This has been done, and an important reduction in rates secured on corn for the supply of those portions of the frontier where this cereal was a partial failure the past season. Further reference to the gratifying reduction in rates during recent years, fairly attributable to the efficient labors of the Board, will be found under the head of Railroad Regulation.

HOME AGAINST SALOON.

8th. Protection of the home against the saloon was likewise promised, coupled with a demand for the complete execution of the prohibitory law in every part of the State. To this policy the State is fully committed, and public sentiment demands that there shall be no relaxation in the effort to enforce legislation already existing on that subject. If you can quicken the diligence and strengthen the hands of those charged with the execution of the law where it is not properly observed, it is hoped you will not fail to do so. The subject is alluded to elsewhere.

RIGHTS OF WOMEN.

9th. Allusion was approvingly made to legislation which has had tendency to open the doors to wider fields of usefulness for woman, with the declaration that the honest demands of any class of citizens for additional rights should receive respectful attention. Perhaps no State has gone further than Kansas in extending enlarged legal and political rights to women. In some States, however, they have been by law admitted to membership on State boards in control of certain benevolent institutions, with satisfactory results. A demand for similar recognition here will doubtless be pressed upon your attention, enforced by persuasive arguments from which you cannot escape, though you may not be convinced. The subject is entitled to your serious consideration.

STATE INSTITUTIONS.

EDUCATIONAL.

I commend to your careful consideration the excellent report of the State Superintendent of Public Instruction, especially calling your attention to the recommendations of that officer in regard to various amendments suggested for the purpose of enhancing the efficiency of our common schools. I also note with pleasure the prosperous condition of the three institutions of the State devoted to the higher education of our young men and women—the University, the Normal School, and the State Agricultural College. Kansas is celebrated for the deep interest she has ever taken in her institutions of learning, and these are sources of unfailing satisfaction and pride. They should be liberally sustained, bearing in mind their constantly increasing importance and the demand for enlarged facilities and the opportunity thus afforded for greater usefulness.

PENAL.

The Penitentiary has ever ranked among the first of the penal institutions of the country. While similar prisons in other States have not been free from embarrassment in regard to discipline and the control and profitable application of convict labor, ours has never suffered in this regard. We have never been confronted with any serious obstacle in the management of the convicts, and riots and mutinies are unknown. The elaborate report of the warden is in your hands.

Four years ago the Legislature inaugurated the policy of establishing a short-term prison for persons convicted of minor offenses and the less heinous crimes. It was located at Hutchinson, and already $160,000 have been expended in buildings, none of which are as yet ready for occupancy. The Legislature of 1887 appropriated $100,000 for this institution, and provided for the employment of convict labor in the construction of the buildings and general prosecution of the work. This has not been done, but on the contrary, the work was let by contract—how and by what authority, it is well for you to inquire. It is well to remind officials charged with the expenditure of public funds, that they are amenable to the law for the most rigid and faithful compliance with its terms, which cannot be disregarded with impunity. In considering the appropriations for continuing the work, I submit whether it would not be well to provide for an early completion and equipment of the more advanced portion of the building, restricting the expenditures to this exclusively, in order that the practicability of a prison of this kind may be demonstrated and the penitentiary relieved of the class of offenders contemplated to be confined here, before arrangements are made for the more extensive prosecution of the work.

CHARITABLE.

Our constitution provides that institutions for the care and benefit of the insane, blind, deaf and dumb, and such other institutions as the public good may require, shall be fostered and supported by the State, and it is gratifying to say that no State has been more prompt and generous than Kansas in observing the duty thus enjoined. How we are discharging this duty may be seen in the very elaborate and interesting report of the State Charitable Institutions for the sixth biennial period, 1887-1888, which is in your hands and should be carefully examined and studied by every member of the Legislature; and this remark is extended to the reports of all State and department officers, and of boards in charge of the various institutions of the State.

Here is a board having charge of the two Insane Asylums, (one at Topeka, one at Osawatomie,) the Reform School, the two schools, one for the Education of the Blind, at Wyandotte, and the other for the Deaf and Dumb, at Olathe, the Asylum for Imbecile Youth, at Winfield, and the Soldiers' Orphans' Home, at Atchison, expending year by year nearly half of all the money collected in taxes and appropriated for the support of the State government, caring for 2,000 inmates, calling for $781,000 to cover their support for the ensuing two years, none of which sum is for additional buildings or improvements; and it is due not only to those in charge of these institutions, but the beneficiaries as well, and a manifest duty to the tax-payers, whom you represent, that these reports shall be carefully considered.

During the biennial period covered by this report, it will be seen that the average number provided for in these institutions was 1,605, with a total expenditure, exclusive of construction, of $637,129.14, being an annual average per capita expenditure of $198.48. The number remaining in the institutions and borne upon the rolls June 30, 1888, was 1,910.

INSANE ASYLUMS.

The report shows that the maximum capacity of the insane asylums has been reached, and sets forth the necessity for largely increased accommodations by additions to present buildings, purchase of sites and new buildings, all of which contemplates great expense, presenting questions of wide import. Of all our defective and dependent classes, the insane appeal so urgently to our sympathy that neglect or failure to provide for their actual needs and comfort seems criminal. The average number cared for during the past two years in both asylums was 1,058½, at the annual cost per capita of $202.78. This is supposed to be a good showing as to expenses; but as one of these asylums, with 583 inmates, has 130 officers and employes, requiring on the Superintendent's estimate $43,858 annually for salaries and wages, the question may well be considered.

As the policy of the State to distribute the location of its institutions has been clearly defined by numerous precedents, and as the extension of the existing insane asylums seems to be impracticable, I recommend when the necessity is determined, the establishment of another in the central or western portion of the State, where the conditions of abundant water supply and drainage are beyond question.

STATE REFORM SCHOOL.

This is one of the newer but most interesting of the State institutions, and its work and condition are reported to be most satisfactory. Special attention is called to the report in your hands, by which it will be seen that more room and additional appliances are asked for and recommended by the Board; likewise a hall building for the purpose of instituting a system of industrial training as a part of the work of the School.

SCHOOL FOR DEAF AND DUMB.

This is a free school for deaf and dumb children, and to call it an asylum is an unfortunate misnomer, which is also true of the school for the blind. The habit of speaking of them as asylums has led to a popular misconception of their character and the scope and nature of their work. They are not, strictly speaking, eleemosynary, but a part of our free educational system, devoted exclusively to the instruction and industrial training of the defective classes, requiring the highest order of ability with rare judgment and skill, both of which, I am persuaded from careful personal observation, are happily united and conspicuously displayed in the present management.

Notwithstanding the appropriation of $51,000 for enlarging the Deaf and Dumb School building by the last Legislature, the Board suggests the necessity for more room.

SCHOOL FOR BLIND.

This school is in good condition. The last Legislature provided for the building of the north wing, and it is gratifying to say that more in that direction is not requested in the report. The industrial departments of this, and the school for the deaf and dumb, is a feature of peculiar interest and great importance quite generally overlooked and too little appreciated. It should be liberally encouraged as a valuable part of the work being done by these most worthy institutions.

IMBECILE YOUTH.

The asylum for this peculiarly unfortunate class seems to be well conducted and in a healthy condition. The location of the building, on a barren, rocky point, where neither tree nor shrub could be persuaded to grow by the most diligent effort, is inexplicable, except it was to afford more palpable proof that imbecility is not confined to youth. Additional room, more land, less rock and some water are needed.

SOLDIERS' ORPHANS' HOME.

This is the youngest of our benevolent institutions, but one of the most worthy and well conducted. The first children were admitted in July, 1887, and at the date of the last report it contained 105 inmates—59 boys and 46 girls—representing 26 counties. The report makes many suggestions and recommendations touching the management and future requirements of the Home, which are too important to be epitomized, and are commended to your careful consideration.

The Board of Trustees shows a total of $61,549.14 unexpended balances covered into the State treasury, which it was formerly the habit to use at the close of each fiscal year in payment for the semi-annual purchase of supplies made in June, and appearing in the inventories of stores on hand at the beginning of the ensuing fiscal year. The change is commendable, and should be made permanent. The estimate of the Board for the future support of these several institutions should be fairly and carefully studied, that all their proper wants may be provided for on the basis of a policy that shall be just, as well as generous, economical, but not parsimonious.

EXECUTIVE SUPERVISION.

A sense of duty prompts a general suggestion in this connection, applicable to all our public institutions, penal, educational, and benevolent. In view of the fact that your body convenes but once in two years, the constantly growing requirements of all these institutions and the large sums of money expended necessarily in their maintenance, one of your first duties should be to adopt the most efficient means to ascertain the needs and actual condition of each of them, to the end that you may legislate accordingly. This implies no criticism or reflection upon the several boards, in charge, nor upon the administrative officers, who, on the contrary, desire and invite examination and inspection. It is simply good business prudence in private or State affairs. Committees or sub-committees should go, not merely to visit, but to see and carefully inquire into their condition, management and business methods, and everything pertaining to their interests and the duty of the State in providing for their support. We must remember that the money to support these institutions is drawn by taxes from the people, many of whom are illy able to bear it. To them consideration is due. We should bear in mind that, while the power to lay and collect taxes is the highest prerogative of government, the duty goes with it to see that the revenues thus derived are wisely, honestly and economically applied.

In this connection it has occurred to me whether it would not be well to authorize the executive at any time during the interval between sessions of the Legislature, when in his judgment the public good may require it, to appoint three suitable persons to investigate any institution of the State. Such persons to proceed at once upon receipt of notice of their appointment, to make an investigation and report in writing, to the Governor, the results of their inquiry. And upon incontestable evidence of the incompetency or malfeasance of any officer in charge of a State institution, or member of any board, he should be empowered to suspend such officer or member, and report the facts to the next ensuing Legislature; appointing a suitable person to temporarily fill the vacancy thus occasioned. This committee should be non-partisan in its composition.

STATE FINANCES.

The reports of the Auditor and Treasurer, exhibiting the financial condition of the State at the close of business June 30th, 1888, show a balance to the credit of the several funds as follows:

General Revenue, $27,311.20; State House, $81,989.13; Sinking Fund, $1,503.03; Interest, $28,847.27; Veterinary, $22,409.97; Militia, $930.16; Permanent School, $82,065.04; Annual School, $66,920.87; University Permanent, $1,377.56; University Interest, $1,035.67; Agricultural College Endowment, $3,741.13; Agricultural College Income, $1,928.43; Normal School Permanent, $3,827.21; Normal School Interest, $995.39: total, $324,882.06.

At the close of business December 31, 1888, the following are the cash balances in the Treasury to the credit of the several funds: General Revenue $14.99; State House, $29,978.25; Sinking, $953.62; Interest, $13,526.70; Militia, $809.84; Veterinary, $21,159.34; Permanent School, $94,229.70; Annual School, $69,274.18; University Permanent, $948.33; University Interest, $1,011.14; Normal School Permanent, $1,449.71; Normal School Interest, $462.76; Agricultural College Permanent, $3,251.72; Agricultural College Interest, $2,901.97; Insurance, $2,234; Library, $1,624.50.

GENERAL REVENUE.

The general revenue fund more directly interests the Legislature. From it all expenses of the State Government are paid, other than the principal and interest on the State debt, and building of the State Capitol. For each of these, separate levies are made, or should be made. The receipts into the treasury to the credit of this fund for the biennial period covered by the reports, including a balance in the treasury on July 1st, 1886, of $188,332.95, were $2,420,830.16; of this sum, $1,902,167.14 was from direct taxes. The disbursements for the same period were $2,393,518.96, leaving a balance in the treasury June 30th, 1888, of $27,311.20. Since that date expenditures have exceeded receipts, so that on January 1st, 1889, the balance to the credit of this fund was but $14.99, with Auditor's warrants outstanding to the amount of $14,609.28. Admirable financial management on the part of the Treasurer has, however, saved the State from a liability for interest on this amount. Heretofore there has been a balance in the treasury to the credit of this fund from the preceding year's taxes, sufficient to meet the expenses of the Legislature and such miscellaneous appropriations as might be made. On the 1st of January, 1885, this balance amounted to $90,741.93. The Auditor's report shows that the levy for revenue of three and one-half mills for the fiscal year ending June 30th, 1889, amounts to $1,236,369.24. The probable sum that will be paid into the treasury during this January is $650,000, or a fraction over 50 per cent. This, together with such balances as the law authorizes transferred from the Penitentiary, Library and Insurance funds, will possibly be sufficient to preserve the credit of the State until the close of the fiscal year. To do this, appropriations payable prior to June 30th, 1889, should be limited.

In this connection it is proper to state, that from an examination of the Auditor's and Treasurer's reports there is a growing tendency to increase expenditures over and above receipts. For the past few years there has been a gradual decrease in the balances carried over to the credit of the revenue, and funds received from the National Government nearly equal in amount to a levy of a one-mill tax on the present taxable value of the State, have been credited to this fund and expended. The levy for revenue purposes for the year 1884 was three and three-tenths mills, 1885 the same, 1886 three and three-tenths mills, 1887 three and three-tenths mills, 1888 three and one-half mills, and in 1889 three and one-half mills. The assessed value of the State for 1884 was $237,020,391.27, for 1886 $277,113,323.34, and for 1888 $353,248,332.93, thus showing an actual increase in taxable wealth of $116,227,941.66 in four years. Notwithstanding this splendid increase in wealth, the expenditures have been greater in proportion. This subject should receive your serious consideration. The surplus in the treasury has not only been exhausted, but an actual increase in the levy from three and three-tenths mills for the fiscal year ending June 30th, 1884, to three and one-half mills for the fiscal year ending June 30th, 1888, and a like levy for the fiscal year ending June 30th, 1889, has been made. In making this showing, and urging economy in appropriations, I do not wish to be understood as favoring a penurious policy. This, of itself, would be discreditable to a great State like Kansas; but no appropriations should be made until a thorough investigation has been had to ascertain that the interests of the State demand the expenditure, or that the claim is just and should be paid. A spirit of true economy should control all expenditures of the State's money.

My predecessor, with his accustomed watchfulness, near the close of the second session of the last Legislature deemed it his duty, very properly, to warn that body by special message against making excessive appropriations defrayable from the general revenue, and thereby compelling an increase in the levy for revenue purposes for the ensuing two years. His warning was timely and judicious. I call attention to the matter now, and have given above the levies made for the past few years with the increased assessed valuation, not by way of reflection or criticism, but as a timely caution, in the earnest hope that in providing for the support of the State Government for the ensuing biennial period, every actual and necessary want may be supplied, and at the same time the levy for revenue may be reduced to at least three and three-tenths mills, this being the rate for several years prior to 1888. With the large addition to the taxable valuation annually yielding at a given rate correspondingly greater revenue, it is reasonable to hope and insist that the State in all its various interests may be amply provided for at a reduced rate of levy.

INVESTED FUNDS.

The permanent school fund invested at the close of the fiscal year amounted to the sum of $4,664,834.86. The invested Normal School fund amounted to $91,279. The State University fund invested, $117,491. State Agricultural College invested in bonds $473,056.17, and on land contracts $24,629.56. All of these several amounts are bearing interest averaging six per cent. per annum. The invested sinking fund at the close of the fiscal year was $12,000 in State bonds, bearing seven per cent. interest. The annual levy for this fund should be resumed, so that the bonds of the State may be paid at maturity.

INCOME DISBURSEMENTS.

The disbursements to the several counties of annual school fund, derived from interest on sales of school land, and invested permanent fund for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1887, was $515,908.37, and for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1888, was $560,430.66. The income paid to the State University from its investments for the same period was, in 1887, $8,291.23, and in 1888, $10,329.97. To the State Normal School for 1887, $12,100, and for 1888, $21,000. This school has an income from unpaid balances on sales of land in addition to the fund invested. To the Agricultural College for 1887, $33,008.50, and for 1888, $31,016.83. These amounts should be considered in making appropriations for these educational institutions.

SINKING FUND.

The tax levy for sinking fund for the final redemption of State bonds has been omitted for the past two years, and a law authorizing the funding of the matured and maturing bonds during the years 1888 and 1889, duly passed.

I cannot understand why a State like Kansas, with an assessed valuation of $353,248,332.93 and a debt of only $815,000, falling due in different years up to 1899, should find it necessary to fund, particularly so when the State Treasurer's report showed that on March 24th, 1885, he received from the National Government, on account of expenses incurred in repelling invasion and suppressing Indian hostilities, the sum of $332,308.13, of which under an existing law he credited to the sinking fund $282,500, State bonds having been issued in payment of such expenses. The balance, $49,808.13, was credited to the revenue fund. In the same report it is shown that in order to provide a sufficient sum to meet the appropriations of the Legislative session of 1885, it became necessary to transfer the said $282,500 from the sinking to the revenue fund. This, it appears, was done by authority of an act of the Legislature passed at the special session of 1886. Thus the full sum of $332,308.13 became a part of the revenue, an amount exceeding one and one-tenth mills levy on all the taxable property of the State at that time. Business sagacity would have tolerated an increased levy to this amount rather than fund a debt upon which interest must be paid for the next twenty years. It is hoped that the levy for sinking fund will be revived, so that the State may be able to meet its bonded obligations as they severally fall due.

STATE DEBT.

The State bonds outstanding at this date are $803,000, $87,000 of which matured January 1st, 1889. Of this sum, $86,000 is held by the school fund, and $1,000 by the sinking fund. The funding of these bonds is provided for under the law of 1886. The next bonds that fall due are $12,500 maturing October 15th, 1894, all of which are held by the State school fund. On March 15th, 1895, $36,500 mature; these are also held by the school fund. On July 1st, 1896, $70,000 fall due; $38,000 of these are held by the school fund, and $32,000 by individuals. On July 1st, 1897, $200,000 are due, $85,000 being held by the school fund, and $115,000 by individuals. On July 1st, 1898, three different issues of bonds mature, namely: one of $150,000, one of $50,000, and another of $20,000; total, $220,000. Of these, $116,000 are held by the school fund, $11,000 by the sinking fund, $9,000 by the State University fund, and $84,000 by individuals. January 1st, 1899, the balance of the State debt, except a funding bond for $18,000 issued under the law of 1886, matures, being two issues of bonds—one of $70,000 and one of $89,000—equal to $159,000. Of these, $25,000 are held by individuals and $134,000 by the State school fund. Thus it will be seen that the actual amount necessary to be provided for (the same being in the hands of individuals and corporations) is: On July 1st, 1896, $32,000; July 1st, 1897, $115,000; July 1st, 1898, $84,000; January 1st, 1899, $25,000; total, $256,000; the balance being held by funds which the State controls.

The State debt has decreased since the date of the Treasurer's report $12,000, leaving the amount actually outstanding, as above stated, $803,000. Of this, $785,000 falls due within the next ten years. Computing upon the present assessed value of the State to meet this, it would require an annual levy of about two-tenths of one mill, which of course would be decreased with the increase of taxable wealth. Ordinary prudence would suggest a decrease in expenditures to a small degree in some direction, rather than continue the payment of interest for twenty years, as the funding of the debt would contemplate. What is sound financial policy for the prudent business man is also good financiering for the State of Kansas. As my predecessor aptly and wisely remarked in his message to this Legislature, "Pay as you go." This motto is applicable to the State as well as to every municipality.

LOCAL TAXATION.

The amount raised by taxation for State, county, township, and school purposes, on assessment of 1887, was $11,496,707.58, namely: State, $1,274,953.01; county, $3,551,722.04; city, $1,593,382.45; township, $1,246,738.07; and school, $3,812,640.31, an average rate per cent. of $3.70 upon each $100 of assessed value.

The taxes levied for purely local purposes are indeed burdensome, and are the only ones complained of, though entirely self-imposed. The State levy is small compared with the amounts collected in defraying the expenses of various municipalities. What the State exacts is only about one-ninth part of the whole amount collected, the balance being for purely local purposes. For the support of county government alone the tax levy is nearly three times as much as the State requires; while townships, cities and school districts levy tribute with a heavy hand, and in still greater measure to defray expenses incidental to local government, a greater portion being for interest on outstanding bonded indebtedness, contracted with a reckless extravagance in many cases little dreamed of by De Tocqueville, when he wrote so eloquently and admiringly of the beauties of those minor municipalities as the miniature republics in the new system of popular government in America.

All this criticism of municipal government and taxation must not go without important qualification, complimentary to the generosity, enterprise and intelligence, if not to the prudence and foresight, of the people, who have absolute control in all these matters of local concern. The ten thousand free schools and magnificent school houses account for a very considerable share of this local taxation, of which no Kansan ever complains, nor offers a word in extenuation. The nine thousand miles of railroad in operation in the State tell of millions and millions of bonds voted in aid of their construction. These railroads the Kansan regards as an educational force, operating on parallel lines with the school house, the press and the telegraph, stimulating intercourse and activity in the multiplied fields of human endeavor among a people widely dispersed over a territory an empire in extent. But our just pride in this direction is tempered by a glance at our receipts for local taxes, a semi-annual reminder of that inflexible law of compensation that runs throughout all the relations of life, politics included.

MUNICIPAL INDEBTEDNESS.

The subject of municipal indebtedness has been a fruitful theme of executive messages. For years each of my predecessors has warned, protested and expostulated in vain, for in spite of it all the volume of debt has doubled and trebled, swelling with each recurrence of the frenzy in railroad construction until, as it appears by the Auditor's report, that on July 1st, 1887, the grand aggregate of county, township, city, board of education and school-district indebtedness amounted to $31,107,646.03, bearing an average interest of at least six per cent. per annum. This interest means an annual tax of $1,866,458.81, or a levy equal to five and one-fourth mills on the dollar on the present assessed value of all taxable property in the State. This interest charge alone exceeds the State levy for the year 1888 by $418,140.63.

During the past two years $13,338,061 of bonds have been registered in the Auditor's office, showing that this indebtedness exceeds the aggregate herein mentioned by several millions of dollars, the report on total indebtedness being to July 1st, 1887, and on registration to June 30th, 1888. Of the amount so registered, $8,544,550 was to aid in construction of railroads. This indebtedness is a severe and constant strain upon the productive resources of the tax-paying people. Pay-day must come eventually. There is no mysterious alchemy in legislation whereby debts can be discharged, and I realize how much easier it is to suggest difficulties and conditions requiring a cure, than it is to devise the remedy; and attention is called to this subject now by way of warning, and in the hope that while the past is beyond recall and must take care of itself, you may do something for the future in the way of clipping the wings of these minor municipalities, by a rigid and wholesome limitation upon their power to vote bonds for any purpose other than to build school houses—always to be excepted in Kansas. How the existing debts of these municipalities are to be paid, is for the tax-payer. How to provide some safeguard for the future, is the question that confronts you. An absolute prohibition above a specified rate per cent. of the taxable value of all property, would greatly curtail the power to issue bonds.

The State Auditor calls attention to the funding of county warrants for current expenses under the general funding law of 1879. Under this law, counties and cities can issue bonds to fund indebtedness without submitting the question to a vote of the people. This has been taken advantage of, and large amounts of bonds, running thirty years and bearing six per cent. interest, have been issued in payment for outstanding county warrants. Some of the newer counties and cities have availed themselves of this, and have undoubtedly become lavish in expenditures for that reason. The Act referred to should be amended so as to prohibit this indiscriminate issue of funding bonds.

RAID CLAIM CERTIFICATES.

Under the act passed at the last session of the Legislature providing for the payment of losses by invasion of guerrillas, certificates to the amount of $346,776.54 principal, and $98,252.90 interest, have been issued, as shown by the report of the Auditor. Provision should be made for the payment of the annual interest, and one-tenth of the principal which matures February 1st, 1890, and a like sum February 1st, 1891.

So far as the Price raid claims are concerned, I refer you to the full report of Commissioner Caldwell. The few thousand dollars transmitted to the State by the General Government to pay certain specified claims, and by the State grossly misappropriated, should be immediately made good to the claimants thus wrongly deprived of their money.

STATE OFFICERS.

In making estimates and computations for revenue and other purposes for the fiscal year ending June 30th, 1890 and 1891, the Auditor and Treasurer should be consulted. They are the financial officers of the State, and their knowledge will be valuable on this question. Their suggestions on other subjects stated in their reports are commended to your earnest attention, and should be carefully considered. These reports, together with the reports of all State and bureau officers, fail to receive the careful attention from legislators to which they are entitled, as I can testify from personal experience.

ASSESSMENT.

The question of amending the present system of assessment is much discussed. The demand is that all property shall be assessed at its true value. The law requires the assessor, from actual view and from best sources of information within his reach, to determine as nearly as practicable the true value.

Referring to personal property, the law requires the several township and city assessors to meet and agree on an equal basis of valuation of such property as they may be called to assess. Again, the oath required from the assessor to be attached to his personal property return, is that the value thereof is estimated by the rules prescribed by law. This the assessor construes to mean the equal basis agreed upon at the meeting of the several township and city assessors. These township assessors are elected by the people of their respective townships, and have their political friends and followers. It has occurred to me that in amending this law, after providing for the assessment of all property at its true value and imposing a penalty on assessors failing to perform their duties in accordance with the statute, it would be well to make the office as nearly non-political as possible. And if instead of township assessors as now provided for, the office of County Assessor be created, that it be made the duty of the judge of the district court of the several judicial districts to select and appoint a county assessor for each of the counties in their respective districts, who shall hold office for the period of two years; that said judge shall have power to remove for cause and to fill vacancies; such county assessor to have authority to appoint deputies with the advice and consent of such judge. An amendment of this kind might remedy the evil complained of and secure the assessment of property at its true value.

CORPORATION LAWS.

The attention of the Legislature is called to the act concerning private corporations. The liberality of the State permits the creation of corporations for nearly every conceivable purpose, conferring great powers and valuable franchises upon them, without any direct charge or expense whatever. The ease with which corporations are formed and the nominal expense incurred in their creation, induces the formation of a vast number that exist only in name, the incorporators holding to a faint hope that something may grow out of filing of the articles of incorporation. Advantage is also taken of this law by citizens of foreign States, who come into Kansas long enough to secure the coöperation of a sufficient number of actual residents, execute and file articles of incorporation, secure a certified copy of the same and hasten away to their foreign homes to commence business, holding themselves out as a full-fledged corporation, duly authorized under the laws of Kansas. Their business is done principally outside of the State, their property is beyond the State limits, no taxes are levied thereon, and no benefit whatever is derived by the State for the corporate powers conferred. This law, in my opinion, should be amended so that no corporation should be created or organized under the laws of Kansas, except those formed for benevolent, religious or educational purposes, until the persons named as incorporators shall have paid into the State treasury a specified sum or rate per cent. on the capital stock of such corporation, and a further sum or rate per cent. whenever such capital stock is increased; that a receipt from the State Treasurer, showing that such sum had been paid, should be filed with the Secretary of State at the time of the filing of articles of incorporation or association; that the sums so paid into the treasury should become a part of the general revenue and credited to that fund. By this means the State would receive a large tribute for the powers conferred.

FEES AND SALARIES.

There is, among the people, a demand for some revision of the law regulating the fees and salaries of county officers. Every office should be on a salaried basis — no fees. The salary should be liberal, considering the services required and the responsibility inseparable from every public trust.

To apply this measure equitably in a general act, governing one hundred and six counties, differing so widely in population and business, is a task not free from difficulty. As between the several county offices, the present law works inequality and injustice in compensation, which in some instances should be reduced, while in others it could not be done without great injustice. A readjustment of salaries, on some more equitable basis, is certainly demanded. This is manifest from a few striking examples. The treasurer, in many counties, receives more pay than the State Treasurer. There can be no comparison between the duties, responsibilities and qualifications necessary to a proper discharge of the functions of the respective offices. To say that the compensation should be the same in both cases, would be preposterous.

The register of deeds in many cases gets more pay than the judge of the district court or the justices of the Supreme Court, positions requiring great learning, hard labor, and years of experience and preparation. The pay of our State Treasurer is ridiculously meager, that of our judiciary far from liberal, and something is sadly out of joint in the matter of salaries of county officers. I trust that further reference to these matters will not be necessary to secure an early and adequate remedy.

INSURANCE.

The last report of the Superintendent of Insurance shows that one hundred and seventeen insurance companies are authorized to do business in this State. Eighty-three of these were fire companies, twenty-eight life, and six companies are classed as miscellaneous. About twenty Kansas companies have died of exposure, and the number of worthless home companies has become very small.

The receipts of the Insurance Department last year, paid by the companies doing business here, were $51,408.57. The receipts of the department since it was established, in 1871, have been $383,643.35. Most of this money has gone into the school fund and the general revenue fund. It is turned over to the State Treasurer every month.

The amount of fire insurance written in the State last year was $137,228,880, cost, in premiums, $2,030,328; losses paid, $1,124,726; average rate of premiums, $1.59.

The life insurance written during the year was $12,801,843; losses paid, $247,485; premiums received, $743,384.

The Superintendent believes that very little new legislation is needed; that there is more need of rigidly enforcing the law we have than of asking for more law. There should be, however, a more stringent provision for the arrest and punishment of persons who act as agents and take insurance in companies not authorized to do business in this State. Such persons really rob the innocent people who trust them, and the laws should treat them as criminals.

Several fire companies having an impaired capital or the habit of not paying losses, were excluded from the State at the beginning of the last insurance year. The power of the Superintendent in such cases has been tested in the Supreme Court, and that tribunal has sustained his action.

BANKS AND BANKING.

We have no law regulating the important subject of banks and banking. Banks of discount and deposit are referred to, as banks of issue are forbidden by the constitution, except by a vote of the people. Even the general corporation law does not include banking as one of the many purposes for which corporations may be formed, and the only provision on the subject is article 16, chapter 23, General Statutes, being an act of six sections for the organization and incorporation of savings associations. The right to incorporate banks under this act for the purpose of carrying on a general banking business has been questioned, and even the constitutionality of the act assailed in case of Pape v. Capitol Bank, 20 Kas. Rep. 440.

Notwithstanding this, hundreds of banks over the State have been thus organized and incorporated, not as savings banks in fact, but to carry on a general business. The act in its general provisions is very meager and insufficient. It requires but ten per cent. of the subscribed capital stock to be paid on organization, the balance subject to call, with no means whereby the public may know whether it has ever been called or not. The capital in cash paid in may be strikingly small compared with the advertised capital stock. In justice to those who desire to form banking corporations, there should be some adequate provision of law for that purpose; and in justice to them, as well as the business public, there should be an act regulating the subject of banks and banking generally, with some power of examination, inspection and supervision, which might be lodged with a bank commissioner, or with the present Superintendent of Insurance. This should be done with care, and wholly with a view to the protection of public interest, and in a spirit of justice to those legitimately engaged in a highly-important business, involving great trust and responsibility.

SUPREME COURT COMMISSION.

The last Legislature created what is styled a Supreme Court Commission, whose duration was limited to three years, which will expire in March of next year, unless continued by act of the Legislature at the present session.

It was designed in the first instance to afford temporary relief to the Supreme Court, and has served that purpose well. But the docket of the court is still burdened with cases constantly accumulating, and the reason which justified the creation of the Commission, demands its continuance until permanent relief shall come by constitutional amendments or otherwise, as herein suggested.

RAILROAD REGULATION.

I invite your attention to the subject of State control of railroads. The beneficial effects of a judicious system of public regulation of the railroad, firmly but discreetly administered, is no longer a question of doubtful public policy. Nearly all the States have adopted modes of regulation similar to that which exists in Kansas, and where precipitate and unwise action has been avoided, many evils which before were the subject of unredressed complaints have been corrected, and development and growth has been in no wise retarded. The people of Kansas have in this, as in other matters, manifested a clear recognition of the fact that justice to all interests is alone consistent with, and the sure foundation of permanent prosperity.

In a State like Kansas where the railroad system is comparatively new, and extensions progress with rapid strides, many vexatious problems are sure to arise which must be settled. The successive volumes of reports which have emanated from the Board of Railroad Commissioners bear witness that a large body of complaints have been adjusted, and that in their adjustment the spirit of the law has in the main received a fair and just interpretation.

Since this Board was created vast energy has been displayed in the construction of additional railroads in the State, and the extension of systems already existing. Within a little over five years the railroad mileage of Kansas has grown from 3,716 to 8,799 miles. Doubtless some of this has not been wisely planted, but it is certain that the people would not be willing to relinquish a single mile of that which has been built. It may be further remarked, that such is the extent of our territorial area, future development will require considerable additional mileage, especially in the western half of the State, to adequately supply the whole State with transportation facilities.

The freight and other traffic has not grown in an equal ratio. From the reports issued from the office of the Railroad Board it appears that the total number of tons of freights carried over all roads for the year ending June 30, 1883, was 12,881,322. For the year ending June 30, 1888, the freight tonnage amounted to 22,824,299 tons—an increase, compared with the former year, of 9,942,977, or 43.12 per cent. The earnings from this traffic have increased in far less ratio, those of the former year being $45,135,331.64, and those for the fiscal year last past amounting to $49,349,366.18—an increase of $4,214,034.54, or 8.54 per cent. This denotes an approximate average reduction of the freight charge upon freight traffic of 1888, compared to that of 1883, of 34.58 per cent. From the same source it appears that, from passenger traffic the earnings have grown from $14,345,761.96 in 1883, to $18,595,031.52 in 1888, an increase of $4,249,269.56, or 23.4 per cent. I believe that a careful review of the present situation in respect to railroad development and investments in this State will reveal nothing that should create serious apprehensions or discouragement.

The Board of Railroad Commissioners in their last report recommend some additional legislation in respect to the functions exercised by them, which appear to me to be just and adapted to increase the usefulness and efficiency of that office. The first relates to the enactment of appropriate provisions for the due enforcement of their orders and decisions. Heretofore this has not been found to have been necessary, and a due regard for the authority reposed in that Board should have rendered this forever unnecessary. The Board represents in all its official utterances the State. There are many matters arising in the operation of railroads affecting the convenience and reasonable accommodation of the public, which do not rest in well-defined legal obligation on the one hand, and of absolute right on the other, the due regulation of which, in the last instance, is confided by the statute to this Board. Its findings, decisions and recommendations as to these, as well as other matters, upon which its authority is invoked, cannot be disregarded without undermining its authority and bringing its functions into contempt. Suitable provision should therefore be made to give legal sanction to their decisions, orders and recommendations, and secure compliance therewith.

The second is a matter of present, and will become one of growing importance to the business interests of the State. It is to confer on the Board the power to require the adoption of joint freight tariffs upon freights passing between two points within the State over two or more railroads, and to prescribe the rate to be charged, and the pro-rata share of each carrier whenever it shall appear to be just to the business interests of the people of the State.

Under the existing statute, the powers of the Board touching rates of transportation extend only to the revision of rates complained of, and upon complaint before it. It must inevitably happen that, in the multiplication of competitive points, undue disproportion will ensue between the rates at such points and those maintained at places where competition does not exist, leading to unjust discriminations. These should be subjected to such adjustment and revision from time to time as necessity may arise, to assure to the public fair treatment. To this end I recommend that appropriate power be lodged in the Board of Railroad Commissioners, by additional statutory provision, which in such cases may not require the intervention of a formal complaint for its exercise. In a word, the Board should have greater affirmative jurisdiction, and be clothed with unquestionable power to enforce its reasonable orders and decisions.

TEMPERANCE.

The growth of public sentiment in support of constitutional prohibition in Kansas is steady, healthy, and unmistakable. In the last campaign no political party had the temerity to demand a resubmission of the question to the people, in the face of a popular verdict that has been repeated and emphasized every time the popular sense has been taken. As an issue in Kansas politics, resubmission is as dead as slavery. The saloon as a factor in politics, as a moral iniquity, has been outlawed and made a "fugitive and a vagabond on the face of the earth," or that part of it within the territorial limits of Kansas.

The present legislation in aid of the prohibitory amendment is perhaps not perfect nor free from objections, but so nearly satisfactory that I doubt if public opinion demands any radical revision; and law should but be public opinion passed over into public will. Results justify the opinion. The law generally is being respected and enforced, because by a sort of educational process it is becoming identified in the public mind with other criminal statutes. This was necessary, for the reason that it was legislation denouncing as a public offense what had not been theretofore, and is not per se, criminal. Convictions are thus made easier where the proof warrants it, because juries and courts have come to regard the law as it is reflected in the light of public judgment. Frequent change in such a law especially tends to unsettle public confidence, and begets distrust and doubt. The records of courts and of prisons, from the city calaboose to the penitentiary, show a diminution of crime and a falling-off in our prison population, bearing the most incontestable evidence of the efficiency of the present state of the law and of the prohibitory policy which the law is designed to enforce.

PUBLIC PRINTING.

The work done by the public printer is fully up to the high standard maintained in that office for many years. But we are evidently paying too much for the public printing. The cost to the State for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1887, was $132,771.67, and for 1888, $60,208.14; a total for the biennial period just past of $192,979.81. Of this amount there was expended in 1887, $15,000 for paper and binding stock, and in 1888, $35,379.54 for the same purpose—a total of $50,379.54. Adding to this $3,329.69 paid for publishing the laws and for miscellaneous work not done by the State Printer, there remains $139,270.58 for labor and profit.

These figures are significant. No blame whatever is imputed to the State Printer. He is operating, however, under a law passed many years ago, by which much unnecessary printing is required and work is duplicated and repeated in the various reports, entailing an expense that should be avoided. The amount of Legislative printing could be greatly reduced by a joint committee, and proper rules, regulating the printing of bills and the matter that should go into the journals of the two houses. This would greatly lessen the expense of our legislative sessions. It seems to me however, that the only adequate remedy lies in more carefully guarding the amount of matter to be printed during the whole biennial period.

I recommend that you provide for the reference of all matter to be printed at the public expense to a supervisor, to be appointed for that purpose by the Governor or Executive Council, under proper restrictions.

ALIEN OWNERSHIP.

At the first session of the last Senate it was proposed to regulate the right of aliens to purchase and hold real estate in Kansas; but it was found that any legislation discriminating against aliens in that respect was expressly forbidden by section 17 of the Bill of Rights. Senate joint resolution No. 6 was thereupon offered and passed both houses, submitting to the people a proposition amendatory of said section, by removing such restriction. That amendment having been adopted at the late election, the legislation thereby contemplated should be enacted at once.

MINING LAWS.

A serious disaster occurred recently in a coal mine at Frontenac, Crawford county, whereby nearly a half hundred men at work in the mine lost their lives in a most shocking manner, through an explosion, the precise cause or nature of which seems to be a matter of dispute and great difference of opinion, even among disinterested and well-informed persons. Regret and sympathy are universal over the sad event; and without reference here to the disputed question of immediate responsibility, attention is challenged to the more profitable inquiry, whether, by any further legislation, the danger of like misfortunes in future may not in a degree be reduced, if not largely removed. The mining interests of the State are rapidly increasing, and the importance of proper legislation regulating the subject of mines and mining cannot be over-stated. It involves health and life to those who toil in the mines. Humanity demands for them every possible protection. The law should swiftly and severely punish anyone who shall willfully neglect or fail to observe any precaution required and imposed by the Legislature on that subject; and the question of such further legislation is urged upon your early attention.

Frequent complaint is heard by coal miners that they are imposed upon by their employers in regard to the manner of adjusting coal screens, whereby their meager earnings are reduced and they are made to suffer no inconsiderable hardships. It is believed that a law prohibiting mine superintendents, operators or foremen from widening of screen bars, or changing the elevation of screens, after contract with the miners, would remedy this evil, and I urge the matter upon your attention.

DEATH PENALTY.

The death penalty for murder in the first degree should be either abolished in express terms, or made effective. The present state of the law neither does one nor the other. It seems to have been ingeniously devised to make the Governor a public executioner, shifting upon him the responsibility of courts, and constituting him a thirteenth jurymen in such cases. As a result, there is now in the penitentiary a large number of convicts under sentence of death, with the prospect of remaining there, for no man thus sentenced since the present law was enacted has been executed.

I believe in the death penalty in extreme cases, with the intervention of a year between conviction and execution, but recognize the fact that public opinion on that question is much divided. It should certainly be abolished in express terms, or the duty of its enforcement imposed where it belongs.

APPROPRIATION BILLS.

The rules of your respective branches usually require that the important appropriation bills shall be introduced on or before a fixed day of the session, to insure consideration — rules, however, I am sorry to say, “more honored in the breach than in the observance.” Usually these measures, appropriating large sums of money, in making provision for the support of the State Government, in all its various departments and public institutions, come in late, or lag at the heel of the calendar, until the closing days of the session, and are crowded through under the whip and spur of necessity with a haste that is absolutely unseemly and unwise, not to say unsafe. These measures should be framed, introduced, carefully considered, passed and out of the way as early as is practicable, and it is to be hoped that you will rigidly enforce and observe the wholesome rules spoken of above. Members will find it of great advantage to themselves in securing attention to other matters of legislation which are often lost by having to give way to the belated appropriation bills, coming along in the hurly-burly of the closing hours.

CONSTITUTIONAL REVISION.

It detracts nothing from the acknowledged wisdom of the framers of our constitution to say that it is now very defective.

Our marvelous development and changed conditions, impossible of anticipation when it was devised, call now for revision. Kansas has outgrown many of its provisions and limitations. At the time of admission the population of the State did not exceed 120,000. There were but thirty organized counties, and five judicial districts, each with a population of about 24,000. The Legislature consisted of one hundred members—twenty-five Senators and seventy-five Representatives. If based on population, each Representative would have represented about sixteen hundred people. Then there was not a mile of railroad in the State. Now we have 8,800 miles in operation, with a population approximating one million and three-quarters; with twenty-nine judicial districts, each with a population of about 60,000. There are in the State one hundred and six organized counties, maintaining separate county governments, and more than ten thousand common schools supported and successfully conducted under our grand system of free popular education. The Kansas of to-day has reached the vast proportions of an empire, requiring a readjustment of her organic law to suit the present needs.

UNEQUAL REPRESENTATION.

The constitution limits the number of Representatives to one hundred and twenty-five. Eighty-eight only of the organized counties are represented in the lower house by one or more members each. An apportionment can be made only once in five years, and no organized county is entitled to separate representation unless it cast at least 250 legal votes at the general election next before the apportionment is made.

Eighteen counties organized since the last apportionment in 1886, with a population of not less than seventy-five thousand people, casting at the late election nearly fifteen thousand votes, are thus excluded from representation by the limitations of the constitution, and must so remain until the next apportionment in 1891 shall give them representation in 1893, unless the remedy be sooner applied by amendments to the constitution.

Again, as between the counties entitled to representation, no just apportionment was possible either in 1876, 1881, or the last one in 1886, based on the census of 1885. On the basis of population, if such had been possible, each Representative would have been given a constituency of 10,150. But that apportionment gave a Representative to each of twenty-eight organized counties, as required by the inflexible rule of the Constitution, whose population, respectively, ranged in round numbers from 1,500 to 8,900, averaging less than 4,600 each, and five of them having less than 2,000 each. In other words, out of a then population of 1,300,000, the 128,500 people in these twenty-eight counties were allowed twenty-eight Representatives, while there maining 1,171,500 people were given but ninety-seven, or one to every 12,077.

These ninety-seven Representative districts embrace fifty-nine counties, and between these the greatest inequality exists in representation, as no district can be created comprising territory within two or more counties. Giving each of the then organized counties having the requisite number of voters one Representative, thirty-seven remained to be distributed on the basis of population, of which a few instances are given for illustration: Leavenworth county, with a population of 42,800, has four Representatives, one to every 10,700; Shawnee, with a population of 40,500, has three Representatives, one to every 13,526; while Labette has three Representatives, one for every 9,714 people. Jefferson county, with 16,265 population has two Representatives, one to 8,132; while Wyandotte, with a population of 28,069, has but two, one to 14,000 people.

Against the twenty-eight counties hereinbefore mentioned, having an average population of less than 4,600 to each of which a Representative was given, may be set over seventeen counties, each of which then had over 12,000 people and was allowed but one member, and the population of eight of these ranged between 14,000 and 16,000, one having 16,875, another 16,956, and another 17,157. These gross inequalities, it is proper to say, are unavoidable under present constitutional restrictions, and must be borne until the needful changes in the fundamental law shall bring relief.

APPORTIONMENT.

No change may be made in the apportionment, except at the time prescribed by the Constitution, once in five years. The close of the last five-years period fell in 1886, in the interval between our biennial sessions, and compelled the extra session of 1886 with its attendant expense. The same conditions will occur again in 1896, and again at certain intervals.

Furthermore, with the apportionment article as it is, and the Senate and House terms extended to four and two years respectively, it follows that the united terms of the members chosen under every apportionment, in either branch, must fall short of or exceed the five-year period contemplated by the constitution; and it occasionally happens that one house of a particular session is chosen under one apportionment, while the other house was chosen under another apportionment. Thus, under the apportionment act of 1876, Representatives were chosen in 1876, 1878, and 1880, whose united terms covered six years. Under the apportionment act of 1881, Representatives were chosen in 1882 and 1884, whose united terms covered but four years; and under the act of 1886, Representatives were elected in 1886 and 1888, and will be again in 1890, whose aggregate terms will cover six years. In 1876, Senators were chosen under the apportionment of that year, and again in 1880, their terms thus covering eight years; while under the apportionment act of 1881, the only election for Senators was in 1884, for the term ending in 1888. The present Senate was chosen under the apportionment act of 1886, and the next election for Senators will be held under the apportionment to be made in 1891. So it is apparent that the attempt to secure speedy and equal representation under existing constitutional conditions, is not a brilliant success.

CLASSIFIED MEMBERSHIP.

Other changes in our fundamental law are suggested by experience and demanded by our altered conditions. In revising the Legislative article, it would seem wise to classify the membership of the two houses, providing that the classes shall be chosen at different times. So that at the commencement of each session, a considerable number of members of either house will have had legislative experience.

This would greatly facilitate the work of organization, save time, insure accuracy and efficiency in the transaction of public business, and be of incalculable benefit in many ways.

LIMITED SESSIONS.

Under our biennial system the limitation of the session to fifty days is no longer advisable. Excluding Sundays and counting out the time necessarily consumed in organization and in the election of State Printer and United States Senator, the time remaining is wholly inadequate to the legislative needs of a great State. Local and special bills consume much time, the work done is often crude and inconsiderate, and important general measures die upon the calendar for lack of time to properly consider them. This limitation should be removed or extended, and members allowed a reasonable per diem or a fixed salary. The present compensation of members of the Legislature is inadequate, unjust, parsimonious, niggardly.

SPECIAL LEGISLATION.

Special legislation is a great and growing evil, notwithstanding the evident purpose of the framers of our constitution to prohibit it. The provision that "no special law shall be enacted where a general law can be made applicable," with the construction placed upon it by the courts, is easy of evasion and utterly fails of its well-meant purpose. The result is that special bills crowd the calendar each session, providing for remedies in special cases, oftentimes mischievous, if not vicious, in character and design, adding much to the general expense, retarding public business, and consuming time that should be devoted to measures of general importance. An amendment specifically forbidding the passage of any act to change a name, conferring the rights of majority, to authorize the issue of bonds, or a special tax levy, in any particular case by any municipality, to legalize the acts of any public officer or body, to authorize particular roads or highways, or to vacate streets, would be effective and wise. Parties should be compelled to seek a remedy, in all such cases, in the courts or the board of county commissioners, upon whom the needful authority should be conferred if it does not exist.

THE JUDICIARY.

Scarcely anything can be more important to the people than the prompt dispatch of business in the courts, particularly to the ordinary litigant, to whom the law's delays are especially grievous. And this applies with added force to the courts of last resort. Our Supreme Court, created when we had but 120,000 people, is trying to do the business of a million and three-quarters of people. It should be better paid and relieved by an amendment adding more justices, or an intermediate appellate court should be created, with final jurisdiction in many cases that now come on appeal or error from the courts below. Provision should also be made for increasing the number of district judges in those counties constituting a single judicial district, where one district judge cannot transact the business. It might be well, also, to prohibit the creation of a judicial district containing less than a given population, or the reduction of any existing district below such a basis.

CONSTITUTIONAL CONVENTION.

Changes in the fundamental law can come only through a convention, or by amendments. It would take several years to reach the end by a convention, if the initial steps were at once taken, though I am sure that such a convention would afford the most satisfactory means of curing the many infirmities that have crept into the constitution by the lapse of time. I am further persuaded, however, that a call for a convention can never receive the indorsement of a majority of the people of Kansas, unless some assurance could be given that neither of several important features of the present constitution should be in any wise altered, impaired, or put in peril, of which I may mention the prohibitory amendment and the homestead exemption. And a proposed new constitution which should not preserve these provisions substantially as they are, would be overwhelmingly rejected by the people when submitted to them for ratification. As no restrictions respecting these features could be imposed upon a convention that would necessarily bind that body when once called into existence, it is doubtful if such a call would meet with popular favor; and the surest, cheapest and speediest mode of relief would seem therefore to be through carefully prepared amendments.

AMENDMENTS.

No more than three propositions to amend the constitution can be submitted at one time; but it cannot well be doubted that each proposition may include all, or any number of the sections of any article; so that three propositions could embrace amendments to all the sections of as many articles—legislative, judicial and executive, for instance. The remedy by amendments judiciously devised, could thus be given a width of scope sufficient to reach at once the existing defects calling most urgently for immediate cure.

TIME OF SUBMITTING.

The practice as to the time when amendments should be submitted, has followed the generally accepted though doubtful conclusion that they can be legally voted upon only at elections for Representatives, in the even-numbered years. The soundness of this opinion or practice may well be questioned. "At the next election for Representatives," is the time indicated by section 1, article 14, when proposed amendments may be submitted; and "at the next election of members to the Legislature," is the time fixed by section 2 of said article, when a call for a constitutional convention may be submitted. Accordingly, up to 1875 there was no question about submitting amendments annually, or a call for a convention biennially, for the House and Senate terms were one and two years respectively. But the amendment to the Legislative article adopted in 1875 extends these terms to two and four years, beginning with the election in 1876, the first under the biennial plan; and it is contended that this change operates to extend the limitation of time in said sections one and two of the apportionment article fourteen, accordingly, so that propositions to amend the constitution can be properly submitted only every second year, and a call for a convention only every fourth year, beginning with 1876.

If this is the correct conclusion, then article fourteen has been altered and amended in both sections, without any action upon it by the people or the Legislature, which is impossible. If the effect of the amendment of 1875, in extending the House and Senate terms, has been to likewise change the time originally indicated by sections one and two of the apportionment article to two and four years, then, by parity of reasoning, if that amendment had lengthened the legislative term to ten and twenty years, the time for submitting amendments or a call for a convention would have been in the same manner extended. But, in the election of 1875, with the proposition to amend the legislative article providing for the biennial plan, propositions were also submitted amending two other articles, three in all, and as many as the constitution allows at one time; and all were adopted. And if the effect of these amendments was, as contended, to also amend article fourteen, they must also have done the same to article one; so that five amendments were made at one time, three directly and two indirectly. Section one, article one, provides that State officers shall be chosen at the time and place of voting for "members of the Legislature," the same phrase as employed in article fourteen, to hold for the term of two years, and until their successors are elected and qualified. Members of the Legislature, both branches, since 1875, are chosen once in four years, and yet no one has ever contended that the effect of such amendment was to widen the interval between the elections for State officers from two to four years, for such a claim would do violence to the plain intendment of the Constitution. It is only mentioned to show the apparent weakness of the proposition that the amendment of 1875 so changed the provisions of another article—fourteen—that amendments to the Constitution or a call for a convention can be submitted to the people only at elections held every second and fourth year respectively.

The provisions of article 1, like those of article 14, are not floating, but clear and specific, and were not, in my opinion, changed or amended by indirection. If correct in this view, the necessary amendments could be submitted to the people at the next general election in 1889, and a proposition for calling a convention could properly be voted on at the election in 1890. If the amendments should be adopted and the necessity for a convention thereby superseded, the people would so declare by voting the convention down. On the other hand, if the proposed amendments should be defeated, the people would be left free to act on the question of calling a convention.

GENERAL REMARKS.

The Pullman Palace Car Company is seeking to avoid the payment of taxes on its cars, in this State, and has carried a suit involving the question to the Supreme Court of the United States, where it is now pending. This is a matter fraught with vast importance, since it involves the highest prerogative of the State, which must not be trespassed upon. I trust this subject may receive your earnest attention.

I also direct your attention to the matter of taxing express companies operating in this State, and the necessity for statutory provisions for the same.

The telegraph and telephone service is also worthy of attention, and should be brought under proper State control or regulation; the former by direct application of law, and the latter by conferring upon cities additional powers for the purpose.

Appropriation should be made to defray the expenses of our delegates to the Farmers' Congress, which meets this year in Alabama.

On the 30th of April the centennial of Washington's inauguration will be appropriately celebrated in the city of New York. Delegates have been appointed from this State and you should make suitable provision to defray their expenses.

The question of making provision to have Kansas represented at the Paris Exposition is referred to, and the advisability of taking steps to induce immigration from the overcrowded fields and workshops of France.

Adequate means should be provided for the maintenance and perpetuation of the National Guard. The General Government is fostering this organization with a liberal hand, and every instinct of State pride and patriotism should impel us to keep the several regiments up to their high standard of discipline and soldierly efficiency.

I congratulate you upon the marked approach to unanimity with which you have indicated your intention to retain to the State the distinguished services of Senator Preston B. Plumb for six years more, and cannot forbear an expression of gratification at the eminent position occupied by the representatives of Kansas in the highest deliberative assembly in the world.

CONCLUSION.

The forces operating in the marvelous upbuilding of Kansas are pushing out in new directions and along other lines of action. The "boom" period is passing by, and the energies of our people are being diverted to manufacturing and mining, and the development of the natural resources of the State, with the promise of rewards the most substantial and enduring. The fitful prosperity, born of fictitious values and extravagant speculation, is giving place to legitimate enterprises, fostered by men of enlightened business judgment, ripened experience and comprehensive views of the grand future of the commonwealth.

The growth in the output of our mines and manufactories, and in the capital and labor employed, as shown elsewhere, is marked and gratifying. The recent discovery and development of exhaustless deposits of pure salt underlying a large portion of central Kansas, is a matter of congratulation to the entire State. It adds another industry, the importance of which can scarcely be overestimated. At Hutchinson alone eight salt yards or plants are in operation, producing daily 2,000 barrels of salt, equal in quality to any in the world. At Ellsworth, Wellington, Kingman and several other points, salt works are either already in successful operation, or soon to become so, and there can be no doubt that ere long Kansas is to supply a large portion of the Union with this staple.

Coal in profitable quantities has been discovered in nearly every locality in the eastern part of the State, natural gas abounds, and we can boast of the largest zinc works in the United States save one.

The manufacture of sugar from sorghum cane grown in Kansas is no longer an experiment, but an assured success, requiring only time and capital to develop it into a great industry. The four plants in operation the past season make a showing that leaves no room to longer question this fact. These four factories, during the season of 1888, produced an aggregate of 701,941 pounds of superior sugar, and 300,000 gallons of molasses, with satisfactory results financially, notwithstanding the conditions were in some cases unfavorable. Those who have given this question critical investigation and constant study for years, regard it as settled, and this opens up the prospect of making Kansas, especially central and western Kansas, a great sugar-producing district.

By way of encouragement, at least for the present, Congress should be memorialized on the subject of offering a bounty on domestic sugar, to cover any reduction in the duty on the imported product, in the revision of the tariff now under consideration. It would seem that Congress could not refuse some such consideration to a new industry of vast importance, not only to Kansas but the Nation.

I have thus briefly referred to some of the chief industries of recent development in our State, which convince me that flattering as our material progress has been, it is but a hint of our capabilities as a State. The quartz mines on our former territorial boundary line, now included within the limits of a sister State, have been called the "inner chamber of God's great granite safes, fastened with time-locks set upon the advent of the railway." The time-locks guarding the inner chambers where the hidden wealth of Kansas lies, are set upon the advent of Yankee enterprise. It has come, and the first-fruits of the new era, full and abounding, are in our hands.

In the hope and belief that the matters herein presented will receive your cordial and careful consideration, that your deliberations may be characterized by fairness to all portions of the State and to each of its varied interests, and that you will so discharge your arduous duties as to receive the sanction of your own consciences and the approval of the Great Ruler of States and Nations, this is confidently submitted.

LYMAN U. HUMPHREY.

STATE OF KANSAS,
ADJUTANT GENERAL'S OFFICE, TOPEKA, Aug. 1, 1888.
To His Excellency JOHN A. MARTIN, Governor, and Commander-in-Chief:

SIR—I have the honor to submit the Sixth Biennial Report of this Department.

Very respectfully,

A. B. CAMPBELL,
Adjutant General.

MILITIA.

The Kansas National Guard consists of four regiments of eight companies each and one battery in two sections, and, including the field and staff and brigade and division officers, numbers 1,966 men. There are four brigade districts, with one regiment in each district. The major general is in command, without a division, and there are four brigadiers general in command, with but one brigade. The Legislature at its last session refused to make any appropriation for encampments. Prior to that time the force, in drill, discipline and effective organization, had no superior in any State in the West. The effect of this failure upon the part of the Legislature to provide for encampments was to demoralize the force and materially weaken the efficiency of the Guard. It has been necessary to disband and reorganize eight entire companies and one section of the battery since the last Legislature, and the discharges and new enlistments have been very numerous. Regimental or brigade encampments once in each year are necessary to the stability and permanent character of a militia force. Experience has demonstrated this to be true in all the older States. The prevailing sentiment is in favor of regimental encampments; but one or the other must be provided if our State militia is to have a good, healthy, progressive existence. I therefore recommend that provision be made by the Legislature for annual encampments. The law should be so amended as to dispense with the services of one major general and three brigadiers general, with their staff officers. One brigadier general should be in command of the entire force, and he, together with the four colonels and the Adjutant General, should constitute the State Military Board. The term of enlistment of all officers and privates should be fixed at five years. With these changes in the law, and proper provision for encampments, the Kansas National Guard will compare favorably with any militia force in the United States.

ACTIVE SERVICE.

During the last two years portions of the Kansas National Guard have been ordered into active service, for the purpose of settling county-seat troubles, in Wichita, Sherman and Stevens counties; and there is serious danger of further trouble in the western portion of Kansas on this account. The reports of the officers in charge of the forces at these points will be found further on in this report. In all of these cases, the trouble originated in a fight between rival town companies, who, for purely financial reasons, had drawn the public into a war for their benefit. The business of planting new towns within from two to eight miles of each other, for the purpose of warring over the county seat, has been a fruitful source of crime and bloodshed in western Kansas. There should be some legislation, both civil and criminal, to put an end to these troubles. It is very late to begin legislating to this end, but much good may be done yet by preventive legislation. The organization of towns within fighting distance should be prohibited under severe penalties, and whoever, by conspiracy or as individuals, incited the people to deeds of violence or fraud in elections during county-seat troubles, should be deemed guilty of a felony and severely punished. The appropriation for active service should be increased from $5,000 to $10,000 per year.

UNIFORMS.

At the last session of Congress the appropriation for militia purposes was increased from $200,000 to $400,000 per year, and the law so amended that quartermasters' stores, in addition to ordnance stores, could be issued to the States. Under this law, the State Military Board made provision to uniform the Kansas National Guard throughout, so that the State will not be burdened with that expense. The cost of uniforms to the State would have been about $12,000. The increase of this appropriation was mainly due to the untiring efforts of the National Guard Association of the United States. Under this law the ordnance stores heretofore issued to the States become the property of the State.

ORDNANCE STORES.

We have a large amount of obsolete arms and ordnance stores, the property of the State, which the State Military Board has condemned and ordered sold, and all sums of money derived therefrom should be appropriated for militia purposes. The amount derived from sales of this property by the Adjutant General should go into the State treasury to the credit of the militia fund, and all other sums of money derived from military sources should be returned to this fund. The law should be so amended as to provide for this disposition of money derived from military sources. We still have a credit with the United States Government of $1,802.11, on account of the special act published in my last report, crediting the State of Kansas with arms lost during Indian troubles.

MUSTER-ROLLS.

The rolls and records of the Kansas volunteer soldiers in the late war are yet in a deplorable condition, and it is no longer possible to furnish the information called for from some of them. A part of the missing rolls have been furnished by the Adjutant General of the War Department, and more are in course of preparation. When these are received the State will have almost a complete set of rolls. The rolls of the First, Second and Third Indian Home Guards have never been on file in this office, so far as the present administration is informed; and there is no record of them on file in the office of the Secretary of State. These troops are said to have rendered valuable service, and many calls are made for information which this office is supposed to be able to furnish. The original muster-rolls of the Kansas State Militia, called out to repel the Price invasion, were sent to Washington as vouchers. Hundreds of calls for certificates of service have been made upon this office, and the greatest difficulty in obtaining correct information has been encountered. Repeated calls were made upon the War Department for copies, but no attention was ever paid to the matter; finally, Senator Plumb was appealed to, and upon his request complete copies were made, and are now on file in the office of the Price Raid Commissioner. The credit is due to General J. C. Caldwell for obtaining these rolls from the War Department.

RECORD OF VOLUNTEER SOLDIERS.

It has been the custom of the several adjutants general heretofore to call the attention of the Legislature, in their reports, to the incomplete and unfinished condition of the records of the volunteer soldiers of this State. It would seem that the services they performed and the hardships and sufferings they endured would entitle them to the right of having their history made permanent, but so far no provision has been made to that end. It would not be out of place, perhaps, to again renew the recommendations so often made, "that authority be given and an appropriation be made to complete the records of the Kansas volunteers; and that the same, when finished, be published."

The work of making copies of the damaged and mutilated rolls on file in this office has progressed far enough to convince us that with the help of one more clerk complete copies of the entire enrollment can be made within the next four years. This work is absolutely necessary, whether the records are ever completed or not; for the reason that the handling of the rolls of original muster-out has been so constant that they are now almost ruined, and cannot be made to last much longer.

ENROLLMENT OF EX-UNION SOLDIERS RESIDING IN KANSAS.

The law for enrolling the ex-soldiers, sailors, and marines, approved March 1, 1883, expired, or became inoperative immediately following the enumeration of 1885; therefore no enrollment was made in 1887. The enrollment taken in 1885 has been preserved in permanent records, and from these the names of many thousands of men have been furnished to parties calling for the addresses of old comrades, thereby enabling many to prosecute their claims to a successful termination. The present Legislature will probably be called upon to reenact the law, with some amendments that will make the enrollment more perfect and the work of compilation less cumbersome and expensive.

OFFICERS' RECORD.

The Government is continually calling upon this Department for information in relation to the officers and men who served in Kansas regiments during the war; the most frequent calls being made for correct records of commissioned officers. This information was not on file in this office, where it was reasonable to expect it, but in a record which seems to have been used as a daily journal of the transactions in the Executive and Secretary's offices during the years of such service. A certified copy of that portion of this record has been made, and is now on file in this office. This is the first completed record in relation to our volunteers. At the request of the Adjutant General U.S.A., and in order to facilitate the correction of the records of commissioned officers under the late law of Congress for that purpose, a transcript of the above-mentioned record is being made for the War Department.

ARSENAL.

The State Arsenal is inadequate to the present demands, and should be demolished and rebuilt at a greater distance from the State House. The property of the State kept in the Arsenal, so-called, is not only accessible to evil-disposed persons, but the condition of the building is such as to tempt the lawless, in case of riot, to take possession of the only means at hand to preserve the peace. The property required to be kept in the Arsenal cannot be properly cared for, on account of its crowded condition. It is a disgrace to the State.

VOLUME OF BUSINESS.

The business of the office for the two years ending June 30, 1888, has been larger than for the two years previous, regardless of the fact that no encampments of the National Guard have been held within the two years last past.

The average of letters received is about two thousand per year, answers to many of which are made by indorsement, in which case the letter is returned to the writer; in nearly all other instances copies of replies are kept. The correspondence with the Government departments in regard to claims of Kansas volunteer soldiers, and the militia which was called out to defend the State at the time of the Price raid, grows more voluminous with each year, until now it reaches into the hundreds of cases annually. In all such cases the information is furnished immediately, if accessible, and returned with the letter calling for it. The calls for "certificates of service" have greatly increased within the last two years; no less than five hundred having been furnished.

In the discharge of my duties I have been assisted by my Chief Clerk, Major S. M. Lanham, and C. W. Campbell and Mary C. Jones, assistants.

I take pleasure in commending each of these, my assistants, as very efficient in the line of work in which they have been employed. Major Lanham has had the general care of the military affairs of the department, and has been both competent and faithful in the discharge of his duties. I recommend his appointment as Assistant Adjutant General upon the staff of the Governor, which will clothe him with official authority in the absence of the Adjutant General, and give him a permanent place in the office of the Adjutant General, where he properly belongs.

The business of this department, in the order in which the same has occurred, from July 1st, 1886, to June 30th, 1888, is herewith presented. The report of active service in Stevens county, which occurred after June 30th, 1888, is presented as an appendix to this report.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

A. B. CAMPBELL, Adjutant General.

SEC. 2. The camp will be known as Camp Phil. Sheridan, and is located two miles west of Fort Riley, and two and a half miles north of Junction City, on the north bank of the Republican river.

SEC. 3. Major General Thomas M. Carroll will be in command of the encampment, and the Commander-in-Chief will review the troops in person on the afternoon of the 24th day of September, in the fair grounds at Junction City.

SEC. 4. Orders for transportation will be issued to general, field and staff officers individually, and to commanders of companies, batteries and bands, for the officers and men under their command. These orders will designate the route by which transportation will be furnished. Each officer is charged with the duty of receipting upon blank receipts furnished, to the proper railroad company for the exact number of men for whom transportation is desired, which receipt will entitle him to a ticket for the number of men indicated. Transportation will be allowed to each general officer for two cooks; to each company and battery, two cooks; and one cook to each band.

SEC. 5. All general, field and staff officers, and the commander of each company, band and battery, will be required to bring every State tent, and all camp and garrison equipage, in their possession. Commanders of companies, bands and batteries, will also bring all guns and accoutrements and other equipage to camp for inspection. Tents, camp equipage and baggage will be as compactly rolled and packed as possible, and plainly marked with letter of company and regiment. The men will provide themselves with blankets or bedding.

SEC. 6. All calibre-50 guns, and all leather belts, cartridge boxes and bayonet scabbards, and all non-commissioned officers' swords, will be turned in. New arms and accoutrements will be issued to each company having calibre-50 guns. Additional canteens and haversacks, blanket-rolls and coat-straps will also be issued.

SEC. 7. Colonel C. J. McDivitt, Quartermaster General, Major W. S. Hebron, Engineer-in-Chief, and Captain W. F. McGrath, Provost Marshal, will report to the Adjutant General at Camp Phil. Sheridan on Friday, September 17th, 1886. Colonel J. B. Hibben, Surgeon General, will report for duty at 9 o'clock A. M., Monday, September 20th, 1886.

SEC. 8. Drill cards, giving the maneuvers of regiments and companies in drill contests, will be issued at the encampment.

SEC. 9. The troops will start with one day's rations in their haversacks.

SEC. 10. Regimental bands will not be excused from duty, and no regimental surgeon, or other officer or man of the Kansas National Guard, will be excused from duty, except in case of absolute necessity.

SEC. 11. The Kansas City, Fort Scott & Gulf and Southern Kansas Railroads will deliver the First Regiment to the Union Pacific Railroad at Kansas City and Lawrence, in time for its western connection, on Monday morning, September 20th. The First Regiment, being concentrated at Lawrence, will be delivered by the Union Pacific Railroad at Junction City, on said day, at 3:08 P. M. General J. N. Roberts and staff will accompany this Regiment.

SEC. 12. The Second Regiment, Section A, First Battery, and General T. McCarthy and staff, will be delivered by the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fé Railroad and its branches, to the Missouri, Kansas & Texas Railroad, at Emporia Junction, on Monday, September 20th, at 11:35 A. M. The Second Regiment, thus concentrated, will be delivered by the Missouri, Kansas & Texas Railroad, at Junction City, by special train, at 3 o'clock P. M. of said day.

SEC. 13. Companies D and F, of the Third Regiment, will be delivered by the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fé Railroad to the Missouri, Kansas & Texas Railroad, at Emporia Junction, on Monday, September 20th, at 11:35 A. M., and with Company E, at Emporia, will proceed via the Missouri, Kansas & Texas Railroad, in company with the Second Regiment, to Junction City. General Fuller and staff, Colonel Hughes and staff, Company A, of the Third Regiment, and Section B, First Battery, will proceed by the Union Pacific Railroad from Topeka to Junction City. Companies B and C will proceed via the St. Jo. & Grand Island Railroad to Marysville. on Monday morning, September 20th, joining Company G, and proceed by the Blue Valley route, taking Company H and staff officers at Blue Rapids, to Manhattan: thence via Union Pacific, with the First Regiment, to Junction City, the Third Regiment being concentrated at Junction City.

Sec. 14. Companies E and F, of the Fourth Regiment, will be delivered by the Missouri Pacific, on Monday morning, September 20th, to the Union Pacific Railroad, at Concordia, in time for its eastern connection. And the Union Pacific Railroad will deliver Brigadier General Adam Dixon and staff and the Fourth Regiment in Junction City, at 12.55 o'clock p. m., the Fourth Regiment being concentrated at Junction City.

Sec. 15. The general, field and staff officers, except those mentioned in section 6 of this order, will start from their individual stations so as to reach Junction City on Monday, September 20th, by 8 o'clock p. m.

Sec. 16. The Division thus concentrated at Junction City will march to Camp Phil. Sheridan on the evening of September 20.

Sec. 17. The programme of the encampment will be announced from day to day, in general and special orders, by Major General Thomas M. Carroll. The band contest, sham battle and grand review will occur on Friday, September 24th. in the fair grounds at Junction City, and if time will permit, an exhibition drill by the prize regiment, company and battery will be given.

Sec. 18. Colonel C. E. Compton, Commandant at Fort Riley, having been detailed by the Secretary of War as inspector of the Kansas National Guard, at Camp Phil. Sheridan, will be obeyed and respected accordingly. By request of the Military Board, Colonel Compton will designate three of his officers to act as judges of the regimental and company drill contest.

Sec. 19. The leader of the military band at Fort Riley, and the leader of the Junction City band, with a third person, whom they shall select, have been chosen by the Military Board as judges of the band contest.

Sec. 20. The Commander-in-Chief calls the attention of the Kansas National Guard to the fact that we will be encamped on the U. S. Military Reservation, side by side with the regular troops, and that Camp Phil. Sheridan is emphatically a camp of instruction. He expresses the hope that the military bearing and discipline will be such as to command the respect and admiration of the United States troops, and that the second encampment will prove both pleasant and profitable to the Kansas National Guard.

By order of the Commander-in-Chief.

STATE OF KANSAS, OFFICE OF ADJUTANT GENERAL, }
TOPEKA, September 30, 1886. }

GENERAL ORDER No. 3.]

SECTION 1. Blank pay-rolls will be forwarded from this office immediately to all companies, batteries and bands, and to the headquarters of each brigade and regiment. Commanders will see that the rolls are made to include only those actually present for duty, in each grade, and that each officer and man is credited only with the actual number of days in attendance — six days being the maximum time allowed by law. Assistant Adjutants General will make out rolls for their brigades, adjutants of regiments for field, staff, non-commissioned staff and bands, and company commanders for their respective commands.

Sec. 2. Commanders of companies will take up on their ordnance returns for September 30th, 1886, all new issues, and make return to this office immediately. The quarterly returns will show all ordnance of every description on hand, and its condition. Deficiencies will be supplied as soon as possible after the receipt of returns above called for.

By order of the Commander-in-Chief.

OFFICIAL REPORTS OF THE ENCAMPMENT.

DIVISION HEADQUARTERS, KANSAS NATIONAL GUARD, }
PAOLA, KAS., October 12, 1886. }

Gov. John A. Martin, Commander-in-Chief—SIR: I have the honor to submit the following report of the Second Annual Encampment of Kansas National Guard:

By permission of the Secretary of War, the encampment was held on the Fort Riley Military Reservation. The place selected was about two miles from Junction City, on a beautiful plateau lying between the bluff and river, affording ample room for the movement of troops, and being the finest grounds for our encampment which could have been selected.

Arrangements had been made with various railroads centering at Junction City, for transportation, and the troops were to be delivered at Junction City on September 20th, at 9 o'clock P. M. This would have afforded the troops ample time to go into camp and fix themselves comfortably before night. Owing to a wreck on the Fort Scott road, the First Regiment and a part of the Third did not arrive at Junction City until after dark. The march to camp was a hard, dusty tramp of two miles, but was made by the troops in good order and with but little complaint. The Fourth Regiment and a part of the Third had arrived earlier and gone into camp, being escorted from Junction City by a detachment of regular cavalry, stationed at Fort Riley.

General Adam Dixon, commanding Fourth Brigade District, who had arrived at camp, assumed command; and when I reached there on the morning of the 21st I found guards stationed around camp, and the work of the encampment already begun. The absence of my engineer-in-chief caused some delay and a good deal of trouble in the assignment of regiments to their respective places on the camp-ground, and in getting their tents pitched. In some instances tents were taken down two or three times, before getting them where they properly belonged. It usually requires one day after the troops reach camp to get ready for work. The Kansas National Guard is a social as well as a military organization, and a business acquaintance and a personal friendship exists between the various members living in different parts of the State, and the first day of an encampment is largely devoted to social calls and renewing old acquaintances among the members. They are men of wealth and standing at home; many of them could buy and pay for the Fort Riley military reservation and have plenty of money left to improve it. They are soldiers because they love the service, and a little time must be given to get them down to work. Besides, it is a hard matter to come down to strict military drill and discipline all at once. The officers and men are not used to it. They lay aside their usual vocations and go into camp. They are relieved from the cares and duties of their business responsibilities at home, and they feel like so many school-boys out on a vacation. It requires some time to get over this feeling—to lay aside the citizen and assume the soldier.

The afternoon, however, was devoted to company and battalion drill, closing with regimental dress parade in the evening.

Colonel C. E. Compton, commanding officer at Fort Riley, who had been detailed by the Secretary of War to inspect the Kansas National Guard, reported for duty, and several of the officers stationed at the Fort made social calls at division headquarters.

On Wednesday the real work of the encampment commenced. The entire day was occupied by company and battalion drill, closing with dress parade in the evening. Guard-mounting in the morning was performed very creditably, although this part of a soldier's duty is only performed at encampments.

Up to this time there had been some annoyance over the loose manner in which the guards performed their duty. It seemed almost impossible to make the guards understand their duty, or to keep the men in camp, or maintain discipline. In order to remedy this, Lieutenant Colonel S. R. Burch, of the First Regiment, was detailed officer of the day, and Captain H. S. Miller, of Company A, same regiment, was detailed as officer of the guard. Both are old soldiers and very efficient officers in the Kansas National Guard. Under these able officers the camp at once assumed the appearance of a military encampment, and there was but little complaint afterwards.

Another source of annoyance was the sutler at Fort Riley, who, taking advantage of his position, moved down close to our camp and opened a beer saloon. It was considered fun to run the guards and visit the saloon. The presence of this saloon contributed largely to whatever disorder and lack of discipline there was in camp. An appeal was early telegraphed the Secretary of War to remove the saloon, but no response was received during the encampment. On Thursday, Colonel Compton becoming aware of how much trouble the sutler was giving us, ordered him back to the Fort.

The weather was extremely hot, and in this part of the State there had been no rain for weeks. The wind sifted the sand through the camp, so that it was impossible to keep clean. The men, unaccustomed to labor, suffered from the heat. Some were so overcome as to fall while in ranks. They were immediately carried to their quarters, where they received proper medical attention, and I am happy to report that no fatality occurred.

On Monday evening, by invitation, I had the pleasure of visiting Fort Riley in company with your Excellency, Col. A. B. Campbell and Major W. D. Ford, and witnessing a dress parade by the regular soldiers stationed at that place. Colonel Compton is a model soldier. The troops of his command show the result of his skillful training and discipline. Their movements were executed like parts of machinery. Their uniforms are stylish and show-off to good effect. And yet, I could not help but think, while watching their fine movements, that in case of actual service the rollicking, awkward boys down in camp would march just as far in a day and stand up under the fire of battle just as long.

In the evening, several officers from the Fort, accompanied by their wives, visited the encampment and remained several hours. The military band from the Fort also came down and serenaded the camp. In fact, during the entire encampment, everything was done which could be done by the officers of Fort Riley to make our stay with them pleasant.

Thursday, the 24th, was devoted to competitive drills and inspection. The inspecting officer was early on the ground, and spent the entire day in camp. His work was thorough and complete. To give an idea of his labor, it is only necessary to say that during the day he handled more than fifteen hundred guns, examined the equipments of each soldier, besides inspecting their quarters. It was too much work for one man to do in one day. But as this was practically our last day in camp, it had to be done. While one regiment was being inspected another regiment would be engaged in the competitive drill. In this way, no time was lost during the day.

The judges of the competitive drill were Captain William H. McLaughlin and Captain William A. Miller, of the Eighteenth U. S. Infantry, and Captain John M. Hamilton, of the Fifth U. S. Cavalry. These able officers were competent and impartial judges.

In the company competitive drill eight companies participated, with the following result: First, Company A of the Third Regiment; second, Company A of the First Regiment; third, Company E of the First Regiment; fourth, Company G of the First Regiment; fifth, Company F of the Second Regiment; sixth, Company A of the Second Regiment; seventh, Company F of the Third Regiment; and eighth, Company F of the Fourth Regiment.

In the regimental competitive drill the regiments were found to be proficient in the order of their number, beginning with the First. Prizes had been offered for the best-drilled company and regiment at this encampment, and the prizes were awarded and the money paid upon the foregoing awards made by the judges.

Each company engaged in the competitive drill exhibited a proficiency in drill and military bearing which was very satisfactory. In regimental competitive drill each regiment made an excellent showing. The money with which these prizes were to be paid was raised by the citizens of Junction City, on condition that the National Guard would visit their fair ground on Friday and participate in a sham battle, and give an exhibition drill by the prize companies and regiments. The camp had by this time become a military school, and the National Guard had gotten down to good work. If it had been possible to get off from making the trip to the fair grounds honorably, we certainly would have declined going; but the citizens had been so kind to us, and the Military Board having given them a pledge that such an exhibition should take place on the day named, nothing was left the commanding General but to carry it out in good faith. Accordingly, orders were issued Thursday evening for the men to provide themselves with two days' cooked rations and be prepared to break camp at daylight on Friday morning. The Fourth Regiment asked permission to remain in camp for the purpose of battalion drill; and learning that this regiment could not secure transportation from Junction City on Friday evening and would be obliged to stay in the city over night or march back to camp, their request was granted. They remained in camp until Saturday morning, General Adam Dixon being left in command.

On Friday morning, the First, Second and Third Regiments broke camp and marched to the fair grounds. Notwithstanding the order to these regiments to provide and carry with them two day's cooked rations, it was ascertained on arrival at the grounds that the men were out of provisions. Arrangements were made to supply the men with meals at one of the eating-houses on the grounds.

In the afternoon there was a review of the troops, an exhibition drill by the prize companies and regiments, followed by a sham battle. The details of the battle were arranged by General J. N. Roberts and General A. M. Fuller. On one side were the First and Second Regiments, designated the "American Army," and under the command of General Roberts. On the other side was the Third Regiment, designated the "Mexican Army," and under the command of General Fuller. A section of the battery was assigned to each command. The engagement was very spirited and exciting. No accident happened to mar the pleasure of the entertainment.

In the evening the three regiments marched to the depot, where transportation for home was awaiting them. On Saturday the Fourth Regiment broke camp, marched to Junction City, and took the cars for home.

I note with pleasure a decided improvement in the National Guard, in drill, discipline, and prompt obedience to orders, over that exhibited at the encampment one year ago. By their proficiency in drill, their good order and discipline while in camp, their military bearing and appearance, they show the result of careful training by their commanding officers.

The First Regiment is the oldest regiment in the service. Colonel S. L. Patrick is an able officer, and takes a commendable pride in the success of his regiment. His efforts to promote the efficiency of his command are ably seconded by Lieutenant Colonel S. R. Burch, Captain Boltwood, Adjutant Miller, Captain Howe and other field and line officers. This regiment was called into active service last spring during the great railroad strike, and the officers and men acquitted themselves with great credit. The experience which they obtained at that time and the discipline and drill which they then received has been of great benefit to them, and they exhibited the result of their active service in the high degree of proficiency shown at this encampment.

The Second Regiment has the appearance of a veteran organization. In drill, discipline and military bearing, it would be difficult to excel it. Colonel L. N. Woodcock is an enthusiastic officer, and is fortunate in having Lieutenant Jesse A. Ask, one of the best adjutants in the service. Lieutenant Colonel J. H. Ricksecker and J. T. Showalter are both good officers. The line officers are prompt and efficient. The regiment is under good discipline, and is a credit to the State.

The Third Regiment presents a fine military appearance. On the march it has that long swinging step, which characterizes the soldier who has seen active service. At the encampment one year ago Lieutenant Colonel L. E. Finch, who is a fine officer, was in command, Colonel Hughes being absent. At this encampment Colonel Hughes was present and in command. It was the first time he had assumed the active command of his regiment. He was comparatively a stranger to it, although holding a commission as its Colonel since its organization. Colonel Hughes fully demonstrated his ability as a regimental commander, and won the confidence and good opinion of all his officers and men. This regiment has some excellent line officers, and their companies show the result of their careful attention to duty. The regiment is under good discipline, and is an honor to the service.

The Fourth Regiment is the youngest organization in the National Guard, and may be called the "baby" regiment. It is commanded by Col. Wm. Larzelere, who was recently promoted to take the place of Col. Henry Casey. He is a prompt and able officer, and takes great interest in the good order and discipline of his command. The men of this regiment are above the average in size, all stout, hearty, intelligent young men — just the material for good soldiers. With proper drill and discipline it will make a military organization of which any State might be proud. If I were called upon to select a regiment for difficult and dangerous duty — to charge a battery or storm a fortification — I would never look any further than the Fourth Regiment.

The First Light Battery is divided into two sections. The first, commanded by Captain N. A. Haight, is composed of men above the average in size. They are well drilled, prompt and efficient. Many of them served in the late war, and are veterans in the business.

The second, commanded by First Lieutenant George O. Nulph, is made up of young men who are sons of veterans. They are enthusiastic young soldiers, and show the result of careful training. This battery has excellent officers and men throughout.

I call attention again to the fact that the guns of this battery are old and un-serviceable, and should be replaced by new ones without delay. They have been in service about forty years, and endanger the lives of those who handle them.

The offering of a money prize to the best-drilled company and regiment was an experiment. It was hoped that it would stimulate a friendly rivalry between the various competitors, and result in greater efficiency of the service. We are not yet able to ascertain its effects on the troops.

I would recommend that in lieu of a money prize, that a flag be purchased and awarded at the next encampment to the company showing the greatest perfection in drill and military duty; this flag to be retained by the successful company until it is won from it by some other company. In this way a friendly rivalry might be encouraged between the various companies for the possession of the flag, and would result in great good to the service.

In the hospital department there was lack of proper medicines and accommodations for the sick. This was no fault of Surgeon General Hibben, who was on the ground early and did all he could for the relief of the sick. Ample supplies of medicines should be furnished, not only to the surgeon general, but to each regimental surgeon. I would recommend that four large tents be purchased, one for each regiment, for the use of the regimental surgeon; these tents to be placed in close proximity to the surgeon general's quarters, where the sick of each regiment could report and receive proper treatment.

The quartermaster's department was under the management of Col. C. J. McDivitt, who is a very competent officer, and understands fully the duties of this important position.

Capt. W. F. McGrath again occupied the position of Provost Marshal, and no officer in the service can perform the difficult duties of this position in a more satisfactory manner than he can. He is a faithful officer, and the good order maintained in camp was largely due to his prompt and decisive measures.

Col. A. B. Campbell, Adjutant General, had charge of all the details of the encampment from its beginning to its close. Its success was the result in a great measure of his good judgment in perfecting and executing all arrangements for its proper management. It requires no small amount of labor to plan and provide everything for such an encampment.

Colonel M. V. B. Taylor, Colonel Harry Insley, Major L. C. Smith, and Major W. D. Ford, were active in the performance of every duty assigned them, and rendered valuable assistance.

I desire to mention, specially, Lieutenant Charles T. Munn, of the Leavenworth Light Infantry, and Captain Henry Booth, of the Second Regiment, for faithful and efficient work.

In closing this report, I desire to tender my thanks to all the officers and soldiers of the Kansas National Guard for their uniform kindness and courtesy during the encampment. To General A. M. Fuller, General J. N. Roberts, General T. McCarthy, and General Adam Dixon, I am under many obligations for their kind assistance.

There are other officers who deserve special mention for services rendered, whose names are not known.

I transmit herewith a copy of all special and general orders issued during the encampment.

I have the honor to be,

Your obedient servant,

THOS. M. CARROLL, Major General.

HEADQUARTERS THIRD BRIGADE DISTRICT, K. N. G. }
BELLEVILLE, September 27, 1886. }

Thomas M. Carroll, Major General Commanding, Division K. N. G., Paola, Kansas — GENERAL: I have the honor of submitting the following report:

On the morning of September 24th I assumed command of Camp Phil. Sheridan. as per General Order No. 7, and at once issued orders for the government and instruction of the camp (numbering over 800 men).

And I record the fact with pleasure, that the officers and men of the Fourth Regiment vied with each other in giving and receiving instructions, drilling by companies before and after breakfast, also practice in target firing. The afternoon was fully occupied by company and battalion drill, dress parade, etc. Before sunset the guard-line was contracted, and strict orders issued to keep every soldier inside and all civilians outside of camp.

At 4 A. M., on the 25th, Companies E and F, Fourth Regiment K. N. G., formed line in front of brigade headquarters, with one day's rations in haversacks, as per order. marched out of camp for Junction City, under the guidance of Jacob Beck, Lieutenant and Aide-de-Camp, promptly followed by baggage train, properly guarded, all reaching the train in good shape and on time.

The following order was promulgated on the morning of the 25th:

STATE OF KANSAS, HEADQUARTERS THIRD BRIGADE K. N. G., }

CAMP PHIL. SHERIDAN, September 25, 1886. }

GENERAL ORDER No. 2.]

- Colonel commanding Fourth Regiment K. N. G. will detail as officer of the day the senior captain of the regiment.
- For guard duty, one commissioned officer, one sergeant, one corporal, and twenty men.
- Guard-mount at 8 o'clock A. M., in front of brigade headquarters.
- The guard will be withdrawn from the guard-line at 9:30 A. M., and the men report to their companies for duty.

5. At 10 A. M. the Fourth Regiment will strike tent, prepare and eat dinner, form line in front of brigade headquarters, and be ready to march from Camp Phil. Sheridan at 12 M.

6. The officer of the day with his company will form the rear guard of the regiment during the march.

By order of ADAM DIXON, Brigadier General Commanding.

The above order was faithfully obeyed. At high noon the troops were on the march, with baggage train in the advance, and Camp Phil. Sheridan was again in its primitive grandeur.

Junction City was reached, and arms stacked in the public park; the regiment allowed to break ranks and have the freedom of the city for one and one-half hours. At the appointed hour the assembly was sounded, and to the credit of the Fourth Regiment every man fell promptly into line, having in the interval conducted himself like a soldier and a gentleman. The formation on the march to the depot (which was reached in season) was in column of fours, and performed in a manner worthy of the Kansas National Guard.

I am, General, very respectfully, your most obedient servant,

ADAM DIXON, Brigadier General,
Commanding Third Brigade District, K. N. G.

To the State Military Board: I present the following report of the second annual encampment of the Kansas National Guard:

The second annual encampment was held at Camp Phil. Sheridan, on the military reservation near Fort Riley and Junction City, beginning Sept. 20, 1886, continuing six days—closing Sept. 25, 1886, pursuant to general orders one and two.

Transportation was secured upon all railroads for troops at one cent per mile, which was satisfactorily furnished. There was some delay in the transportation of troops, so that a part of the force did not reach the camp until after midnight of the first day. The camp was broken on the fifth day, and all of the sixth was occupied on the return trip, so that there were actually only four days of the encampment. I believe that under the law we should have full six days in camp, and the time necessary to come to and return from the camp should not be counted as a part of the time of future encampments. This would give us two more full working-days in camp, which is greatly needed.

The full report of the inspector, Colonel Compton, is herewith submitted, and is made a part of this report; and while we have not, in the estimation of said officer, reached that high degree of proficiency which disarms criticism, we have much cause for congratulation, when it is considered that only a little more than one year has elapsed since our reorganization.

The inspecting officer expresses his disapproval of the work of Friday, September 24, at the fair grounds in Junction City, and generally disapproves of all "show work" connected with State encampments. I do not entirely agree with the inspecting officer in this portion of his report. The militia of this State depend upon the good-will of the people of Kansas for their support, and the people naturally desire to see their militia force and judge for themselves as to whether it is worthy of their support. Exhibition drills and sham battles please the people, and they are able to judge in some degree by these "shows," or exhibitions, as to the proficiency of the troops, the improvement made, and their usefulness in time of danger.

A view of the Kansas National Guard, in regular army uniform, on review or exhibition drill by companies and regiments, inspires respect for and confidence in them, and I am sure that it is necessary to build such a confidence and respect in order that we may obtain the willing support of the people. When it is known by actual view that we have four regiments of soldiers in Kansas well drilled, well equipped, well uniformed, and ready for duty at any time, it cannot have any other than a good effect upon the people who see them. I am therefore of opinion that while in regular service, where soldiers are professional and are regularly paid, such exhibitions might be out of place, yet, in the volunteer militia service, a reasonable amount of exhibition drill-work and contests, such as occurred at Junction City, is profitable, and even necessary. The dull routine of camp duty is not all that is needed by the members of the Kansas National Guard. They require some entertainment themselves, to keep them willingly in the service. The excitement of the sham battle, and the rivalry of the exhibition and prize contests, furnish such entertainment. I do not believe it would be wise to eliminate all such features of entertainment from our encampments.

Again, it should be remembered that we were able by reason of the work of Friday, September 24th, to pay in prizes to the Kansas National Guard the sum of $875 for proficiency in drill, which fact was probably unknown to the inspecting officer and others who criticised the work of that day.

The report of the inspecting officer is severe in its criticisms, and holds us to the high standard of regular-army proficiency. All our infirmities are viewed from the standpoint of unyielding military discipline.

The work of the officer was faithfully performed, and while I may not agree with him in all points, we are to be congratulated that we had an inspecting officer faithful enough to point out our weak points without hesitation and in unmistakable terms. Such inspections will be profitable for us.

Our encampment was located at too great distance from the railroad, which caused an increased expense for transportation, and much loss of time and inconvenience getting to and from the camp.

Grounds for future encampments should be selected on the line of the railroad, and if possible within a good, substantial inclosure. If the State could own and fit up its own camp-ground it would be of great benefit to the service.

Grounds could then be prepared for use with reference to our needs, and much time and money saved by this special preparation. I think this suggestion should be brought before the Legislature with a view to the purchase of National Guard encampment grounds, and the erection of suitable buildings thereon as soon as practicable.

The cost of the encampment, exclusive of transportation and per diem, in detail is as follows:

VOUCHERS ONE TO EIGHT INCLUSIVE.
(Paid by warrants from State treasury, excepting No. 8.)
No. 1. B. Rockwell & Co.....	$625 74
" 2. Joseph Copp.....	370 50
" 3. Ross Bros.....	215 14
" 4. J. B. Wadleigh.....	200 13
" 5. Universalist S. Society.....	183 40
" 6. W. R. Fish.....	93 40
" 7. S. C. Brown.....	29 40
" 8. C. H. Ward, (not paid,).....	17 70
	$1,735 41
SUB-VOUCHERS ONE TO SIX INCLUSIVE.
(Paid by Adjutant General.)
No. 1. S. M. Lanham.....	$16 15
" 2. Martin Bradford.....	185 85
" 3. Davidson & Hanson.....	65 70
" 4. John A. Campbell.....	85 00
" 5. John Gross & Son.....	61 35
" 6. Chas. P. Elliott.....	118 94
Total camp and garrison expenses.....	467 40
	$2,735 80
Amount paid by Junction City.....	825 00
Net expense.....	$1,910 80

The amount thus paid by Junction City was not used for encampment expenses, but was paid out in premiums. It is proper to be considered as giving the net cost of the encampment. It was so much profit to us. The cost of the encampment last year was $2,844.19, with nothing returned to us in the way of profit, so that while our encampment cost us $391.61 more for camp expenses, subsistence, &c., than the encampment of 1885, the amount returned to us by Junction City reduces it to $483.39 less than that of 1885. The increased cost is due to the distance of the camp from the railroad and the increased cost of hauling and camp and garrison expenses; also a slight increase in the cost of provisions over last year, and freights.

PAY OF TROOPS.

We have in the militia fund $2,020.74, and our armory rent due in December, and incidental expenses, will exhaust this sum. We have not yet received a dollar of the appropriation for 1886, which will amount to about $14,000, out of which must be paid:

The per diem of troops, about.....	$11,000
Transportation, about.....	4,500
One-half armory rent for year.....	1,800
Expenses of Board, &c.....	500
Total.....	17,800

This develops a shortage of about $4,000, which can only be met by a deficiency appropriation, and which should be promptly met by the Legislature. The first payment of taxes for the year will be in January, and they will not pay into the treasury to exceed $8,000, which sum will be available about March 1st. If this sum is paid in and $4,000 deficiency put into the treasury, by that time we can pay the troops and have a small sum left. But an additional $5,000 should be placed in the treasury to meet such emergencies as came to us last year at Parsons. If such times come upon us again next year, which is not improbable, and we are left with an empty treasury to meet it, we would be practically powerless to render any assistance, so that I think we should ask for $10,000 appropriation to cover emergencies and immediate deficiencies, in addition to the estimates for the two years to come. The problem which confronts the Board now is, when and how shall we pay the per diem of this encampment, which is the preferred debt? The others can wait. This should be paid at once if it can be done without placing in jeopardy the appropriations and without too great waste. If the troops are paid it must be by anticipating this fund by some means, and this can only be done by the Board borrowing the money on the private credit of its individual members. If the men are paid, can we so well present our necessities to the Legislature? Dare we present the fact that we have borrowed this money to pay them and rely upon that as a fact to induce legislation? These facts and figures, better known to me than anyone else, have caused me to delay payment, or rather to wait upon a regular meeting of the Board for the solution of the difficulty. The chief duty of the Board at its present session is to meet this question, and prepare and pass upon future estimates so that we can present our wants fully and clearly before the Legislature. We should have the means at our command to pay our troops and all expenses without resorting to doubtful and expensive methods to get money before our funds are available. I present herewith estimates in detail for the years ending June 30, 1888, and June 30, 1889, and a table of appropriations by the States therein named, with the number of troops supported by each. These will aid us in the estimates to be made.

Respectfully submitted.

 SPECIAL ORDERS, No. 123.]

Extract.

22. By direction of the Secretary of War, Lieutenant Colonel Charles E. Compton, 5th Cavalry, is detailed to inspect the Kansas National Guard at its annual encampment for 1886, to be held at or near Fort Riley, Kansas, under such instructions as he may receive from the Adjutant General of the Army.

By command of Lieutenant General Sheridan.

R. C. DRUM, Adjutant General.

Official: THOMAS WARD, Assistant Adjutant General.

FORT RILEY, KANSAS, September 26, 1886.

Adjutant General U. S. Army, Washington, D. C.—SIR: In compliance with Special Orders No. 123, of 1886, from Headquarters of the Army, I have the honor to state that I have inspected the Kansas National Guard, and respectfully submit the following report.

The military establishment of the State of Kansas is at present organized as follows: The State constitutes one division, commanded by the Major General, subdivided into four brigade districts, each under the command of a brigadier general. Each brigade district contains one regiment of eight companies. Attached to this force is one battery of light artillery, divided into two sections of two guns each, one being stationed at Winfield, the other at Topeka, Kansas. The Governor of the State commands in chief, and has a staff consisting as following: One adjutant general, one quartermaster general, one paymaster general, and one surgeon general, each with the rank of colonel; three aides, with the rank of lieutenant colonel, and one assistant adjutant general, with the rank of major. The major general and brigadier generals are provided by law with appropriate staffs. To this is added a military board, consisting of the major general, the four brigadier generals, and the adjutant general, constituting an advisory board to the commander-in-chief on all matters pertaining to the military interests of the State.

The commissioned officers provide themselves with uniforms and equipments. The non-commissioned officers, musicians, and privates are furnished by the State with a uniform, consisting of blouse, trousers, and cap of like quality and pattern as worn by the army of the United States. The troops are armed with the Springfield rifle, and these, with equipment, Anson Mills cartridge belt, canteen, and haversacks are furnished by the United States upon requisition by the State authorities.

To support this organization, a direct tax is levied, and the revenue thus raised is exclusively devoted to military purposes.

Authority having been granted by the Secretary of War to the State authorities to hold their second annual encampment on the Fort Riley Military Reservation, ground in every respect suitable for a camp was selected, and arrangements were made for concentrating the division at Junction City, Kansas, by 3 P. M., on Monday, September 20, 1886, and marching the same to the camp, which, in compliment to the Lieutenant General of the Army, was named "Camp Phil. Sheridan." This arrangement for arrival, etc., was interfered with by reason of the several railroads leading to the point of concentration failing to furnish the necessary transportation at the time expected. One of the regiments arrived at Junction City about 1 P. M., September 20, and marched directly to the camp. This command was met by the band and cavalry troops of Fort Riley, and received with appropriate honors. At 4 P. M., four companies of another regiment were met by the same United States troops at the reservation limit, duly welcomed, and escorted to the camp with appropriate compliments. The other portion of the Kansas National Guard did not arrive at the encampment until about midnight of the 20th.

The camp was laid out in two lines, each having a front of two regiments, the color lines of the rear regiments being very close to and directly behind the rear line of tents of the two regiments in front. The tents of the brigadier generals were in rear of the several brigades, which, under this organization, contain one regiment each. The tents of the division headquarters were in rear of the center of the main camp. This arrangement was objectionable to a great degree. The several regiments (brigades) were huddled together in a small space of ground, and allowed no special distinction to be made by the men of their own camps. Of necessity, the men of one regiment were mingling with another, and there was continually a roaming through each camp and street, regardless of the rights and comforts of those having special claims within their own regimental lines. It would have been much better to have camped the four regiments in line in column of divisions, or even companies, each regimental camp conforming to tactical instructions. This would have given the colonels complete control of their own companies and grounds, and the men would have felt that there was one special spot to and from which they could have ingress and egress without overrunning the special domain of another regiment. In my judgment, much instruction in reference to camping was lost to the whole command by this faulty arrangement of the encampment.

The command, not arriving on time, did not get fairly settled down until the afternoon of the 21st of September, thus consuming nearly two days of the short time allotted for military exercise.

At 3 p.m., September 21st, the Governor of the State of Kansas arrived and announced his intention of visiting Fort Riley. He, accompanied by Major General Thomas M. Carroll, commanding the Division Kansas National Guard; Colonel A. B. Campbell, Adjutant General; and Major W. D. Ford, A. A. G., came within the limits of the post, and was duly received with all the prescribed honors directed by the Regulations of the Army to be given to governors within their respective States. In addition to these prescribed honors, a dress parade of the troops comprising the Fort Riley garrison was held, agreeably to the wishes of the Governor and other officers of the Kansas National Guard present.

On Wednesday, the 22d, matters had settled in the camp to definite shape, and military exercises were carried on by the several commands, in guard-mounting and company drills in the morning and battalion drills in the afternoon, closing the day with dress parades in each regiment. Considering the limited opportunities, all of these exercises were fairly performed, and the military work of the several organizations, as a whole, was very creditable.

On Thursday, the 23d, the entire command was inspected, as prescribed by tactics.

On Friday, the 24th, the First, Second and Third Regiments broke camp on the military reservation, packed tents and baggage, and transported the same to the railroad, preparatory to leaving for home. These three regiments were early in the morning marched to the Davis county fair grounds, a distance of about five miles from the camp, that an assembled multitude might be shown a grand review, a band contest, and that illusory spectacle, a "sham battle." In my judgment, this day would have been more profitably employed by continuing the military duties so well begun at the encampment. The officers and men had in a measure accustomed themselves to their new surroundings, and exercises of a practical character could have been performed and have inured to the benefit of the entire command. By this time the novelty incident to the collection of so large a body of troops in a camp had somewhat worn off, and the influx of visitors, sight-seers and loafers had in a degree ceased, leaving the officers and men free to instruct themselves in the duties for which they were drawn together. The march from the camp to the fair ground tired the men and unfitted them for satisfactory work of the day, and caused other derangements which were not conducive to good results. I have been informed that four of the companies had nothing to eat from the night previous.

I recommend in future encampments that reviews, drills and unnecessary ceremonies away from the camp be discontinued. I believe the officers of experience connected with the Kansas National Guard were, in general, opposed to the outside display. I recommend more strongly that "sham-battle" performances of this organization be considered things of the past. Such maneuvers are but delusive representations of the intended show. They are of necessity carried on on a small scale and of very short duration, and the benefits are of no practical value. Such should only be participated in by large masses of troops, thoroughly instructed and trained in all practical garrison and theoretical field duties, and carried out according to well-matured plans, which require the most experienced, thoughtful consideration, care and preparation. There are usually in ceremonies of this character as performed by our militia a few accidents incident to the helter-skelter scramble, a dense volume of smoke, much surplusage of noise, and an indiscriminate waste of blank ammunition; and neither officer, soldier nor spectator is any better off in a soldierly respect.

The time (six days) allowed by law for this encampment was too short; only two days were available for solid, soldierly work. I recommend that efforts be made to amend the law so as to allow the troops to have at least ten days in camp—the days of arrival and departure not to be counted in this allotment. This is as little time as the State can expect the troops of its National Guard to gain a benefit commensurate with the cost of bringing them together. It would have been vastly to the interest of the whole organization could the encampment have lasted fully ten days in 1886.

I am much in favor of regimental camps. There can be no question but a camp of a regiment, rightly conducted, offers better opportunities for instruction of the individual soldier than either brigade or division encampments. It takes so much longer time for the novelty of the large camp to wear off. In them much valuable time is lost picnicking with friends and visitors, who always overrun them and interfere more or less with the duties of the men. The regimental camp could with much smaller expense to the State be established a day or two prior to the coming of the first regiment. At the appointed time this command could march in, take the camp, and in a few hours be ready for all the military duty requisite to prove its efficiency in time of need. Its colonel could have complete control, and the commanding officers of regiments and companies be held responsible for the instruction and discipline of their commands. I recommend the regimental camp system for the next two years at least. Other and older States have profited in this respect by the crucial test of trial, and the State of Kansas can lose nothing, and may gain much, by a like experiment.

The guard-mounting in this camp, by all the regiments sending details, and forming what was called a division guard, was a cumbersome and unwieldy affair. This complicated ceremony, with well-taught and disciplined troops, is rarely performed without a hitch or two. In my judgment, regimental guard-mounting would have been more satisfactory and instructive. The most efficient camp guard for a camp of militia would have been that taken from one regiment, and not from details from each. A spirit of friendly rivalry would have been engendered between the officers and men of each, all striving, on the day assigned them, to excel their comrades whom they relieved in military observance of their duties. The guard-mounting held in this encampment was only fairly performed, and the duty by sentinels on post and at the guard tent showed that guard duty has received but little, if any, attention. But few of the sentinels walked their beats in a soldierly manner, or carried their pieces at all times as they should. There were a few notable exceptions to this careless and inattentive manner of performing a very important duty, and I regret that I was not able to single them out by name, that they might be presented to their commanding officer for commendation. There was no regular entrance to the camp; consequently the beats of all the sentinels were crossed and recrossed by outsiders at will, singly, in couples and crowds, at all times of the day and at all places, confusing the sentinels, and rendering their duty, as far as proper instruction was concerned, almost a nullity. The officer of the day and the officer of the guard, duly mounted, on the morning of the 23d of September, left the camp, and were absent several hours, two miles away, during the afternoon of their tour of duty.

The stay of the troops was of such short duration that but little could be done in the matter of correcting individual mistakes.

The men have only one suit of clothing, and this has been in possession, more or less, for more than a year, and is, in some instances, becoming shabby; notwithstanding, some of the careful men presented a neat and clean appearance after spending days in the dusty camp. The careless should be more critically looked after in respect to personal appearance. Generally the fit of the clothing was good, but the personal appearance of many of the men would have been much improved had their faces received the attention of a barber prior to the inspection. Many of the men marred the generally good and soldierly appearance of their companies by wearing collars, (in some cases unclean,) others fancy-colored handkerchiefs, &c., and neglecting to have their shoes properly dressed.

The State does not furnish the men with blankets or bedding, consequently the tents did not present a very tidy appearance. Each soldier providing his own gave the camp as many hues and kinds; and as loose hay only was used for bedding, every gust of wind carried the same over the camp.

It was impossible to keep the regimental and company grounds in a proper state of police. Other duties crowded so one upon the other in the few days that this very important part of the soldier's duty in camp was entirely neglected.

The command had no target practice at the encampment. The commanding officer of Fort Riley offered the use of movable targets for service in the camp and the freedom of the rifle-range of the post, but no time could be spared to be devoted to this exercise.

The food supply was purchased on the basis of the U. S. Army ration, supplemented by a generous supply of potatoes and onions; was issued uncooked to regiments, each company receiving its due proportion, and cooking for themselves. I heard but few complaints in reply to questions asked in reference to company messes.

There is little difference in the quality of the men of the several regiments, unless it be that those of the Fourth exhibited superior physique. Some companies in each were greatly in advance of others in instruction pertaining to the manual of arms and company and battalion drill; but I must say, on many points a general confusion of ideas prevails. Most of the shortcomings of the camp, however, are the direct result of too much attention to the show part of the drill, and too little to the practical work.

I would recommend that the colonels of regiments be authorized by the State to officially visit each of his companies at least once per year. At present he only sees them at the annual encampment.

The medical department was in charge of the Surgeon General. There were present with the First Regiment one surgeon and one assistant surgeon; with the Second, one surgeon and one assistant surgeon; with the Third, one surgeon and one assistant surgeon; no medical officer with the Fourth. All the regiments except the Fourth had hospital stewards. There were complaints that the supplies of medicines and medical stores were so short that such things as opium, quinine, and surgical dressings would run out before the breaking-up of the camp. Only one wall-tent for the dispensary for the entire command. A hospital tent was on hand to put up if necessary. There were no hospital mattresses nor hospital bedding of any kind; no hospital mess chest; no iron bunks, nor bunks of any kind. There should be a hospital tent with each regiment, and with each one-half dozen bunks, mattresses, blankets, and hair pillows. There were no panniers; should be one for each regiment. There was only one field case and two pocket cases (each personal property) in the entire camp; should be a field case and pocket case with each regiment. There were but few bandages, and only one pound of cosmoline, for cerates and ointments, in the camp. Some of the medicines were those left from last year's encampment; the rest were purchased by the Surgeon General at the State's expense, there being no medical purveyor. There was reported vastly more sickness in this camp than there was during last year's encampment; many cases of diarrhea and piles; six cases of cholera morbus on the fourth day. There was no provision of any kind for the treatment of the sick or wounded; no stretchers for moving a wounded man. The medical officers report the camp very poorly equipped, and that there was no provision for a sudden case of amputation or gunshot wounds. The Surgeon General has no authority in appointment of medical officers to regiments. This is done by the colonels, and, as a result, one of the medical officers of a regiment is a homeopathic doctor, and he (the Surgeon General) consequently gave him nothing to do, not being willing to trust him professionally.

All the general officers, the colonels (except one), and some of the other field officers have seen service in the late war, and are able and efficient in their several spheres. The company officers show a willingness to learn. All its officers present in the camp, with one exception, wore the prescribed uniform, and all evinced a prompt and cheerful spirit in the faithful performance of their duties. A kindly feeling noticeably exists between the several organizations drawn from all parts of the State. The officers set a good example, and this had much to do in keeping the men on their good behavior, so that no complaints could be made on the score of discipline. Under the able and efficient command of Major General Carroll, excellent order was preserved during the time of the encampment; and I gladly express my satisfaction with the Kansas National Guard, and trust that it will always be worthy of the confidence and liberal support of the people of Kansas.

The strength of the regiments when paraded for inspection was as follows:

Troops.	Officers.	Men.
First Regiment.....	29	343
Second Regiment.....	29	315
Third Regiment.....	26	321
Fourth Regiment.....	25	367
First Light Battery.....	5	50
Total.....	114	1,396

NOTE.—The above does not include the non-commissioned staff.

The regiments of the Kansas National Guard are proficient in drill in the following order, respectively: First, Second, Third, and Fourth. The companies were found to be proficient in the order following: 1st, Company A, Third Regiment; 2d, Company A, First Regiment; 3d, Company E, First Regiment; 4th, Company G, First Regiment; 5th, Company F, Second Regiment; 6th, Company A, Second Regiment; 7th, Company F, Third Regiment; and 8th, Company F, Fourth Regiment.

Respectfully submitted.

GENERAL ORDERS AND CIRCULARS.

MUSTER-ROLLS.

Owing to the failure of company officers to make returns of enlistments, the following circular was issued :

STATE OF KANSAS, OFFICE OF ADJUTANT GENERAL, }
CIRCULAR LETTER No. 1.] TOPEKA, September 30, 1886.

SIR: The Annual Muster Roll, copies of which were sent you in August, should be made out to include all enlistments, promotions and discharges from reorganization to June 30, 1886. It is intended to be a history of your organization up to the close of the fiscal year, and should be completed at once, so that it may be printed in the coming biennial report of this department, which is now going into the printer's hands. If you have failed to preserve orders affecting your organization, the roll will be completed here.

All resignations and discharges have been granted by special orders, and the number and date of such order should be placed opposite each name affected by such change.

All promotions should be noted, so as to give a complete history up to June 30 1886.

You will account for the soldier in every grade of his service while on your roll. For instance: if he was a private at organization, then corporal, then sergeant, then first sergeant, then second or first lieutenant, or transferred to non-commissioned staff, or commissioned staff, you will see that his name appears in each grade, with date of such appointment or promotion. By this means your roll will be corrected for the first time in the history of your organization, and it will be an easy matter thereafter to keep it in perfect shape. In a military organization, system and discipline are great factors of success, and it is the desire of this department to place the Kansas National Guard on a par with the regular army in that respect, or as near as may be with the limited facilities at our command.

You will please attend to this at once, as it is desired to place the copy in the hands of the State Printer by the 10th of October.

By order of the Commander-in-Chief.

A. B. CAMPBELL, Adjutant General.

ENROLLMENT OF EX-SOLDIERS.

The following circular was issued for the information of county clerks and township trustees :

STATE OF KANSAS, OFFICE OF ADJUTANT GENERAL, }
CIRCULAR LETTER No. 3.] TOPEKA, March 10, 1887.

OFFICE OF ATTORNEY GENERAL, TOPEKA, KAS., Feb. 8, 1887.

Hon. A. B. Campbell, Adjutant General, State of Kansas—DEAR SIR: Your communication respecting the construction of section 3, chapter 109, of the Session Laws of 1883, is received; and in reply, permit me to say, that the language of the statute would indicate that a clerical error had been made, and that instead of the word "in," in the third line of the section, the word "every" should be inserted, so that the section would read: "The first enrollment under this act shall be made at the time of listing property for taxation for the year 1883, and once every two years thereafter," etc. But, upon investigation I find that word was not in the original bill, and that it was not in the legislative mind that a military census should be taken every two years, but rather that a military census should be taken in 1883, and once in two years thereafter, and leaving it to future legislation to provide for a taking of the census after 1885. I am, therefore, clearly of the opinion that section 3 only provides for the taking of the census in 1883 and two years thereafter, which would be in 1885, and does not provide for the taking of a military census any year subsequent to that time.

Yours, most respectfully,

S. B. BRADFORD, Attorney General.

In accordance with the above opinion, no enrollment will be made this year.

A. B. CAMPBELL, Adjutant General.

PAYMENT OF K. N. G. FOR SERVICES, ENCAMPMENTS OF 1885-6.

STATE OF KANSAS, OFFICE OF ADJUTANT GENERAL, }

CIRCULAR LETTER No. 4.]

The Legislature has made provision for the payment of per diem of officers and privates of the Kansas National Guard for the encampment of 1885 and 1886, by a deficiency appropriation, payable out of the general revenue for the year ending June 30th, 1887, and payment will be made for both of said encampments as soon as the pay-rolls are made out for the encampment of 1885, and forwarded to these headquarters. Blanks for this purpose are inclosed herewith, and company commanders will see that these rolls are made out and returned without delay. The pay-rolls must only contain the names of company officers and men who actually attended the encampment of 1885. If any of the men who attended said encampment have been discharged, the rolls must show that fact, and the residence of the discharged man, if the same is known. No allowance will be made for cooks or other extras for said encampment; simply the per-diem pay of officers and men for six days will be allowed. All pay-rolls must be returned to these headquarters by April 1st, at which date payment will begin, by regiments, for both encampments. Those who are behind with their pay-rolls will not be paid until their returns are properly made. Company commanders will be notified of the date upon which each company will be mustered for pay in ample time to call their companies together. Great care and promptness should be used in making out these pay-rolls, so that the work of paying off can be accomplished without delay. There are three blanks sent to each company, and three rolls must be made—one to be retained by the company commander, and two forwarded to these headquarters.

A. B. CAMPBELL, Adjutant General.

As soon as the rolls were ready, the following circular was sent to each company officer, and to each bank through which payment was to be made:

STATE OF KANSAS, OFFICE OF ADJUTANT GENERAL, }
TOPEKA, —, 188 —. }

CIRCULAR LETTER No. 5.]

—, Sir: You will muster your company for pay for the encampments of 1885 and 1886, on the 16th day of April, A. D. 1887. The funds for the payment of this company have been deposited in the — bank of your city, and the cashier of said bank has the pay-rolls of the company for both encampments in his possession, as made out and forwarded by you to these headquarters.

Each member of your company will go to this bank on the day of muster for pay, and after being identified by you, will sign the pay-rolls for himself, and receive his money in person.

Those who attended both encampments will sign both rolls; those who attended only one of the encampments will sign the roll of the encampment attended by them.

If any person desires to draw the pay for an absent member of the company, he must present a written order, signed by the absent member, and must sign the name of the absent member to the roll, by himself as agent, and leave the order at the bank to be returned to these headquarters with the pay-rolls. Members of the company who are absent will be paid from these headquarters when the post-office address of each absent member is ascertained and forwarded. Payment will not be made to any member of the company, where the rolls show that he has deserted with or without uniform.

The deposit will remain at the bank for one week, so that all members of the company residing in the neighborhood and not present on the day of muster, can come in and sign the rolls after muster-day and receive their pay. The cashier of the bank has been duly notified of the date of muster for pay, and it would be well for you to see him, and arrange for the hour of payment, and other details to facilitate the business.

A. B. CAMPBELL, Adjutant General.

The following circular was sent to each bank through which payment was to be made:

CIRCULAR LETTER NO. 6.]      STATE OF KANSAS, OFFICE OF ADJUTANT GENERAL, }
TOPEKA, —, 188—. }

To the — Bank, —, Kansas: Inclosed please find pay-rolls for encampments of 1885 and 1886, for Company —, — Regiment, Kansas National Guard, located at your city. Find, also, check for $— on the Central National Bank. of Topeka. for payment of said rolls.

The Captain, —, will present said company for payment on Saturday, April 16, 1887, and you can arrange with him as to time of day, and other details to facilitate the business. In making payment on these rolls, please observe the following instructions:

1. Some of these men are only on one roll, and some on both; each man must sign the roll or rolls on which his name appears, immediately opposite the amount of his pay, which is my receipt.

2. The captain or other officer in command must identify his men.

3. No other person can sign the roll for an absent member of the company without a written order for the pay, and he may then sign the name of the absent member, by himself as agent, and receive the money and leave the order with you, to be returned with the rolls when my account is closed.

4. Payment will not be made to any member of the company where the rolls show that he has deserted with or without uniform.

5. My account will remain open with you for one week, to pay those of the company who may not be present on pay-day, and who can get in during the week.

On the 25th of April, you will please close the account, and remit the pay-rolls, together with the balance remaining in your hands, to me, retaining your charges for payment.

NOTE.—If either of the rolls sent you have been signed, or signed in part, payment may be made upon the soldier acknowledging the same to be his signature, the bank to use a check-mark to designate payment.

A. B. CAMPBELL, Adjutant General.

ORDNANCE RETURNS.

Owing to the failure of officers to make ordnance returns at the proper times, the following order was issued:

STATE OF KANSAS, ADJUTANT GENERAL'S OFFICE, }

GENERAL ORDER No. 1.]

SECTION 1. Ordnance reports are due at these headquarters at the end of each quarter, viz.: March 31st, June 30th, September 30th, and December 31st, of each year, or within five days thereafter. Reports for the quarter ending June 30th, 1887, have been received at these headquarters from — companies only. Section 57, page 32, Rules and Regulations of the Kansas National Guard, will hereafter be strictly enforced.

SEC. 2. Company commanders will make ordnance reports in triplicate, on blanks furnished for that purpose, forwarding one copy direct to this office, and two copies to the colonel commanding the regiment, one of which the colonel will forward to his brigade commander.

SEC. 3. When any officer in command of a division, brigade, regiment or company desires to leave his proper station to be absent forty-eight hours or longer, he shall at once notify the next in rank to assume command of such division, brigade, regiment or company during his absence. Officers intending to be absent from their commands will obtain leave of absence from the proper officers, or be subject to the provisions of section 29, article VI, page 26, Rules and Regulations.

SEC. 4. Under the provisions of section 1, chapter 47, Session Laws of 1887, approved March 5, 1887, commanders of regiments are charged with the duty of personally inspecting each company of their respective commands, at least once each year. This duty will be performed by the colonel of each regiment, if possible; otherwise he will designate the officer next in rank to perform said duty.

By order of the Commander-in-Chief.

A. B. CAMPBELL, Adjutant General.

CONSTITUTIONAL CENTENNIAL CELEBRATION.

STATE OF KANSAS, ADJUTANT GENERAL'S OFFICE, }
TOPEKA, August 3, 1887. }

GENERAL ORDER No. 2.]

SECTION 1. Permission is hereby granted to any company or organization of the Kansas National Guard to attend the "Constitutional Centennial Celebration," to be held at Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, September 16, 1887. Permission is also granted to any organization of the Kansas National Guard to attend the "International Military Encampment" at Chicago, Illinois, October 1st to 20th, 1887.

SEC. 2. Permission is hereby granted to the regularly organized militia organizations of other departments to pass through this State, fully armed and equipped, going to or returning from either of the places above named.

By order of the Commander-in-Chief.

A. B. CAMPBELL, Adjutant General.

INSPECTION—MUSTER-OUT OF COMPANIES.

STATE OF KANSAS, ADJUTANT GENERAL'S OFFICE, }
TOPEKA, October 1, 1887. }

GENERAL ORDER No. 3.]

SECTION 1. In compliance with the recommendations of S. L. Patriok, Colonel and Inspector of the First Regiment, Kansas National Guard, Company C, located at Columbus, and Company F, located at Fort Scott, are hereby disbanded and mustered out of the service of the State of Kansas, to date September 30, 1887.

SEC. 2. In compliance with the recommendations of H. W. Frost, Adjutant and Inspector of the Third Regiment, Kansas National Guard, approved by J. W. F. Hughes, Colonel commanding, Company B, located at Robinson, and Company C, located at Seneca, are hereby disbanded and mustered out of the service of the State of Kansas, to date September 30, 1887.

SEC. 3. In compliance with the recommendations of Wm. Larzelere, Colonel and Inspector of the Fourth Regiment, Kansas National Guard, Company E, located at Jewell City, and Company F, located at Smith Centre, are hereby disbanded and mustered out of the service of the State of Kansas, to date September 30, 1887.

SEC. 4. Commanders of Companies C and F, First Regiment, B and C, Third Regiment, and E and F, Fourth Regiment, will, upon receipt of this order, prepare muster-out rolls, including therein the names of all members of their respective companies, and forward the same to these headquarters, upon receipt of which HONORABLE DISCHARGES will be issued for all officers and men, except as stated in section five of this order.

SEC. 5. Commanders of the companies named in section four will not be finally discharged until the ordnance stores charged to their accounts are properly accounted for, and transferred to officers designated to receive and receipt for the same. The officers to receive said property will be designated as soon as the new companies are organized and mustered into the service of the State.

SEC. 6. The colonels commanding the First, Third and Fourth Regiments, will, upon receipt of this order, proceed to recruit companies to fill the vacancies in their respective regiments, and notify these headquarters as soon as locations are selected for the companies necessary to fill their regiments under this order.

SEC. 7. Armory rent for the quarter ending September 30, 1887, is due, and will be paid to companies whose ordnance reports are forwarded as required by section 2. G. O. No. 1, dated A. G. O. July 1, 1887, except to the companies named in section 4 of this order, to whom only such portion of armory rent will be paid as is required to pay the actual indebtedness of said companies for rent.

SEC. 8. Commanders of companies are required to keep all ordnance stores in the armory provided for that purpose, and shall not hereafter permit uniforms, arms or equipments to be taken home by the men, except upon ample security being given therefor.

By order of the Commander-in-Chief.

A. B. CAMPBELL, Adjutant General.

NEW UNIFORMS.

Under the provisions of the following order, the Kansas National Guard has been uniformed at Government expense with new regulation uniform. (See appendix.)

STATE OF KANSAS, ADJUTANT GENERAL'S OFFICE, }
TOPEKA, January 19, 1888. }

GENERAL ORDERS No. 1.]

SECTION 1. The following is published for the information and guidance of the Kansas National Guard:

WAR DEPARTMENT, ADJUTANT GENERAL'S OFFICE, }
WASHINGTON, June 9, 1887. }

The following act of Congress, amending section 1661, Revised Statutes, making an annual appropriation to provide arms and equipments for the militia, and the regulations which have been made by the President and the Secretary of War respecting the distribution of the arms and equipments therein provided for, are published for the information of all concerned:

WAR DEPARTMENT, WASHINGTON CITY, June 1, 1887.

Under section 1661, Revised Statutes, as amended by the act of February 11, 1887, Governors of the several States and Territories and the senior general of the District of Columbia Militia, will, after June 30, 1887, make requisitions for arms, ordnance stores, quartermaster's stores, and camp equipage direct to the Secretary of War.

Issues will be made by the Chief of Ordnance and the Quartermaster General, and receipts will be made to those officials by the respective governors.

WM. C. ENDICOTT, Secretary of War.

AN ACT to amend section sixteen hundred and sixty-one of the Revised Statutes, making an annual appropriation to provide arms and equipments for the militia.

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That section sixteen hundred and sixty-one of the Revised Statutes be and the same is hereby amended and reenacted so as to read as follows:

"SECTION 1. That the sum of four hundred thousand dollars is hereby annually appropriated to be paid out of any money in the treasury not otherwise appropriated, for the purpose of providing arms, ordnance stores, quartermaster's stores, and camp equipage for issue to the militia.

"SEC. 2. That said appropriation shall be apportioned among the several States and Territories under the direction of the Secretary of War, according to the number of Senators and Representatives to which each State respectively is entitled in the Congress of the United States, and to the Territories and District of Columbia such proportion and under such regulations as the President may prescribe: Provided, however, That no State shall be entitled to the benefits of the appropriation apportioned to it unless the number of its regularly enlisted, organized and uniformed active militia shall be at least one hundred men for each Senator and Representative to which such State is entitled in the Congress of the United States. And the amount of said appropriation which is thus determined not to be available shall be covered back into the treasury.

"SEC. 3. That the purchase or manufacture of arms, ordnance stores, quartermaster's stores, and camp equipage for the militia under the provisions of this act shall be made under the direction of the Secretary of War, as such arms, ordnance and quartermaster's stores and camp equipage are now manufactured or otherwise provided for the use of the regular army, and they shall be receipted for and shall remain the property of the United States, and be annually accounted for by the governors of the States and Territories, for which purpose the Secretary of War shall prescribe and supply the necessary blanks and make such regulations as he may deem necessary to protect the interests of the United States.

"SEC. 4. That all arms, equipments, ordnance stores, or tents which may become unserviceable or unsuitable, shall be examined by a board of officers of the militia, and its report shall be forwarded by the governor of the State or Territory direct to the Secretary of War, who shall direct what disposition, by sale or otherwise, shall be made of them; and, if sold, the proceeds of such sale shall be covered into the Treasury of the United States."

Received by the President, February 1, 1887.

[NOTE BY THE DEPARTMENT OF STATE.—The foregoing act, having been presented to the President of the United States for his approval and not having been returned by him to the House of Congress in which it originated within the time prescribed by the Constitution of the United States, has become a law without his approval.]

EXECUTIVE MANSION, April 22, 1887.

Regulations for the distribution of arms, ordnance stores, quartermaster's stores, and camp equipage to the Territories and the District of Columbia, prescribed by the President of the United States in conformity with the second section of the act entitled "An act to amend section 1661, Revised Statutes, making an annual appropriation to provide arms and equipments for the militia."

1. Each Territory shall, if included within the provisions of said act, annually receive arms, ordnance stores, quartermaster's stores, and camp equipage equivalent to the quota of a State having the least representation in Congress, and the District of Columbia shall annually receive arms, ordnance stores, quartermaster's stores, and camp equipage not exceeding double the quota of a State having the least representation in Congress.

2. Arms, ordnance stores, quartermaster's stores, and camp equipage shall be issued to the Territories on requisitions of the governors thereof, and to the District of Columbia on requisitions approved by the senior general of the District Militia present for duty. Returns shall be made annually by the senior general of the District Militia in the manner as required by sections 3 and 4 of the act above referred to, in the case of States and Territories.

3. It is forbidden to make issues to States and Territories in excess of the amount to their credit under the provisions of section 1161 [1661], Revised Statutes, as amended by the above act.

4. The regulations established by President Pierce, April 30, 1855, under the act approved March 30, 1855, are hereby revoked.

GROVER CLEVELAND.

REGULATIONS.

1. The appropriation made by section 1661, Revised Statutes, as amended by the act of Congress received by the President February 1, 1887, will be credited to the several States and Territories on the books of the War Department in accordance with the provisions of said act.

2. The Adjutant General of the Army shall annually, on or before July 1st of each year, report to the War Department the number of regularly enlisted, organized, and unformed active militia in each State and Territory, and this report will be the basis of the action to be taken, under the provisions of section 2 of said act, for the ensuing year.

3. Requisitions for any or all of the public property provided for in this act will be made by the governors of the several States and Territories on the War Department.

4. When a requisition is received at the War Department, the Ordnance Department and the Quartermaster's Department will be required to give the money value of the stores called for, and the War Department will determine and order which of said stores, number and character, shall be issued, and will so advise the Chief of Ordnance and Quartermaster General, and supply these bureaus with the money covering the issue.

5. All the public property issued under the provisions of this act shall be accounted for under the same regulations which now govern the accountability for public property in the Army, and the Chief of Ordnance and the Quartermaster General will furnish the Governors of the several States and Territories the necessary blank forms for making the required returns of the public property issued under the provisions of said act, and said annual returns shall be made on the 31st of December of each year, and shall be sent to the War Department for examination and settlement.

6. The Chief of Ordnance and the Quartermaster General will issue the necessary instructions for the safe-keeping, preservation, and accountability of all public property issued.

7. The examination of the unserviceable or unsuitable public property provided for in section 4 of said act shall be made at least annually, and the proceedings of the board of officers of the militia will show in detail, opposite each article on the inspection report, in what respect the property is unserviceable or unsuitable, and will also indicate in each case the disposition recommended by the board of inspection. And in the case of any public property rendered unserviceable through causes other than the ordinary incidents of service, the board will investigate and report the causes, and recommend to the Secretary of War the necessary action as to personal responsibility for the damages in each case.

WM. C. ENDICOTT, Secretary of War.

By order of the Secretary of War.

R. C. DRUM, Adjutant General.

SEC. 2. Under the provisions of the above law and the rules and regulations prescribed by the Secretary of War, all ordnance and quartermaster's stores are subject to requisition by the States for use of the regularly organized militia.

SEC. 3. Officers of companies will make requisition (upon blanks furnished for that purpose) upon this office for such uniforms as may be actually required to replace those worn out or destroyed, or to uniform recruits or newly-organized companies.

SEC. 4. Newly-organized companies will be first supplied, and then the old companies will be provided for as fast as the uniforms can be obtained.

SEC. 5. The following table of sizes of blouses, trousers and caps is published for the information and guidance of all concerned, and the several articles required must be ordered by number as indicated in column of "sizes," and the greatest care should be exercised in making measurements, as misfits cannot be exchanged. Officers will keep copies of requisitions in order to properly issue the uniforms when received.

GENERAL ORDER No. 2.]

SECTION 1. Under the provisions of the act of Congress, amending section 1661, Revised Statutes United States, which became a law February 11, 1887, all quartermaster's stores are subject to requisition by States having the required properly organized militia force. Under the provisions of said law, and the rules and regulations as promulgated in G. O. No. 1, dated A. G. O., January 19, 1888, it is desired to re-uniform the Kansas National Guard throughout.

SEC. 2. Commanders of companies who have not already done so, will immediately make requisition upon this office for uniforms for their entire command, and file the same on or before the 20th day of March, 1888. These requisitions will be made upon blanks already forwarded to commanders for that purpose.

SEC. 3. Company C, Second Regiment, at Winfield is hereby disbanded, except Lieutenant Connor and Colling, who are retained, and directed to reorganize a company within sixty days from this date and present the same for muster.

SEC. 4. Company A, Third Regiment, at Topeka, and Section B, First Artillery, at Topeka, are hereby disbanded, and allowed sixty days from this date in which to reorganize and present themselves for muster.

SEC. 5. Company C, First Regiment, at Columbus, and Company B, Third Regiment, at Robinson, having been disbanded by G. O. No. 3, 1887, the commanding officers of the First and Third Regiments will proceed without delay to fill the vacancies thus occasioned, and make report to these headquarters within thirty days from this date.

SEC. 6. Immediately upon receipt of these orders, company commanders will call their companies to assemble at the usual place of muster, and proceed to measure their men for new uniforms.

By order of the Commander-in-Chief.

TOPEKA, March 9, 1888.

To the Officers and Members of the Kansas National Guard: At a regular meeting of the State Military Board, at headquarters, Thursday, March 8th, 1888, it was unanimously agreed to procure new regulation uniforms from the Quartermaster General of the U. S. Army, for the entire force. The time in which to make this requisition so as to procure the uniforms this year, is very short, and the 20th of this month is fixed as the latest date upon which requisitions can be received. The requisition of the State must be filed with the Quartermaster General of the U. S. Army, before the close of this month. Therefore you will see the importance of prompt action. The blanks necessary for this purpose were sent you with G. O. No. 1, in January. In making measurements for uniforms under the Government standard, it is customary to ascertain the size of cap, blouse, and trousers, the same as if you were going to a clothing store to purchase ready-made clothing, etc.

Where the sizes mentioned will not answer, the next nearest larger size should be taken. The requisition should state the number of men requiring blouses, size 1. size 2, etc., and in trousers and caps, the same, and should include all enlisted men.

At the top of the statement show the number of sergeants and corporals, as chevrons and stripes come separate.

By order of the Commander-in-Chief.

A. B. CAMPBELL, Adjutant General.

STATE OF KANSAS, ADJUTANT GENERAL'S OFFICE, }
TOPEKA, June 5, 1888.

GENERAL ORDER No. 3.]

SECTION 1. Immediately upon receipt of these orders, commanders of companies will report to these headquarters the dimensions of rooms used as armories, stating whether basement, first, second, or third floor is used as such, and what the rooms above or below are used for. The report will also state whether the armory is used exclusively by the National Guard or jointly with other societies.

Sec. 2. Companies reduced below forty men, exclusive of commissioned officers, will at once be recruited to the minimum required by law, or be disbanded.

Sec. 3. Section A, First Light Artillery, at Winfield, is hereby disbanded, and will be mustered out to date from June 5, 1888. Brigadier General Murray Myers is charged with the duty of organizing and mustering a section of artillery of not less than twenty-two nor more than thirty-two officers and men, within sixty days from this date.

By order of the Commander-in-Chief.

SHERMAN COUNTY-SEAT TROUBLE.

The following telegrams were sent by the Governor to General Adam Dixon:

TOPEKA, KANSAS, January 23, 1888.

To General Adam Dixon: Proceed by first train to Beloit, where you will receive orders sent you in care of Captain Frank McGrath. I want you to go to Sherman county with Captain McGrath to arrange affairs there; you may have to be absent ten days or two weeks. Answer.

JOHN A. MARTIN.

FEBRUARY 8, 1888.—General Adam Dixon, Wallace, Kansas: Stay in Sherman county until I advise you of the decision of the Supreme Court in the mandamus case now pending. The presence of yourself and McGrath has been beneficial. Your course has been wise, and I desire you to remain until other orders.

JOHN A. MARTIN.

REPORT OF BRIGADIER GENERAL ADAM DIXON, IN RELATION TO THE SHERMAN COUNTY-SEAT WAR.

EUSTIS, SHERMAN COUNTY, KAS., February 20, 1888.

Thomas M. Carroll, Major General Commanding Division K. N. G., Paola, Kas.—
DEAR SIR: By reason of the complex condition of the Sherman county-seat war, and the firm belief that peace and obedience to the law could be enforced and maintained without calling out the National Guard, I reported direct and fully to his Excellency the Governor and Commander-in-Chief, omitting a duplicate copy to division headquarters, and now have the honor to submit the following condensed report for your information:

In obedience to orders by telegram from the Commander-in-Chief, January 23, 1888, I proceeded by first train to Beloit, where I found instructions from his Excellency John A. Martin, awaiting my arrival. Accompanied by Captain McGrath, I boarded the first train, reaching Wallace about 2 A. M., January 26. Was again on the road at early dawn for Eustis, the county seat of Sherman county, some forty miles across the country. On reaching Eustis, we found the approaches to the town protected by rifle pits, and the people well armed and ready to defend themselves. We at once called the citizens together, talked plainly to them, and demanded that all warlike demonstrations should cease; that we had come by the authority of the State of Kansas, to enforce obedience to the laws and give them protection. Our orders and wishes were promptly complied with. We at once dispatched a messenger in search of and ordering the return of the county attorney, who had sought safety in flight. We then attended to the wants of Goodland, the rival county seat, one and one-half miles to the west and south. Here we found strong breastworks of stone, timber, and sand; the men well armed with Winchester guns, willing and ready at a moment's notice to kill or be killed; but submitted to our orders without a murmur. I have seldom seen so much determined frenzy among men who ordinarily mean to respect the majesty of the law. It was self-evident to my mind that a delay to us of a few hours would have precipitated bloodshed.

The causes leading to this lawless condition of affairs are briefly these: Dishonest town companies control both Eustis and Goodland—each wants the county seat by hook or crook. After the general election, held November 8, 1887, Eustis, through the county commissioners, pronounced the vote for the new commissioners fraudulent, and refused to count the same, even after the Attorney General had instructed them how to count. Then again, the officers-elect, who had been properly qualified, were flatly denied their official position.

A few days after this insurrection, an armed mob from Goodland, in defiance of law and good order, invaded Eustis and carried therefrom the county records, which are now kept at Goodland under a strong guard. With regard to the elections held, after the most searching investigation I found that the general election, and also the election for county seat held November 22, 1887, was a good average of such elections in new counties, and that the officers-elect received an honest majority, as did Goodland also for county seat. We have worked hard to bring about an amicable settlement of the controversy, which cannot be accomplished. However, the effort made for adjustment has brought about that better feeling that each faction now thinks it wise to quietly await the action of the courts.

The existing condition of things will be hard to bear; both factions are much to blame, and each will find that "the way of the transgressor is hard."

Trade is at a standstill, no crops to market, taxes high, money scarce, little work for the mechanic and laborer, while the land office in Oberlin refuses to give claimants their final land proofs for the reason that the records are not at the county seat, thus making it impossible for the poor farmer to obtain money, which he so much needs.

In compliance with instructions from the Commander-in-Chief, I leave for home at once. Captain McGrath left on Friday last.

With entire and high regard, I am, General, very respectfully your obedient servant,

ADAM DIXON, Brigadier General,
Commanding Third Brigade K. N. G.

STEVENS COUNTY-SEAT TROUBLE.

The following is the report of Brigadier General Murray Myers, in relation to the first trouble in Stevens county:

HEADQUARTERS SECOND BRIGADE K. N. G.,
WICHITA, KANSAS, June 27, 1888.

To His Excellency John A. Martin, Governor, and Commander-in-Chief K. N. G., Topeka, Kansas—SIR: I have the honor to make the following report. On the evening of June 6, 1888, I received the following telegram:

TOPEKA, KANSAS, June 6, 1888.

General Murray Myers, Wichita, Kansas—DEAR SIR: The Sheriff of Stevens county telegraphs me that he has been driven out of the county seat, and that his deputy was fired upon and driven out of the town by men armed with Winchester rifles. He wants me to send a company of militia there, and states that an armed conflict is imminent. I suspect that this row is a county-seat quarrel, in which the sheriff is a partisan of one faction. Will you please go at once to Stevens county, and ascertain what the facts are. I shall not order any militia, unless you, after investigation, report that it is necessary. You can take any one of your staff officers with you. See both parties to the contest; appeal to the people to preserve the peace, and say to all, that any writs legally issued must be respected. If you find that the sheriff is simply acting as a partisan of one faction, advise him that, as an officer, it is his sworn duty to preserve the peace, and not to attempt to do anything that will foment strife. Say to him, also, that I will not furnish him with a military force to be used as a posse in a factional quarrel. If you deem it absolutely necessary, on your arrival there, to bring in a military company, you can order out the one nearest the scene. Probably the company at Larned is nearest. Answer if you can go at once.

JOHN A. MARTIN.

I wired your Excellency the following reply:

WICHITA, KANSAS, June 6, 1888.

Governor John A. Martin—DEAR SIR: I will take the first train for Stevens county.

MURRAY MYERS.

Making hasty preparations, and taking with me Lieut. Howard M. Davis, aide-de-camp, I started on the first train on the Wichita & Western Railroad for Pratt, thence to Liberal, thence forty miles by stage to Hugoton, the county seat of Stevens county. While en route, eighteen miles out from Liberal, we were met by Sheriff Cross and his deputy, who were on the lookout for us, and told us that Hugoton was in the hands of an armed mob, and was guarded and controlled by a force of not less than two hundred men; and in his opinion it was unsafe for anyone to approach the town; urged us to go with him to Woodsdale, eight miles north, where a like force were awaiting our arrival. I preferred to go on to Hugoton, leaving the Sheriff and his deputy at a well by the roadside. We had proceeded perhaps one half of a mile when we discovered, far in advance, about twenty horsemen, riding down upon us at full run. I at once took them for Hugoton men, and drove on to meet them. At about the same time the Sheriff also discovered them, and I presume took in the situation about as I did, for he immediately took another direction, and was soon lost to view behind a range of sand-hills. As the horsemen came up they divided—those in advance passing to our rear; then, coming to a halt, demanded who we were. I answered by asking who they were, where from, and what was the meaning of this war-like demonstration. About this time one of the party recognized me, when I called him to me, and was told that they were from Woodsdale; that they were on the lookout for some arms and ammunition that were expected for the Hugoton faction, and that they had suspected that they were being transported in that hack, hence the demonstration; that they were glad I had come; that the excitement was intense, and there would certainly be bloodshed. We had not slackened our gait during this talk; and as it was getting dark, we bade them good-night, and saw them no more. About midnight we drove into Hugoton, and were met by armed pickets and taken into town, where I sent you the following telegram:

HUGOTON, KANSAS, June 9, 1888.

Governor John A. Martin: Upon the arrival of Lieutenant Davis and myself last night at midnight, we were met by pickets armed with Winchesters. The entire male population is under arms. The same state of affairs exists at Woodsdale, eight miles north. Primary cause, railway bond election; immediate cause, resisting arrests. Will report further. Liberal is the nearest telegraph station, forty miles away.

MURRAY MYERS, Brigadier General.

The next morning we met a majority of the citizens of Hugoton, who treated us with due respect and hospitality, and explained the situation from their standpoint: all of which I submitted to your Excellency on my return.

The same evening we proceeded to Woodsdale, eight miles north, where we received a cordial welcome and friendly entertainment. As we had done at Hugoton, we did also at Woodsdale: met with the citizens, talked over the situation, and received from them a statement as they saw it; all of which I submitted to your Excellency on June 12, 1888.

I then estimated that there were over four hundred men of both factions of Stevens county under arms, and the situation, as I found it, very bad indeed. The contests for the last two years between the two factions have been so bitter that it has resulted in the organization of two armed mobs of no small dimensions, in open warfare; first on the organization of the county and county-seat fight, and now on the canvassing of the vote cast on June 2d, on a proposition to issue railroad bonds in the sum of $110,000 to what is known as the Wichita, Trinidad & Colorado Railroad Company.

After a thorough and conservative investigation, it was my opinion that should the Board of County Commissioners attempt to canvass said vote without protection, there would be bloodshed, and I wired you as follows:

HUGOTON, June 11, 1888.

*Governor John A. Martin—*DEAR SIR: Excitement continues. Board of County Commissioners afraid to canvass votes on railroad bond election. Sheriff identified with one faction. If a military force is called in, it will take two companies—Larned and Wichita. I may conclude to go to Topeka.

Respectfully,

MURRAY MYERS.

On the 11th I proceeded to Liberal, and thence to Topeka, where on the 12th, I reported to your Excellency in person, and returned to Wichita, finding there awaiting me the following telegram:

TOPEKA, KANSAS, June 13, 1888.

General Murray Myers, Wichita, Kansas: Since you left here, parties from Stevens county have arrived who intend to apply to the Supreme Court for a writ of peremptory mandamus, to compel the Commissioners to canvass the vote. The application for the writ will be made to-morrow morning. I shall not, therefore, give any orders concerning a military force until the court acts on this application. All proceedings may be made more easy by the action.

JOHN A. MARTIN.

On June 19th the following telegram was received at my headquarters at Wichita, and immediately forwarded to me at Chicago:

TOPEKA, June 19, 1888.

DEAR SIR: "Chicago, 18th—James Smith, Executive Officer—Send orders to General Myers to take two companies of National Guard to Stevens county, and see that officers are protected in the discharge of their duty. Direct him to use his discretion about taking more companies.—JOHN A. MARTIN."

This will be construed and acted on in connection with the other order inclosed.

Very respectfully,

JAMES SMITH.

After consulting with your Excellency at your rooms at the Palmer House in Chicago, and receiving further instructions, I went to the train and started immediately on my return.

On my arrival at Topeka, I was handed the following order:

TOPEKA, June 18, 1888.

General Murray Myers, Commanding Second Brigade K. N. G.—DEAR SIR: The report made by you concerning the condition of affairs in Stevens county, and other facts made public since, satisfies me that there is imminent danger of a serious breach of the peace in that county. You are therefore authorized and directed to order into the service of the State two companies of the Second Regiment, Kansas National Guard, and proceed with them to Stevens county.

On your arrival there you will direct the companies under your command to take post at such point or points as will, in your judgment, enable them to most effectively discharge their duties as conservators of the peace.

It is evident from your report, and the documents you submitted to me, that the civil officers of Stevens county are, generally, the partisans of either one or the other of the hostile and disturbing factions, whose lawless conduct threatens the peace of the people. You will not, therefore, be subject to the orders or directions of such officers, unless, in your judgment, they are proceeding in exact conformity with law, and are interrupted, or interfered with, in the discharge of their legal official duties. In such event, you will afford them all necessary and proper protection.

As I am informed, and believe, the existing troubles in Stevens county grow out of a controversy concerning the canvass of the election returns of an election recently held on a proposition to vote aid to a certain railroad. The Attorney General has transmitted to me, and I inclose herewith, an opinion concerning the powers and duties of the County Commissioners in making such canvass. You will deliver this opinion to the County Commissioners, and say to them that, in my judgment, they should be governed by the directions therein contained.

The sheriff of the county, in the service of writs or processes, or making arrests, should take cognizance of the fact that in local and partisan strifes, it frequently happens that officers are prejudiced in issuing papers by local sentiment; and in order that no citizen may be arrested or for a moment deprived of his liberty, except by due and legal process of law, the sheriff should consult the county attorney, who is his legal adviser, as to his duty. If the county attorney is in doubt, or if his prejudices are so strong as to give rise to doubt as to the legality of his advice, an appeal should be made to the Attorney General, and while waiting his decision the parties charged with crime may be held under guard, and under the protection of the military forces, until the Attorney General has given an opinion.

The purpose to be subserved in directing the presence of a military force in Stevens county, is to preserve the public peace, protect life and property, and aid in the enforcement of the law. You will, as far as possible or prudent, act in conjunction with, and in subordination to, the civil authorities of the county of Stevens, but in the execution of any order of the civil authorities, or in judging of its necessity, you will be expected to exercise a wise discretion, using the utmost prudence and forbearance in dealing with the contending factions, and seeking to prevent any conflict between them.

If you find it necessary to disarm any turbulent or lawless persons, or those who are fomenting strife and bloodshed, do so.

Enjoin upon all the officers and men of your command the necessity of sobriety, prudence, forbearance and good nature in their conduct while en route to or from Stevens county, and during their stay there.

Report to me as frequently as possible.

If the services of additional companies are necessary to preserve the peace, order them out.

The Adjutant General will make all arrangements for furnishing the necessary transportation and subsistence for the troops of your command. Yours very truly,

JOHN A. MARTIN.

Also:

WICHITA, KANSAS, June 20, 1888.

General Murray Myers: Two companies at Hutchinson en route.

L. N. WOODCOCK.

ON TRAIN.—Colonel A. B. Campbell, Liberal, Kansas: Hold troops until my arrival.

MURRAY MYERS.

The troops had left Liberal before my dispatch arrived, and Colonel Campbell forwarded it by special messenger. I arrived at Liberal at 3 o'clock in the afternoon of June 22, and was met by Adjutant General Campbell, who had made all necessary arrangements for the transportation of the troops.

Leaving Colonel Campbell at Liberal, I put out for Hugoton, a distance of forty miles, arriving just at sundown.

Upon my arrival at camp I found everything in perfect order, camp nicely arranged, and pickets as advantageously posted as could be desired, and I immediately issued the following order:

GENERAL ORDER NO. 3.]

IN CAMP AT HUGOTON, KANSAS, June 22, 1888.

Under orders from Governor John A. Martin, Commander-in-Chief Kansas National Guard, I hereby assume command of the forces in the field, believing you will under all circumstances conduct yourselves with soldierly dignity, and discharge your duties with promptitude.

I am respectfully,

MURRAY MYERS, Brigadier General Commanding.

I was then informed that the Board of County Commissioners had agreed to proceed at two o'clock p.m. the next day to canvass the vote of June 2d, and to exclude all persons from the room, provided they were protected by the military. On the morning of the 23d, after looking the situation over, and seeing several scouting parties going and coming, and other warlike demonstrations, I became satisfied that it would be necessary to disarm the entire strength of both factions; accordingly I issued the following order:

HEADQUARTERS SECOND BRIGADE, KANSAS NATIONAL GUARD, June 23, 1888.

PROCLAMATION.

To all whom it may concern: I am here under orders from Governor John A. Martin with a military force, for the purpose of protecting life and property, and particularly your Board of County Commissioners while canvassing the vote of the railroad bond election which was held on the 2d day of June, 1888.

We take no issue with either faction, but are here solely as conservators of the peace. Now you are each and every one commanded to disarm, and turn over to this command all firearms in your possession. Any citizen found inside our picket line with arms in his possession after ten o'clock A. M. to-day will be immediately arrested and placed under guard.

MURRAY MYERS, Brigadier General Commanding.

The Board of County Commissioners having agreed to exclude all persons from their office during the canvass, and the excitement not having subsided, but threats and indications of trouble still existing, I dispatched Lieutenants Davis and Metcalf with a mounted escort to Woodsdale to notify the parties that did the shooting recently, that their presence was not desired on that day; and also sent a communication to Hon. S. N. Wood with instructions to the officers to explain to him the situation. The letter was as follows:

HUGOTON, KANSAS, June 23, 1888.

Hon. Samuel Wood, Mayor of Woodsdale—DEAR SIR: It is expected that the Board of County Commissioners will proceed to canvass the vote of June 2d to-day, at two o'clock P. M., according to instructions from Attorney General Bradford.

While we are here with a military force to command the peace, we take no issue with either side, and will not furnish especial protection to any particular individual to enable him to carry out any personal or factional quarrel.

It appears to me that it is as unwise for you, Garrond, or Short, to be present during the canvass, as it was to place the warrant for Robinson's arrest in the hands of Short.

Respectfully yours,

MURRAY MYERS.

The force in camp consisted of Captain John A. Doran, and Lieutenant Howard M. Davis of my staff, and Colonel L. N. Woodcock, of the Second Regiment, commanding battalion; Company A, of Wichita, Captain W. A. Richey, and Lieutenants Willis Metcalf and J. R. Stoddy; Company H, of Sterling, Captain Jake Kline, and Lieutenants W. H. Hadlock and Thomas Heeter, Second Regiment K. N. G.

At noon on the 23d I caused the troops to be posted in the most advantageous position to keep the peace and protect the Board of County Commissioners during their deliberations. Prior to beginning the canvass, the Hugoton people had delivered up their arms; and as fast as the Woodsdale people approached our pickets they were also disarmed. Quite a large number, when informed by our pickets that they must give up their arms before entering our lines, preferred to turn back rather than enter Hugoton unarmed.

The canvass proceeded quietly, with no one else present except myself or some officer detailed for that purpose. At the close, Mr. Kilgore moved to exclude Center Cleveland precinct, and Mr. Kirby seconded the motion. Mr. Chamberlain, the chairman, refused to entertain the motion. The Clerk was then asked to call the roll, and refused to do so. Thereupon Mr. Kirby put the motion — Kilgore and Kirby voting to exclude the precinct, Mr. Chamberlain refusing to vote. On motion to adjourn, Kirby and Kilgore voted yea; Chamberlain voted no.

At the request of Mr. Kilgore, I furnished him an escort beyond the sand-hills. That same evening several scouting parties were reported maneuvering between the two towns. At two o'clock on the morning of the 24th June, the troops broke camp and arrived in Liberal about noon, where Adjutant General Campbell had a good dinner prepared for the troops. The same evening, at nine o'clock, we arrived at Hutchinson, and found two special trains in waiting to convey the troops to their homes, where all arrived at their armories without an accident.

It gratifies me to speak in the highest terms of the efficiency of Colonel Campbell on this occasion, and in fact the greatest praise is due each and every officer and soldier of this command for gentlemanly deportment and prompt obedience of orders; for the conduct of each and every man was that of a soldier in every sense of the word.

The campaign closed with the following order:

SPECIAL ORDER No. 5.] HEADQUARTERS SECOND BRIGADE KANSAS NATIONAL GUARD, }
WICHITA, June 27, 1888. }

OFFICERS AND SOLDIERS: I desire to congratulate you on the successful termination of the late campaign. While it is doubtful whether the factional quarrel, known as "The Stevens County War," is settled, yet you have accomplished the purpose for which you were called to the field: that of protecting the Board of County Commissioners in canvassing the vote on the railroad bond election. While traveling night and day, on little more than one-third rations, no mutterings of discontent were heard, and the promptness and alacrity with which you obeyed all orders and performed your whole duty deserves the commendation of every good citizen. And should any emergency again arise, I know you will prove yourselves equal to it, and respond in a true, patriotic, and soldierly spirit, and that you will, under all circumstances, while in active service, conduct yourselves with that manliness which becomes a soldier.

I feel grateful to every officer and soldier in the command for their uniformly kind treatment and courtesy, and that untiring devotion to duty which made it possible to maintain the law and avoid bloodshed.

MURRAY MYERS, Brigadier General Commanding.

Governor, I have the honor to be, most respectfully, your obedient servant,

MURRAY MYERS, Brigadier General K. N. G.

EXHIBIT K.

SHOWING THE NUMBER OF UNIFORMS ISSUED TO THE STATE BY THE GOVERNMENT UNDER THE PROVISIONS OF THE ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY, 1867.

- (1,695) One thousand six hundred and ninety-five forage caps.
 (1,692) One thousand six hundred and ninety-two blouses.
 (1,692) One thousand six hundred and ninety-two pairs trousers.
 (3) Three pairs gold-lace chevrons for sergeant major.
 (1) One pair gold-lace chevrons for principal musician.
 (14) Fourteen pairs cloth chevrons for non-commissioned staff.
 (3) Three pairs cloth chevrons for principal musicians.
 (4) Four pairs cloth chevrons for regimental color sergeants.
 (31) Thirty-one pairs cloth chevrons for first sergeants.
 (126) One hundred and twenty-five pairs cloth chevrons for sergeants.
 (188) One hundred and eighty-eight pairs cloth chevrons for corporals.
 (8) Eight pairs cloth stripes for non-commissioned staff.
 (164) One hundred and sixty-four cloth stripes for sergeants.
 (348) Three hundred and forty-eight pairs cloth stripes for corporals.
 (148) One hundred and forty-three pairs cloth stripes for musicians.

The above issues do not quite complete the uniforming of the Guard; one hundred and sixty-four complete uniforms being yet required for that purpose. There will also be required 1,728 cross-guns for the infantry, sixty cross-cannon for the artillery, and sixty-eight designations for musicians. When these are obtained, the uniforming of the Guard will have been completed for this year.

Under the present law, uniforms can be obtained at any time, and without expense to the State, except for transportation and drayage to and from the arsenal and from the arsenal to company stations.

EXPENSES OF EXPEDITIONS TO STEVENS COUNTY.

STATE OF KANSAS, ADJUTANT GENERAL'S OFFICE, }

GENERAL ORDER No. 5.]

SECTION 1. The funds to the credit of the Governor "for the payment of transportation, subsistence, and the per diem of officers and men of the Kansas National Guard when called into active service," having been exhausted in the purchase of subsistence and wagon transportation for the first and second expeditions to Stevens county, the amounts due the railroad companies for transportation, and the per diem pay of the officers and men for services, and the sums expended by officers for drayage, etc., cannot be paid until provision is made therefor by the Legislature.

SEC. 2. The State Military Board will audit all claims for transportation, drayage, and pay of officers and men, at its regular meeting to be held at Topeka, on the 4th day of December, 1888.

SEC. 3. The report of the General commanding, and the Adjutant General, together with all other matter in detail, pertaining to the expedition, will be embodied in a supplemental report of the Adjutant General, and presented to the Legislature on the first day of its session, Tuesday, January 8th, 1889.

SEC. 4. Officers and others who have not yet presented their bills, and commanders of companies who have not filed their pay-rolls, will do so at once upon receipt of these orders, that they may be properly filed and scheduled.

By order of the Commander-in-Chief.

A. B. CAMPBELL, Adjutant General,

ABSTRACT OF SUBSISTENCE, TRANSPORTATION, ETC.

EXHIBIT C.

EXHIBIT D.

*Allowed and paid out of militia fund to Captain D. A. King. † Not paid.

It will be seen by the above tables that the total expense of the second expedition to Stevens county was $10,964.02. Of that sum there has been paid the sum of $2,307.67, leaving an unpaid balance of $8,656.35 to be appropriated by the Legislature to pay for active service already rendered. Of this amount, there is due for railroad transportation $2,795.85. Both the Rock Island Railroad and the A. T. & S. F. R. R. gave the State one-half fare for this expedition, and the above amounts are due them upon that basis. The balance, $5,861, is due to the officers and men of the Second Regiment and Section B, First Light Artillery K. N. G. This appropriation should be made at once and to take effect immediately, so that these bills can be paid. They are debts due from the State for active service, and should not be permitted to stand unpaid a moment longer than is absolutely necessary; and future provision for active service ought to be large enough to cover any contingencies which may arise.

A. B. CAMPBELL, Adjutant General.

THE STEVENS COUNTY TROUBLE.

---

Following is the report of Hon. S. B. Bradford, Attorney General, who was requested by the Governor to accompany General Murray Myers to investigate the condition of affairs in Stevens county:

TOPEKA, August 3, 1888.

His Excellency Gov. John A. Martin, Topeka, Kas.—DEAR SIR: Pursuant to your request for me to join Brig. Gen. Murray Myers and one of his staff officers in an investigation of the affairs in Stevens county, I left Topeka on Saturday for the scene of the conflict. I received a telegram from Gen. Myers at Hutchinson saying that he would leave Wichita at 7:05 o'clock Saturday evening, which would bring him to Hutchinson too late to take the evening train on the Rock Island going west. I stopped over at Pratt Center, and on Sunday morning joined Gen. Myers and Capt. Wallace. We reached Liberal, in Seward county, at 2 o'clock P. M. Sunday. We got our dinner, and then procured a rig and started for Hugoton between 3 and 4 o'clock. We arrived at Hugoton at 9 o'clock P. M. Sunday. As we approached the town we were halted. We answered the challenge, informed the guard who we were, and on alighting from the carriage ascertained that the party who had made the challenge was the County Attorney, John Hall. He gave his rifle to another party and helped us to take our baggage to the hotel, apologizing as we went for his part in the controversy. As we went up the main street of the town every man we met was heavily armed with one or two revolvers, and sometimes a Winchester and revolvers. Soon after we arrived at the hotel, the long roll was sounded, and we were surrounded by fifty or one hundred armed men, every one eager to learn what was to be done, all clamoring for peace and the presence of the militia. I proceeded as fast as I could to interrogate principal men of the town, for the purpose of finding out what the feeling was and what was best to be done. I interviewed the two Cooks, Sam Robinson, and various other persons. The Cooks are very determined. They insist that the Woodsdale fellows are at fault. They admit that they were with the party who did the shooting; they say that the shooting was done in self-defense; that they were fired upon. This statement is agreed to by all of the parties who were with the Hugoton party who did the shooting. While there was an apparent unanimity of feeling when they were together talking on the subject, I discovered that there was a disposition on the part of two individuals, at least, to want to talk with me alone. I gave them an opportunity so to do, and one of them, who is quite a prominent individual, a man of mature years, and, I would judge, a very cool and deliberate man, stated that it was his judgment, after hearing the stories of the various persons on their return, that this man Sam Robinson did the shooting; that he shot all of the men except one, and that the men were disarmed before they were shot. He said they all lamented the condition of affairs, and they were anxious for a speedy settlement.

We learned all we cared to hear from the Hugoton people by Monday noon. After we got our dinners on Monday, and at about the hour of 2 o'clock we started for Woodsdale, about eight miles away. As we approached Woodsdale, we discovered a man in a wind-mill, who was evidently watching us with a field glass. As we entered the town we were confronted with the presence of rifles, revolvers, and various kinds of shooting-irons. Every man we saw was carrying some kind of a weapon. We went first to the bank of Woodsdale for the purpose of interviewing the cashier of the bank, Mr. F. A. Butterfield. Mr. Butterfield is a very genteel-appearing man, a man of mature years, and to all appearances an educated gentleman. He gave me an account of the affair, particularly that portion of it participated in by himself, which was the recovery of the bodies of the four men killed. The substance of his statement I will give farther on. I took the statement of others, including the physician who made an examination of the bodies at the inquest after they had been brought back to Woodsdale for burial. The last person interviewed at Woodsdale was the young man Tonney, who was shot and left upon the field supposed to be dead, but who afterwards saddled his horse and rode fifteen miles to Vorhees, where he was assisted.

I deem it proper at this time to commence a narration of the circumstances prior to this conflict, that you may thoroughly understand the situation. Sometime about the last of May, during a heated discussion at Vorhees on the subject of railroad bonds, a row occurred between the supporters of Woodsdale and the supporters of Hugoton. Sam Robinson, who is the City Marshal of Hugoton, and the constable of Hugoton township, flourished his revolver and commanded peace and order on the night of the occurrence at Vorhees, and as the Under-Sheriff of the county approached him he struck the Under-Sheriff with his revolver. The Under-Sheriff, of course, was the senior officer, being a county officer, and it was his duty, and not the duty of Sam Robinson, to command the peace, as Robinson was then out of his township and was not a peace officer of Vorhees township. Within a day or two after this occurrence, a warrant was issued by a justice of the peace at Woodsdale, and directed to Ed. Short, City Marshal of Woodsdale, and also constable of Woodsdale township, for service. Within a very few days, I do not know just exactly how many, Ed. Short proceeded to Hugoton for the purpose of arresting Sam Robinson. A shooting scrape took place between Robinson and Short at that time, and the friends of both towns immediately flew to arms. It was thought that an encounter would ensue, and there would be great loss of life, and the militia under the command of General Murray Myers were ordered to the scene.

The Commissioners proceeded to canvass the returns under the direction of the Supreme Court, and it was supposed that all was quiet. It appears, however, that Ed. Short still retained possession of the warrant issued for the arrest of Sam Robinson. On Saturday July 22, Ed. Short was at Vorhees, and in some way learned that Sam Robinson, the two Cooks, who reside at Hugoton, and a man by the name of Donald, were in No-Man's-Land, or the Neutral Strip, commonly called "The Strip," on a picnicking or fishing excursion. Evidently Short thought now was his time to arrest Robinson. On Sunday or Monday, the 22d or 23d of July, he went to Woodsdale and secured the services of two or three men to go with him to "The Strip," for the purpose of arresting Robinson. They proceeded to Goff creek in "The Strip," to a camp kept by a man by the name of Reed, who lives at Moscow, who is a friend of Woodsdale, and there learned that Sam Robinson and his party were camped about one-half or three-quarters of a mile from there. Short sent a note by a settler on "The Strip" to Robinson demanding his surrender; that he had a warrant for his arrest; that he had men enough to take him and that he could not make his escape. The Cooks, knowing the desperate character of the two men, requested Robinson to get on his horse—a race-horse that he had with him, and leave the party, which he did. Short and his party gave chase. They finally got Robinson corraled in some way, but were not able to effect his arrest. Short then sent a messenger to Woodsdale and requested the Sheriff to get up a posse and come to his rescue; that he had Robinson corraled. The Sheriff, John Cross, called for volunteers, and Herbert Tonney, Bob Hubbard, Rollin Wilcox and C. W. Eaton joined the Sheriff and they started on Tuesday to reinforce Short and his posse for the purpose of arresting Sam Robinson. They proceeded to Reed's camp on Goff creek, the place where the messenger had started from. They scoured the country for some distance, and failed to find either Robinson or Short. The Cooks, however, after Robinson left them and was chased by Short, proceeded to Hugoton and started out a posse of nine men, for the purpose of assisting Robinson in his escape from Short. Who composed the posse of nine I do not know, except that it was led by the City Attorney of Hugoton, whose name I do not remember. The posse of nine sent out by Hugoton for the relief of Robinson could not be heard from, and a second party was organized by the Hugoton people and sent out for the purpose of looking for not only Robinson but the party of nine who had gone to his assistance. In the mean time Robinson had got away from Short and his party. He had made his way to Dudley's ranch and procured a fresh horse and escaped. Ed. Short and posse coming back from their pursuit of Robinson came in contact with the posse of nine who had gone out for the relief of Robinson, and a running fight was the result. They chased Short north and east out of the Neutral Strip and into Stevens county, and in the direction of Springfield, in Seward county. They then went back and pursued their search for Robinson.

The Sheriff and his posse from Woodsdale after coming to Reed's camp, and failing to find either Robinson or Short, retraced their steps in the direction of Stevens county. They learned by inquiry that there were some parties camping out and cutting hay at the head of what is called "Wild Horse lake," about six or seven miles south of the south line of Stevens county, in the Neutral Strip. Thinking they could possibly get water for themselves and food for their horses, they started for the camp from Goff creek. Their horses were about exhausted, and they walked and led them for several miles. They arrived at the hay camp at about nine o'clock. They inquired of the campers if they could get water, and were furnished water. They unsaddled their horses, and picketed them out so that they could reach the windrows of hay in what is called "Wild Horse lake." Wild Horse lake is simply a depression that during a wet season is filled with water, and the ground being more moist than elsewhere produces a sort of rush which the people cut for hay. Sheriff Cross and his posse had unsaddled their horses and picketed them out, and had lain down on the ground and talked with the campers. They told the campers that they had been down in the Strip on official business, and that it was for the purpose of arresting Sam Robinson; that they had not found him, and were going home.

The second posse sent out by Hugoton, headed by Cook, fell in with Robinson somewhere on Goff creek, and striking the trail of the Sheriff and his posse, pursued it. They came into the vicinity of the hay camp about ten o'clock, possibly a little before or a little after. The Sheriff and his posse were lying down, but not asleep, as they intended to rest their horses for an hour or two and then go on to Vorhees, where they could get feed for themselves and horses. Vorhees is about 15 miles from the hay camp, and is in Stevens county. The posse headed by the Cooks was composed of the following-named persons as near as I could ascertain. It is possible that there is a mistake in some of the names, but the majority of them are correct. They are: Oron Cook, Chas. Cook, Bel Hizer, J. W. Calvert, Calvert jr., Sam. Robinson, J. B. Chamberlain (Chairman Board County Commissioners), Smith Grub, John Jackson, A. M. Donald, John Rudder, Fred. Brewer, Sol Clott, and Wm. Clark. The gentlemen at the hay camp were: A. P. Haas, an old gentleman between 50 and 60 years old; C. Haas and Keen Haas, his sons, and Dave Scott. Dave Scott is a strong partisan of Hugoton, and was at one time a member of the Board of County Commissioners of Stevens county.

The Hugoton party all agree in one statement, as I have before stated, that they themselves were intending to camp at the hay camp, and that when they approached the hay camp for the purpose of going into camp, they were fired upon by the Woodsdale parties—the Sheriff's posse—and that they returned the fire and killed Sheriff Cross and the three other men, and wounded the boy. It will be remembered that there was no one killed or wounded in any way in the Hugoton posse, although Robinson did claim that he was wounded in the leg, which I think was not true.

I will first give you the statement of the boy as related to me, which I reduced to writing, and then I will give you the statement of other persons. He says his name is Herbert Tonney; that he is 19 years old; that he has resided in Stevens county since March, 1886; that on Tuesday evening of July 24th, John Cross asked him to go to the Strip with him to see what had become of Ed. Short and Sam Robinson. A man by the name of Carter had come up from the Strip and brought word that Ed. Short was down in the Strip and wanted help. He says they started from Woodsdale about 9 o'clock on Tuesday evening, the 24th; that he, Tonney, went over after Wilcox, and met the others about one mile south and east of Woodsdale. He said they first went to Vorhees, and thence to Goff creek, and then down the creek to Reed's camp; that they stayed there from 7 or 8 in the morning until 4 or 5 o'clock in the afternoon of Wednesday, the 25th; that they then started home; that some of their horses gave out; that they walked and led their horses for several miles; that they went to the hay camp at the head of Wild Horse lake, thinking they could get something to eat, and water. He said they did not know who kept the hay camp; that they arrived at the hay camp about 9 o'clock at night, Wednesday night; that the moon was just beginning to shine a little; that they got some water, talked with the hay-camp men for a few minutes, put out their horses, and laid down to rest. Eaton and Wilcox got into the wagon and laid down. He says that his horse got loose, and that he went out and tied him again, and that he was the last one to lay down. He said that they had been lying down for about fifteen or twenty minutes when they looked up and saw men coming. What is called the "Dudley Trail" runs from the northeast to the southwest from Vorhees to Dudley's ranch, and within about two hundred yards of the hay camp at the head of Wild Horse lake. "We never saw the men coming from the north towards the hay camp, they having left the trail;" that the Sheriff said, "Boys, they have got us." He said Cross and Hubbard started to get up; that instantly Sam Robinson came from behind the wagon that the boys were lying in, and said in rather a loud voice, "Boys, close in," and then said to Cross and the other parties, "Surrender, and hold up your hands;" that Cross, Hubbard and Tonney, standing pretty close together, held up their hands; that Wilcox and Eaton were in the wagon at this time, and apparently unobserved by the Hugoton party. That Robinson says to Cross, "Give up your arms." Cross said he did not have any; he had left his Winchester strapped to his saddle, and did not have any revolver. Robinson says to him, "I know better." That one of the Hugoton party then searched Cross, and said to Robinson, "He has no arms." Robinson said he knew better. Robinson then said to Cross: "Sheriff Cross, you are my first man," and fired his Winchester. Cross fell dead. Hubbard by this time had been disarmed by some of the men. After Hubbard was disarmed, Robinson said to him: "I want you too," pointed his Winchester at him and fired. Hubbard fell dead. Eaton had got out of the wagon and started to run in a southeasterly direction towards the horses. Robinson and one or two others pursued him, and he says they shot him. At this time J. B. Chamberlain, chairman of the Board of County Commissioners, was searching the boy, Tonney, for arms. Robinson came up and said to the crowd, "I have shot the man who drew the gun on me." After Chamberlain searched the boy and took his arms from him, he then stepped back about eight feet, drew his Winchester and fired. Tonney says that when he saw that Chamberlain was going to fire, and at that instant, he made a quick move and the result was that the ball entered the left side of his neck about three fourths of an inch from the carotid artery and about half an inch above the left clavicle bone, and came out immediately behind the shoulder, inflicting only a flesh wound. He says that he fell to the ground; that after he had lain there a minute or two he recovered from the sensation and realized the condition he was in; that the Hugoton party were then searching for the fifth man, and he heard them agree that there were certainly five men in the posse; that they must have the fifth man. He says that the men from the hay camp came up to where they were lying, and that one of them whose name he did not know stood directly to his left and within four or five feet of him, apparently looking at him; that he opened his eyes and saw the man stand there; that when the Hugoton crowd were on the farthest side of the group looking at Cross, this old man asked him where he was shot; that he told the old man that they had shot his arm off; that he then heard the crowd coming back towards him, and again feigned to be dead. He says they lit matches and peered into the faces of each one to see if they were dead. After Cross, Hubbard, Eaton, and himself had been shot, they continued the search for the fifth man, who was Willcox; that they finally found him, but where they found him he does not know; that they brought him up to within fifteen feet of where he, Tonney, lay, and he heard them ask him the question what he was doing there. Willcox said that he had just come; that he had been down in the Strip looking around. Robinson remarked that it was a damned lie, and, standing within fifteen feet of Willcox, raised his Winchester and fired. After Willcox fell, he heard him groan, or moan rather; that Robinson says, "Put the fellow out of his misery;" and some one then shot him again, he does not know who, he thinks with a revolver. They then went around the second time and shot Cross, Hubbard, and Eaton. They came to him and pulled him around by one foot, and Chamberlain says, "He is dead; I gave him a center shot." They came to him three different times, and he said that when they were near him he would close his eyes, and when they pulled him around he feigned to be dead, holding his breath as long as he could, and breathing, when he did breathe, as quietly as possible. They agreed that they did not know Tonney or Willcox, and that possibly they had killed two individuals that lived in the Strip. The hay men said, "What are we to do? we cannot go on and put up hay here with these corpses lying here; these Woodsdale fellows may come here and find these dead men, and then murder us." Robinson told the hay men to hitch up their teams and follow them. The hay men proceeded to hitch up their teams, and all started north. He says after they had been gone fifteen or twenty minutes, he raised himself up and on his feet, although very weak from the loss of blood; that he went to Willcox, Cross and Hubbard, and saw that they were dead. He discovered that they had taken the belts of cartridges from the dead men, including his, which he thinks were cut off; and that they had taken the Winchesters from the saddles. He says he heard them say, when they were taking the belts off of the dead men, that they had plenty of ammunition here. He says he heard Sam Robinson say to the posse, "Boys, if you don't want to keep those guns, turn them over to me; I will keep them." He also heard them say, "If we had Sam Wood now, we would be fixed."

The statement of this boy becomes very important, and it was necessary for me to find, if possible, corroborating circumstances before depending upon the statement. Previous, however, to the taking of this statement of the boy, I had the two conversations I have spoken of with two residents of Hugoton, who quietly told me that Robinson had done the shooting.

I determined then to see if possible the hay-camp men, and after leaving Woods-dale went to Hugoton, where we stopped all night, and at six o'clock the next morning started in a southwesterly direction to see Mr. Haas and Mr. Scott, the hay-camp men. We found the old gentleman Haas and David Scott at Scott's house, about 18 miles southwest of Hugoton, in Stevens county. I first took Mr. Scott's statement. He agreed substantially with the Hugoton people. He said he had been to Hugoton, and made a statement in writing, and given it to the Hugoton people. He said, in substance, that this party came there, as stated by the boy, at 9 o'clock. He said he was a partisan and friend of the Hugoton faction; that after they had talked awhile with Sheriff Cross and his posse they went to bed in their tent, which was a wagon sheet stretched from the top of the wagon and fastened down with stakes, to protect them from the sun in the daytime and the dew at night. The Sheriff and his posse said they were not going to sleep, that they were going to rest their horses awhile, and they were then going on to Voorhees, where they could get something to eat. Scott says he was awakened by the shooting. He says that the shooting was promiscuous, and that in his judgment there were fifty or sixty shots fired; that he undertook to go out of the tent, and that some one told him to stay back. He says that he recognized nearly all of the persons whose names I have heretofore given, including Chamberlain, the Cooks, and Sam Robinson, and he thinks there were some persons there who were not named in this list I have heretofore given.

During the time I was conversing with him, I kept watch of old gentleman Haas, who was sitting directly in front of me; in fact, I noticed him more closely than I did Scott, and in one or two instances he corrected Mr. Scott, and as soon as I could I commenced to interrogate Mr. Haas. He agreed with Scott as to the time, in fact agreed with him in everything down to the time of the shooting. He says he was awakened from his sleep by loud talking; what was said he does not know, but it is evident that it was the command of Robinson, who was then within a very few feet from where he lay, and the command to close in and the command to Cross and his posse to hold up their hands. He says that the firing was not promiscuous firing. He says he saw three of the men fall, Hubbard, Tonney and Wilcox; that the shooting was done almost wholly by one man; that these men fell one after another; that the man who did the shooting stood north of his victims and fired in a south or southeasterly direction. He says he did not see Cross fall, for the reason that he was on the opposite side of the stack from where he was. After he saw Hubbard and Tonney fall, he saw three men go to the south end of the ricks of hay and shoot at a man who was running, who he says was Eaton; that he heard Robinson say, "I have shot the man who drew the gun on me, that son-of-a-bitch Eaton." About this time he says Chamberlain came to the camp close to where he was standing and commenced to look in; that he asked Chamberlain what he was looking for, and Chamberlain said "For a gun." He, Haas, says to him, "We have no guns here." At this instant Chamberlain discovered a man in the tent, and says to Mr. Haas, "Who is this you have got here?" Mr. Haas says, "I don't know who that is." Chamberlain called out to the Hugoton crowd, "Here is our fifth man," and at the time commanded the man in the tent, who proved to be Wilcox, to come out. He marched him up to within fifteen or sixteen feet of where Tonney had fallen, and then Mr. Haas says some one asked him the question, "Who he was and what he was doing there?" He said that he had just come; that he had been looking around in the Strip. Robinson said, "That's a damned lie." The crowd by this time had surrounded Wilcox. The crowd stepped back south of Wilcox and Robinson drew his Winchester and fired, and Wilcox fell dead. Mr. Haas then walked up to where the crowd were examining the men who had fallen. He says he was standing close to the young man, whom he did not know, who proves to be Tonney, the wounded boy. He says he saw there was life in the boy. That when the crowd got on the furthest side away from the boy, he asked the boy where he was shot, and the boy said, "They have shot my arm off." The boy then fell back again square on his spine and again feigned to be dead, as the crowd were again approaching. Mr. Haas says he was frightened; that it was the first killing he ever witnessed, and that he was willing to do anything to get away; that he said to the Hugoton crowd that he did not propose to remain there and cut hay with those bodies there, and they told him as well as Mr. Scott to hitch up and follow them and go home. He says they did hitch up and went away, but he told his oldest son to go to Vorhees and tell the people of Vorhees what had been done, which the young man did, arriving at Vorhees before daylight in the morning.

You will observe that so far the old gentleman Haas has completely substantiated the statement of the boy, but there are some other corroborating circumstances that I will now relate, which I think are very significant.

There are two or three stacks of hay at this camp. Two had ricks running north and south, about 20 or 25 feet apart. Immediately north of the west rick is a small stack of hay about as high as a man's head. Immediately west of the south end of the ricks, and 24 steps from the west stack, was the camp or tent as it is called, where the two wagons stood. Immediately west of the two wagons, and running from the northeast to the southwest, is a draw or depression in which there is a growth of rushes or reeds, sufficient to cover a man on his hands and knees. In this draw we observed horses' tracks, tracks of men on foot, and buggy tracks, indicating that one part of this Hugoton party had followed this draw in their approach to the camp. Near one of the hay stacks we observed buggy tracks which had come from the trail, where the whole party seems to have left the trail. On the east side of the stacks and the south side of the stacks were also buggy tracks. Cook's party of the Hugoton faction says they were fired on from this little stack, and when I asked them why it was none of the Hugoton party were injured in this affray, they insist that it must have been because Cross and his men fired over the top of them. Cook agrees that they dismounted from their horses and got out of their buggies as they approached the stacks, and maintains that they fought in self-defense. Upon a close examination of the premises, we find that the stack over which Cook says they fired is too high for a man to shoot over at all.

One other significant fact is, that the four persons that were shot at the stacks, including Tonney, received seven balls, two in Cross, two in Wilcox, two in Hubbard, and one in Tonney; and we found seven empty shells of 44 calibre. The other man Eaton was shot some 150 yards away from the place where Cross and the others were shot, and hence we did not find the shell, as we did not know where the shooting party stood. And again, we find this to be true, that Eaton, the man who was shot in the swamp, still had possession of his revolver, and one chamber was empty, which accounts for the statement of Robinson that "he had shot the man who drew the gun on him, the son-of-a-bitch Eaton." We made measurements, and found the pools of blood where the men had fallen. It appears from the statement of the Hugoton faction themselves, that some of them went back the next morning and covered over the corpses; that they then for the first time discovered that the boy was not dead, and they organized a posse to search a number of houses in the vicinity of Vorhees hunting for the boy Tonney. The young man Haas had notified the citizens of Vorhees, and just after daylight they organized a party headed by Herman Cann, to go out for the bodies. The posse was preceded by Mr. Cann, who met Tonney, the wounded boy, about three miles from Vorhees. At first Tonney was afraid to tell Cann who he was, and he was afraid he had fallen in the hands of Hugoton parties. As soon as Cann informed him who he was and what his purpose was, he then told to Mr. Cann the same story that he gave to me. I also searched for the person before whom he made the first written statement, and found that he made the same statement then under oath, supposing it to be his dying declaration, only he told me more than he said in his statement supposed to be his dying declaration. The boy has made this statement three different times, and there is scarcely a particle of variation from his first and last.

At Vorhees I met a lady, Mrs. Carr, who washed the blood from Tonney's face and hands, and dressed the wound as well as she could. She exhibited to me his shirt and coat, and they were all covered with blood. She says that in washing him she discovered powder-specks in his face, and washed them off. This corroborates the statement of Tonney, that when Chamberlain shot him he stood within eight feet of him. I talked with a number of persons at Vorhees, and they all agree that the boy has told the one story from first to last.

As exhibiting the temper of the people at Hugoton, I will now relate a statement or two made to me by citizens of Vorhees who have heretofore been sympathizers of the Hugoton faction in their county-seat fight. A gentleman by the name of La Duax, who formerly lived in Osage county, with whom I have been acquainted for fifteen or sixteen years, says that the next day after this shooting—on Friday, he thinks it was—he was in Hugoton, where he met Mr. O'Connor, the City Attorney of Hugoton, Charles Cook, Charles Moore, the County Clerk, J. B. Chamberlain, and J. E. Davis, editor of the paper; that O'Connor said to him to come into his office, which he did, followed by Cook, Chamberlain, Moore, and Davis; that they locked the door; that O'Connor then said to him, "If you people at Vorhees don't stop feeding those Woodsdale people and helping them, we will go down and clean out your town;" that they would burn it to the ground; that this thing of aiding Woodsdale people had to be stopped. Mr. La Duax told them to open the door and let him out, and they did so. I have been acquainted with Mr. La Duax, and I know him to be a truthful man, and a man of great courage. He says that the conduct of the Hugoton people towards him was simply outrageous.

After the boy had arrived at Vorhees and had his wounds dressed by a physician, Mr. La Duax came from Hugoton and reported that there was a posse coming from Hugoton in search of the boy. Mr. Herman Cann, the constable of Vorhees township, took the boy in a buggy and intended to take him to Liberal and get him out of the reach of the Hugoton fellows, believing, as he said, that if they found him they would murder him. He got as far as Lafayette, some miles away and near the south line of Stevens county and near Liberal, when he discovered that the boy could not ride to Liberal. He took him to the house of a physician living at Lafayette, where he had his wounds dressed, and that night secreted him in a corn-field, where he was guarded by a number of citizens from Vorhees, and others. The next morning he was carried into the doctor's house. The Woodsdale people learned that the boy had been taken to Liberal by Mr. Cann, and they sent a large number of people, fourteen or fifteen, to Liberal for him. Mr. Cann sent a messenger and told them where the boy was. They then went to Lafayette, and, accompanied by Mr. Cann and a few citizens of Lafayette and Vorhees, they escorted the boy to Woodsdale, where he is now cared for in the best possible manner. The people of Woodsdale are determined to preserve the boy's life, and are guarding him night and day with about two hundred armed men.

The state of affairs in Stevens county is simply horrible, and after a careful examination of all the facts from as near an impartial standpoint as it was possible for me to investigate them, I am satisfied that the killing of Cross and his posse was a deliberate murder; that the men were shot down like brutes, after they had surrendered and delivered up their arms. I am satisfied that the fourteen men constituting the Hugoton party are each and every one of them guilty of murder, and they ought to be prosecuted to the extent of the law.

I would suggest that a military force be sent to Stevens county to maintain peace and order; that you issue a proclamation commanding the people of Stevens county to lay down their arms, and direct your commanding officer to secure all the arms in Stevens county in possession of the contending factions, give his receipt therefor, and turn them over to the Adjutant General for safe-keeping until such time as it may be deemed safe to turn them over to their owners. That he be directed to arrest all persons who, in his judgment, are about to engage in any affray, or in any way disturb the peace and quiet of Stevens county. There being a question of jurisdiction, I would suggest that warrants be issued by the United States authorities by order of the Judge of the District Court of the United States for the District of Kansas, and that the United States Marshal accompany the military force sent by you to Hugoton, and there, by the aid of the military force, serve the warrants, as it would be useless, in my judgment, for the United States Marshal to attempt to serve warrants on these parties in Stevens county without a larger posse than it is possible for him to raise. It would be also useless to attempt to try these men for such a heinous crime in that district, although they are of course entitled to a trial in that district. The counties composing the district are new counties that have gone through the privations now existing in Stevens county, and the chances to secure a conviction would be very doubtful, hence the importance of having them tried by United States or Federal authorities. I believe that they are guilty of murder committed in the Neutral Strip, commonly called "No Man's Land," and hence could not be charged with murder in the State courts of Kansas. I do not believe, as others have intimated, that there is a territory in the United States so large as what is commonly called "No Man's Land," at the south of Kansas, over which none of the courts of the United States have jurisdiction. I do not believe that that question has been so presented to the courts and adjudicated as to state, with any degree of certainty, that such is the case, and in this case I think it ought to be tested, and the parties should be arrested.

During the entire trip I was accompanied by Brig. Gen. Myers and his adjutant, Capt. John Wallace, two estimable gentlemen and prudent officers.

I would suggest that you appoint as Sheriff of Stevens county, Herman Cann, who in my judgment is as good, if not the best man for the position in Stevens county. He is a man of nerve, of cool judgment, one of the oldest citizens of the county, and a large property-owner, and in my judgment a man fitted for the position. There are petitions prepared asking for the appointment of others, but in each case they are partisans of either Woodsdale or Hugoton. I recognize it is impossible for a man to live in a county like Stevens without in some degree being a partisan, and therefore conclude that Mr. Cann is, or has been at least, a partisan of one or other of the factions; but he is disgusted with such conduct as has been perpetrated in Stevens county, and in my judgment would see that the laws are obeyed to the best of his ability, and would so discharge the duties of the office as to not unnecessarily injure anybody.

I have the honor to transmit herewith this report to you of my investigations upon this subject. If anything further is desired, I am at your command.

Yours respectfully,

S. B. BRADFORD.

OFFICIAL REPORT OF THE SECOND EXPEDITION TO STEVENS COUNTY, AUGUST, 1888.

BY BRIGADIER GENERAL MURRAY MYERS.

To His Excellency, Governor John A. Martin—DEAR SIR: I have the honor to report that on July 28, 1888, I received the following telegram:

TOPEKA, KANSAS, July 28, 1888.

To General Murray Myers: Attorney General Bradford leaves at noon on Rock Island train for Stevens county. Join him with one of your staff officers at Hutchinson and go with him to investigate condition of affairs there. Report to me from Liberal by telegraph what you learn there, and send frequent reports.

JOHN A. MARTIN, Governor.

And answered as follows:

WICHITA, July 28, 1888.

Governor John A. Martin, Topeka—DEAR SIR: I will go on first train. Respectfully,

MURRAY MYERS.

Captain John A. Wallace and myself started for Hutchinson over the Missouri Pacific Railway at 6 o'clock P. M. same day, and failing to reach that point in time for the southwest-bound train on the Rock Island Railroad, we remained there, and next morning started for Liberal. We were met at Pratt Center by Attorney General Bradford, and together arrived at Liberal at 8 o'clock P. M. where we witnessed a genuine street shooting scrape while waiting for a conveyance. The information we gleaned from Hugoton and Woodsdale people, who were here watching each other and afraid to return to their homes, prompted the following dispatch:

LIBERAL, July 29, 1888.

Gov. J. A. Martin—DEAR SIR: From information gained at this place, I am of the opinion that the situation in Stevens county is unchanged. It is reported that both parties are under arms at a point eighteen miles this side of Hugoton, but I doubt it. We start immediately for that place.

Very respectfully,

MURRAY MYERS.

While at Liberal we were approached by several citizens of Hugoton who desired to return to their homes, but being afraid to do so alone, asked permission to accompany us, which request we granted, and together immediately started to Hugoton, where we arrived about 10 o'clock the same night. As Attorney General Bradford, Capt. Wallace, and myself, together investigated the condition of affairs at this time in Stevens county—talking with a great many people in Hugoton, Woodsdale, and in all parts of the county, and going to the battle-ground at Wild Horse lake in No Man's Land, making a thorough examination of its position and surroundings—and having read in the papers Attorney General Bradford's report, and believing it to cover the whole matter, so far as the facts existed in said county during the investigation, I will refrain from making a detailed report, hoping and believing that the immediate circumstances of the killing of four men and wounding of two others will be thoroughly investigated in the proper courts; therefore I at this time refrain from giving an opinion.

On the 2d day of August we returned to Topeka and reported to you in person. At noon of the same day I received orders from your Excellency to proceed with the Second Regiment and section B, First Light Artillery, to Stevens county to assist the United States Marshal in making arrests, preserve the peace, and disperse lawless mobs. Thereupon I sent the following telegram to Col. L. N. Woodcock:

TOPEKA, KANSAS, August 2, 1888.

Col. L. N. Woodcock, Wichita, Kas.: Place your regiment under marching orders at once. Each company has been notified from here. The troops will assemble at Hutchinson on first train. Notify your staff. Ricksecker has been ordered to H.

MURRAY MYERS, Brigadier General.

Being informed the Adjutant General would make all necessary arrangements for transportation, I immediately left for Wichita, arriving at 8 P. M., and leaving at 9 P. M. for Hutchinson, where the command was massed during the night, and in the morning boarded a special train of the Rock Island Railroad, and arrived at Liberal at 6 P. M. same day. Adjutant General A. B. Campbell, having preceded us, had supper prepared for the troops at the depot hotel. Wagons were secured to transport the baggage, and at 8 o'clock we moved out two miles and went into camp. On the morning of the 4th the command broke camp at 5 o'clock, and moved across the sand-hills, a distance of eleven miles, to the nearest place to water, which we reached about 11 o'clock in the forenoon. This was one of the hottest days of the year, and three men became prostrated by the heat. These men it was necessary to transport in the ambulance, the rest of the troops marching through like old veterans, never uttering a complaint. Under the boiling-hot sun, tents were put up, and everything possible done for the comfort of the men. Then the task of drawing water with a common wooden bucket from a depth of 200 feet commenced. The horses had not been watered since the day before, and after hard, faithful work by the troops for three hours, I became satisfied that it would be impossible to draw the water as fast as the troops could drink it. The supply began to show symptoms of being exhausted, and fearing the men would die for want of water, I issued the following order:

ON THE MARCH, August 3, 1888.

Col. L. N. Woodcock: You will move your command by companies, at intervals of fifteen minutes, starting the first company at 4:30 P. M., having each company's wagon follow its company. Instruct the men to fill canteens at the wells as they pass.

MURRAY MYERS, Brig. Gen. Commanding.

At 6 o'clock the entire command was on the road, and four miles further on we found another well. The company in advance had time to fill their canteens by the time the next company came up. At this well, for the first time since leaving Liberal, the horses were watered. In this way we proceeded to within four miles of Hugoton, where we went into camp, having abundance of water and good camping-ground, the rear of the command getting into camp at 9 o'clock, having made a march of thirty miles, a part of which was through heavy sand, and on one of the hottest days of the season. Such endurance, borne without a murmur, is rarely seen; and I made up my mind then and there, that this command could whip all the lawless mobs that the State of Kansas ever saw. On the morning of the 5th we broke camp, and with flags flying and bands playing, marched into Hugoton, pitching our camp within the city limits in the most advantageous position possible. The following order was issued, and the soldiers allowed the remainder of the day for rest:

SPECIAL ORDER NO. 10.]

CAMP TIM MCCARTHY, HUGOTON, KANSAS, August 5, 1888.

Colonel L. N. Woodcock, Commanding Second Regiment: The troops will not be permitted to leave camp without a pass from company commanders, approved by the colonel commanding, and countersigned at the brigade headquarters. Unlimited passes will be issued to cooks by their immediate commanders. Details for water may be sent at any time.

By order of

MURRAY MYERS, Brigadier General.

J. A. WALLACE, A. A. G.

The consolidated report on the morning of the 6th showed thirty-three officers and two hundred and seventy-four men present and fit for duty. United States Marshal Jones having warrants for a few of the ring-leaders, they were arrested, and on the 7th taken by him to Topeka. The prisoners were allowed by him to retain their arms—a proceeding which I thought very unwise. Your Excellency's proclamation, also one from my headquarters, were published, as follows:

GOVERNOR'S PROCLAMATION.

STATE OF KANSAS, EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT, TOPEKA, August 2, 1888.

Whereas, It is reported to me by the Attorney General of the State and by Brigadier General Myers of the Kansas National Guard, who were sent to ascertain the facts, that there are two hostile factions of armed men in the county of Stevens, and that there is grave danger of an armed conflict between these parties: and

Whereas, Four men have been killed and one wounded in a conflict between the two forces; and that

Whereas, The civil officers seem powerless to preserve the peace and enforce the law, and the state of feeling between the people of the opposing localities is such that prompt and vigorous measures must be resorted to in order to preserve the public peace, restore tranquility and secure the uninterrupted operation of the law:

I, therefore, in pursuance of section 27, article 9, chapter 64, of the General Statutes of the State of Kansas, do hereby proclaim that there is imminent danger of breaches of the peace in the county of Stevens; and for the sole purpose of preventing such breaches of the peace, and to restore public tranquility in such locality, and to enable all legal processes to be served, and all officers to discharge their duties without fear or molestation, do order the Second Regiment, Kansas National Guard, into active service, and do direct Brigadier General Murray Myers to assume command of the forces in the field.

General Myers, with the troops thus ordered into active service, will proceed by the most direct routes to Stevens county. The Adjutant General will furnish the necessary transportation and subsistence for the forces in the field.

And in the meantime I do call upon all armed parties in said county to disperse and lay down their arms, to preserve the public peace, and to obey the legally constituted authorities of the State and county.

General Myers is authorized and directed to seize and take into his custody all arms and munitions found in the hands of the persons in Stevens county, who, in his judgment, are armed partisans of any contending factions or parties. He will give his official receipt for such arms, and turn them over to the Adjutant General for safe-keeping.

The Commanding General is also authorized to place in arrest any person who, in his judgment, is engaged in, or about to engage in any breach of the peace or unlawful act, or who is aiding or assisting others in disobeying any law, or resisting any lawful writ, or aiding or encouraging in the disturbance of peace, and to hold such persons until such time as they can be dealt with according to law.

In testimony whereof, I have hereunto subscribed my name and caused to be affixed the great seal of the State. Done at the city of Topeka, this second day of August, A. D. 1888, and of the independence of the United States the one hundred and thirteenth year.

JOHN A. MARTIN.

By the Governor: E. B. ALLEN, Secretary of State.

HEADQUARTERS SECOND BRIGADE K. N. G., HUGOTON, August 5, 1888.

Assuming the responsibility imposed upon me as commander of the forces in the field, the foregoing proclamation of the Governor of the State of Kansas is respectfully promulgated. Now you are, each and every citizen of Stevens county, commanded to immediately deliver up and turn over to brigade headquarters at Hugoton, to Lieut. Col. J. H. Ricksecker at Woodsdale, who will receipt to you for the same, all Winchester rifles, revolvers, or other weapons of war, which you may have in your possession.

You are also ordered to report to these headquarters the whereabouts of all such arms known to have been hidden away for the purpose of evading this order.

Furthermore, any person found selling intoxicating liquors to the troops will be arrested, and all liquors found in their possession will be destroyed.

Act in good faith with us if you expect like return. Take due notice, and govern yourselves accordingly.

MURRAY MYERS, Brigadier General Commanding.

The troops were not allowed to lapse into idleness, but every opportunity was improved for their advancement in "school of the soldier," military science and discipline, the improvement in which was noticeable every day.

On the 8th the following orders were issued:

SPECIAL ORDER NO. 11.]

CAMP TIM MCCARTHY, HUGOTON, KANSAS, August 6, 1888.

Col. L. N. Woodcock, Commanding Second Regiment K. N. G.: Two companies of your regiment are hereby relieved from duty at this camp, and will report to Lt. Col. J. H. Ricksecker for the purpose of proceeding to Woodsdale on the morning of August 7th, where the command will go into camp and await further orders. By order of

J. A. WALLACE, Captain and A. A. G.

MURRAY MYERS, Brig. Gen'l Commanding.

Lt. Col. J. H. Ricksecker, Commanding Post at Woodsdale: You will, upon receipt of this order, cause a search to be instituted for fire-arms of every description, in every building within the corporate limits of Woodsdale, and the country adjacent thereto, being careful to leave all premises unmolested, and giving your personal receipt therefor.

MURRAY MYERS, Brig. Gen'l.

The citizens did not respond in good faith, very few arms having been turned over. I issued the following order:

SPECIAL ORDER No. 14.]

CAMP TIM MCCARTHY, August 8, 1888.

Col. L. N. Woodcock, Commanding Second Regiment K. N. G.: You will, immediately upon receipt of this order, cause diligent search to be made of all dwellings, stores, houses, and outhouses of every description in the corporate limits of this town, for the purpose of securing any fire-arms that may be stored away or hidden therein, and all such arms so found are to be taken possession of by you and turned over to these headquarters. You are enjoined to be very cautious in the discharge of this duty and leave all premises unmolested and unharmed in other respects.

MURRAY MYERS, Brig. Gen. Commanding.

The result of this search was the securing in guns and pistols about two hundred. We made every effort to convince the people that we were there as conservators of the peace; met and talked with them singly and at public meetings, and Adj. Gen. Campbell did much in his eloquent, persuasive way to allay the bitter feeling and deadly hatred that had grown rapidly since the Wild Horse Lake fight.

On Friday night the prisoners returned with arms in their possession, and I immediately disarmed them.

On this day, receiving the sad news of the death of Gen. Sheridan, I issued the following order:

GENERAL ORDER No. 6.]

HEADQUARTERS SECOND BRIGADE K. N. G., }
CAMP TIM MCCARTHY, HUGOTON, August 10, 1888. }

Officers and Soldiers: One of the most illustrious soldiers of the age has surrendered to our common enemy. Gallant Phil. Sheridan, whom we all loved, has pitched his silent tent "on fame's eternal camping-ground." The general commanding believes he expresses the feelings of every officer and soldier in his department when he deeply deploras the loss to the army and to the country of the second of the three generals whose names will illumine the pages of military history till eternity has grown gray. Therefore, in memory of our distinguished comrade, the usual badge of mourning will be worn by this command, and the flag suitably draped for the period of thirty days.

By order of MURRAY MYERS, Brigadier General Commanding.

JOHN A. WALLACE, A. A. G.

On the 10th I received from you the following order:

SPECIAL ORDER No. 60.]

TOPEKA, KANSAS, August 8, 1888.

SECTION 1. Brigadier General Murray Myers, commanding the troops in the field, now stationed at Camp Tim McCarthy, in Stevens county, Kansas, will, upon receipt of this order, relieve from further active service four companies of the Second Infantry, and section B, First Light Artillery, Kansas National Guard.

SEC. 2. The Commanding General will also relieve from active service such of the field and staff officers of the Second Regiment as can be spared from duty.

SEC. 3. The General commanding will direct the officers and men thus relieved to report to the Adjutant General for transportation to their respective stations.

By order of the Commander-in-Chief.

A. B. CAMPBELL, Adjutant General.

And I immediately issued the following:

SPECIAL ORDER No. 17.]

CAMP TIM MCCARTHY, August 10, 1888.

Col. L. N. Woodcock, Commanding Second Regiment K. N. G.: Four companies of your regiment are hereby relieved from active service, and will report to Adjutant General Campbell for necessary transportation to their respective stations. By order of

MURRAY MYERS, Brig. Gen. Commanding.

Under command of Maj. J. T. Showalter, the troops designated started on their return. Knowing the necessity of returning the troops at first practicable moment, and having installed the new Sheriff (Herman Cann) in office, and giving him every assistance possible to enable him to get possession of the situation, I concluded, on the 13th, to withdraw all the troops from Stevens county. Accordingly the following orders were issued:

SPECIAL ORDER No. 121.]

CAMP TIM MCCARTHY, }
BRIGADE HEADQUARTERS SECOND REGIMENT K. N. G., }
HUGOTON, KANSAS, August 13, 1888. }

Capt. Jake Cline, Commanding Detachment at Woodsdale: You will cause your command to break camp to-morrow at ten o'clock A. M., and immediately proceed to this place, where you will report to Col. L. N. Woodcock for further orders. By order of

HOWARD M. DAVIS, A.-D.-C. and A. A. G.

MURRAY MYERS, Brig. Gen. Commanding.

CAMP TIM MCCARTHY,
BRIGADE HEADQUARTERS SECOND REGIMENT K. N. G., }
HUGOTON, KANSAS, August 13, 1888.

SPECIAL ORDER NO. 23.]

Lieut. Willis Metcalfe, Commanding Detachment First Light Artillery: You will cause your command to break camp at the hour of four o'clock P. M. to-morrow, August 14th, for the purpose of proceeding in the direction of Liberal on the way home. Apply to Adj't. Gen'l Campbell for transportation.

By order of      MURRAY MYERS, Brig. Gen'l Commanding.

HOWARD M. DAVIS, A.-D.-C. and A. A. G.

CAMP TIM MCCARTHY,
BRIGADE HEADQUARTERS SECOND REGIMENT K. N. G., }

SPECIAL ORDER NO. 22.]

Col. L. N. Woodcock, Commanding Second Regiment K. N. G.: Capt. Kline, commanding detachment at Woodsdale, has been ordered to rejoin his regiment, and will report to you at the hour of four o'clock P. M. to-morrow, August 14th, 1888, at which time you will cause your command to break camp for the purpose of proceeding toward Liberal on our return home. You will apply to Adj't. Gen'l Campbell for transportation. By order of

MURRAY MYERS, Brig. Gen'l Commanding.

HOWARD M. DAVIS, A.-D.-C. and A. A. G.

At four o'clock on the afternoon of August 14th, the command broke camp and moved out eight miles, where a halt was made for the purpose of taking supper, after which the command was put under way, in order to recross the sand-hills during the cool hours of night. Morning found the troops in camp within four miles of Liberal, and at ten o'clock the finish was made in fine shape. Dinner was served at the Ormer House, and at 2 P. M. the train pulled out with the boys singing "Home-ward Bound."

I feel it a matter of congratulation that from the time the soldiers of this command left their homes until their return, not a life was lost, not an accident occurred to mar a happy return.

I cannot close this report without speaking in the very highest terms of the citizen soldiers, who composed the force on this expedition, who through pure patriotism, left their farms, workshops, counting-rooms and families, and freely gave their services that this proud State of ours might be vindicated and her laws enforced. The generosity of our State is the pride of every Kansan, and it should be exemplified in the care and treatment of our National Guard, who often are called upon to risk their lives in the defense of its citizens and in the execution of its laws. And I trust that our Representatives, when next assembled, will wake up to the fact that in the ranks of the National Guard of the State of Kansas, can be found some of its most patriotic and influential citizens, and they should have more pay, better clothing, and receive more encouragement than they have heretofore. I refrain from making special mention, from the fact that every officer and soldier did nobly. Discipline was of the very best, and their conduct throughout was that of true soldiers and gentlemen, and to them is due the success of the expedition, and I believe, sir, the disposition you have shown to protect the citizens of the border counties of this State in the peaceful possession of their homes, and your prompt action in sending to their relief a military force, has been the means of saving many valuable lives, and taught the lawless element that factional quarrels and unlawful shedding of blood will no longer be tolerated, and will redound to your credit as a wise ruler. I have the honor to be, most respectfully,

Your obedient servant,

MURRAY MYERS,

Brigadier General, Kansas National Guard.

SIXTH BIENNIAL REPORT

OF THE

AUDITOR OF STATE

AND

REGISTER OF STATE LAND OFFICE,

For Fiscal Years ending June 30, 1887, and June 30, 1888.

TOPEKA, KANSAS.

KANSAS PUBLISHING HOUSE: CLIFFORD C. BAKER, STATE PRINTER.

OFFICE OF AUDITOR OF STATE, }
TOPEKA, KANSAS, September 1, 1888. }

To His Excellency JOHN A. MARTIN, Governor:

In compliance with section 1, chapter 180, Laws of 1877, I have the honor to submit the Sixth Biennial Report of this Department for the two years ending June 30, 1888. Very respectfully,

T. McCARTHY, Auditor of State.

REPORT.

ASSESSMENT AND TAXATION.

In a general way, our system for the assessment and collection of taxes operates admirably.

The taxes for the year 1886, which is the last tax year closed before the date of this report, have been satisfied by collections, mileage, double and erroneous assessments, excepting the small balance of $6,734.43, being less than one per cent. of the assessment for that year.

There are, however, some sections of the tax laws which seem to be misconstrued by the assessors. Section 58 provides that "The several township and city assessors shall meet at the county seat in their respective counties on the first Monday of March in each year, and then agree upon an equal basis of valuation of such property as they may be called upon to assess. It shall be the duty of the county clerk of each county to notify said township and city assessors at least ten days previously, of the date of such meeting."

The assessors in many cases construe this section of the law to mean that they may agree upon a basis of assessment very much less than the value of the property in money. In some cases they agree upon a basis of forty per cent. of real value; in other cases they make the per cent. fifty per cent., or sixty per cent.

This section was evidently intended to bring the assessors together to fix a uniform rate upon certain classes of personal property, such as cattle; but it is not clear to my mind that it was the intention of the Legislature, in passing this law, to allow assessors to agree upon a per cent. basis less than the true value of property in money.

The law of 1885, to provide for levying and collecting delinquent State taxes, has operated very well. The provisions of section 5 of the law have been carefully complied with by this Department from year to year, with good results.

I desire to call your attention to the difficulty in obtaining assessment returns, and other statistics, from some of the newly-organized counties. In some cases the township assessors have made returns to two different sets of officers, whose places of business were located at different places. As a result of this, the county clerk has not been able to make a complete abstract of assessment, and the county commissioners have failed to equalize the assessments. No regularly-made abstract of assessment has ever been received at this office from Hamilton county, although it has been organized since January 29, 1886; and I would suggest that something be done in the way of legislation to authorize the Governor of the State to appoint some suitable person to proceed to assess and make return of property in all cases where the county authorities fail to make return as required by law.

In many instances, where improvements have been made on the lines of railroad, new buildings, side tracks, etc., have been omitted from the returns of the various companies. To prevent any property of this class from escaping taxation, I would recommend that the law be so amended as to require the railroad companies to make an extract of their returns, to the county clerks of the counties through which their roads pass, and that the county clerks be required to check the returns and ascertain if the property has all been listed; and after such examination, and having added any property which may have been omitted by the railroad companies, the county clerk shall certify to the correctness of the returns, and forward the same to the Auditor of State. This shall be done on or before the 10th day of April in each year.

It should be made the duty of the county surveyors to measure all side tracks, wherever there is any question as to the length of same in any municipality, and certify the result to the county clerk, who shall forward the same to the Auditor of State, and the State Board of Railroad Assessors may in their discretion use such certificate in their assessment of railroad property.

The time allowed for making the assessment of railroad property is entirely too short, and at least thirty days more time should be allowed for the purpose, and a special appropriation for clerk-hire should be made to aid in making up the returns and preparing the certificates, as the work should be very carefully and thoroughly done by experienced clerks.

SALES OF SCHOOL LANDS.

In numerous cases, where parties have settled upon State school lands, and have made proof of their right to purchase same at the appraised value, the cost of such proof has been charged to the school fund. I would recommend that all costs incurred in the probate courts, in case of settlement, contests, or from other causes, be required by law to be paid by the parties interested, and not by the State; and I am of the opinion that no fees should be allowed for any purpose whatever, on account of the school fund, except the expenses for appraising, and, in case of timber lands, for subdividing the same into lots.

It has been almost impossible to obtain complete reports of number of acres school land sold, etc., by counties, as provided in Laws of 1871 and 1876, in time to prepare a statement for publication in this report, some of the counties being unable to make a complete report for want of data.

In case of forfeiture of school lands for non-payment, the Attorney General says:

"The mere making out of an account against a county or State for services on a forfeiture is improper. The services are to be rendered in a suit to eject the occupant from the land. If no suit has been successfully tried, the county attorney is not entitled to any fees, and no action should be brought unless some one is in possession of the land. I hold that an act of forfeiture, where the land is vacant and unoccupied, of itself restores the title to the State of Kansas, without bringing a suit in ejectment."

MORTGAGE DEBT.

For the purpose of obtaining reliable information in relation to the amount of mortgages on real estate in Kansas, it seems to me it would be a move in the right direction to have some legislation which should provide for official returns of such indebtedness, to be made to the Auditor of State, who should publish the same by counties in the Biennial Report of this Department. At present there is no method of ascertaining the mortgage debt, and exaggerated statements are made by unscrupulous and designing demagogues representing that the State is buried by an enormous mortgage indebtedness. This is calculated to mislead the public and injure the good name and credit of the State, the result of which would be an increased rate of interest to parties compelled to borrow money on real estate security.

GUERRILLA RAID CLAIMS.

Under the law of 1887, providing for the payment of losses by invasion by guerrillas, the entire amount allowed by the Commission of 1875 was $882,390. Of this amount, settlement has been made for $864,089 of old claims by the issuance of new certificates under the law of 1887, amounting to $346,776.34 principal.

This pays about forty per cent. of the face of the old certificates, and leaves yet outstanding $18,301 not adjusted, which will require $14,425 new certificates to satisfy the whole amount.

Some of these claims are in litigation, and other certificates of small amounts have not been presented for allowance. In some cases, parties having claims, had lost or destroyed their old certificates, and in all such cases the parties have filed affidavit of loss, together with bond of indemnity as provided by law in other cases. On page 484 of this report will be found a detailed statement of guerrilla claims audited.

SUGAR BOUNTY.

The law of 1887 providing that a bounty shall be paid upon sugar manufactured in this State, is not very clear in regard to the appropriation, and should be amended so as to make the appropriation more definite. It is questionable whether any appropriation exists at present for the payment of bounty. Section 6 of the law, in any event, would be of no effect after June 20, 1889, unless further appropriations be made.

STATE HOUSE.

Your attention is respectfully invited to the fact that imported iron is being largely used in the construction of our State House. It seems to me that under our economic system, laying every other consideration aside, no public buildings in the State of Kansas should contain one pound of imported iron. All kinds of materials manufactured in America should be used to the exclusion of any others.

COUNTY AND MUNICIPAL INDEBTEDNESS.

The facility with which counties and cities issue bonds is becoming almost alarming. The enormous increase of indebtedness within the last two years is a matter which should attract the attention of the Legislature.

It seems to me that the law of 1879, providing for funding indebtedness, does not contemplate the funding of warrants for current expenses, from time to time, but was intended to compromise and adjust old indebtedness, or debts past due, and it seems imprudent for any county or municipality to create a debt for current expenses in excess of the levy for the year in which the indebtedness was incurred.

In the issuance of funding bonds, I am inclined to the belief that after a certain number of years from the date of issue, a sinking fund should be levied to redeem the bonds, and the same should be issued in such manner that the highest number of the series outstanding should become due within one year from the date of the levy of tax for that purpose. This would prevent the accumulation of money, and would save the difficulty of investing and changing the sinking funds.

A bond made payable in installments is objectionable to purchasers, is difficult to record, and not desirable.

Of the $13,338,061 of bonds registered within the last two years, $8,544,550 have been issued for the construction of railroads, and the wonderful activity in that line shows that the indebtedness has not been incurred without some compensation in return, as the total number of miles of new railroads placed on the tax-rolls are 3,793 miles of main track, to say nothing of side-tracks, etc., with an increased assessed valuation of railroad property of $20,394,728.

PROCEEDINGS OF THE BOARD OF RAILROAD ASSESSORS.

TOPEKA, KANSAS, April 16, 1887.

The State Board of Railroad Assessors met pursuant to the statute, in the office of the Auditor of State, and adjourned from day to day until its labors were completed. Present: Lieutenant Governor A. P. Riddle, Secretary of State E. B. Allen, Treasurer of State J. W. Hamilton, and Auditor of State T. McCarthy.

On motion, the following resolutions were adopted:

Resolved, That the rolling stock of the several railroads in Kansas be assessed for the year 1887 as follows, except as otherwise indicated on the face of the returns:

Locomotives, each.....	$4,000	Refrigerator cars.....	$400
Passenger cars, all kinds.....	2,000	Commissary cars.....	300
Sleeping cars.....	6,000	Combination cars.....	275
Dining cars.....	6,000	House or box cars.....	275
Official cars.....	3,000	Water cars.....	275
Pay cars.....	2,500	Cattle cars.....	250
Emigrant cars.....	1,200	Oil cars.....	250
Pile-driving cars.....	1,000	Flanger cars.....	250
Mail cars.....	1,000	Stone dump cars.....	230
Mail and express cars.....	1,000	Coal cars.....	200
Baggage, mail and express cars.....	1,000	Platform cars.....	200
Express cars.....	900	Tool cars.....	200
Baggage cars.....	900	Hand cars.....	25
Fruit cars.....	750	Rubble cars.....	20
Steam shovel.....	3,000	Push cars.....	20
Derricks.....	5,000	Derrick or wrecking cars.....	600
Caboose cars, each.....	500	Plow and scraper.....	300
Boarding cars.....	550

Resolved, That the telegraph lines along the several railroads in Kansas be assessed at $40 per mile for one wire and $15 for each additional wire; that the same be added to the valuation of the right-of-way and main track.

After fixing the rate per mile of main track of the several railroads as shown in schedule No. 2, the Board passed the following resolutions:

Resolved, That the valuation per mile which this Board fixes upon the main track of any railroad is held to include the value of the right-of-way, road-bed, bridges, and track.

Resolved, That where this Board assesses buildings used in the operation of any railroad, the same being located on the right-of-way or adjacent thereto, said valuation is intended to include the lot or tract of land upon which the same is located.

Resolved, That switches, side-tracks and turnouts of all railroads be assessed at $2,000 per mile.

Resolved, That sleeping and dining cars not owned by the railroad companies using the same be assessed to said companies as agents of the owners of said cars, and that the valuations therefor be computed in the proportion that the mileage in this State bears to the total run, and that the same be extended upon the certificates separate from the other property of the railroads to which they are assessed.

Resolved, That where town lots are condemned for right-of-way, or purchased for that purpose, and so much of the same is used for right-of-way as to render the remainder useless for other purposes, it is the purpose of this Board to assess the whole of such lots to the railroad company, and they should therefore not be assessed by the local authorities.

In the matter of certain rolling stock operated by the Kansas City, Wyandotte & Northwestern Railroad Company, but reported by the company to be leased from the owner, it was on motion resolved that the property be assessed to the railroad company as agent for the owner.

The Board considered the protest of the Atchison & Nebraska Railroad Company against assessment of Pullman cars, and on motion it was resolved to assess the company as agents of the Pullman Company, three cars at $6,000 each, to be apportioned according to mileage.

In the matter of Pullman sleeping cars operated by the Kansas City, Fort Scott & Gulf Railroad Company, it was on motion resolved to assess the three cars at \$6,000 each, on a mileage of  $483\frac{1}{4}$ , of which  $117\frac{1}{4}$  is in Kansas; the amount to be assessed to the Kansas City, Fort Scott & Gulf, and Fort Scott, Southeastern & Memphis, as agents of the Pullman Palace Car Company.

It appearing that the St. Louis, Fort Scott & Wichita Railroad was assessed for four Pullman cars in 1886, when it should have been assessed for but two, it was on motion resolved that the value of two sleepers be deducted from the valuation of the rolling stock of said company for the year 1887.

The claim of the St. Joseph & Grand Island Railroad Company, that the telegraph line along their road should be assessed to the Western Union Telegraph Company, was considered, and the Board of Assessors find that said telegraph line is located on the right-of-way of the railroad company and is operated by the employes of the said railroad company; the Board therefore conclude that the railroad company is either the owner of the telegraph, or agent for the owner, and assess the same to the railroad company.

A similar claim on behalf of the St. Louis & San Francisco Railroad Company was considered, and the same conclusion arrived at as in the case of the St. Joseph & Grand Island Railroad Company.

In the matter of Pullman palace cars operated by the St. Louis & San Francisco Railroad Company, upon the statement of Mr. Douglas in behalf of said company it was resolved to assess the railroad company as agent of the Pullman Palace Car Company, the basis of apportionment to be in the proportion which the run from Missouri State line to Wichita bears to the total run from St. Louis to Wichita.

It appearing that no returns have been made by the Fort Leavenworth Railroad Company, it was resolved to assess the said company at the same rate as last year, viz.: \$6,000 per mile for  $1\frac{1}{4}$  miles main track on Fort Leavenworth military reservation, and \$2,000 per mile on  $2\frac{1}{4}$  miles of side track.

The Board considered the subject presented in the following letter, viz.:

WIANDOTTE, KAS., May 17, 1887.

E. B. ALLEN, Esq.—Dear Sir: The Interstate Rapid Transit Railroad Co., Consolidated, was put in operation last October, and has been in operation since. Will you please tell me whether this comes under the head of steam railroads, and to be assessed by the State Board of Railway Assessors, and whether they have assessed it this year or not. The City Assessor in Kansas City, Mo., has assessed that portion of the line which is in Missouri. The Board of Equalization meets in about two weeks from now, and I should like to know in time. Yours respectfully,

I. C. BAILEY, City Assessor,
145 James St., Kansas City, Kas.

On motion, the following resolution was adopted:

Resolved, That in the opinion of the State Board of Railroad Assessors, the law does not contemplate that this class of property should be assessed by said Board.

The buildings of the several railroads of the State were assessed as shown on the face of the returns.

There being no further business before the Board, on motion it adjourned.

T. MCCARTHY,

TOPEKA, KAS., July 7, 1887.

The Board of Railroad Assessors met in special session. Present: J. W. Hamilton, Treasurer of State; S. B. Bradford, Attorney General; T. McCarthy, Auditor of State—a quorum being present.

On motion, S. B. Bradford was elected chairman pro tem.; after which, on motion, proceeded to take up the returns of the Kansas & Indian Territory Railroad for consideration, and fixed the valuation at \$4,000 per mile on  $2\frac{1}{2}$  miles of main track. The valuation of buildings and other property located on the right-of-way was fixed at prices noted on the face of the returns.

On motion, the returns of the rolling stock of the Rock Island & Pacific Railroad were taken up for consideration, and prices fixed in accordance with resolution of the Board in regular session.

There being no further business, the Board then adjourned.

T. MCCARTHY,

PROCEEDINGS OF THE BOARD OF RAILROAD ASSESSORS.

TOPEKA, KANSAS, April 16, 1888.

The State Board of Railroad Assessors met pursuant to the statute, in the office of the Auditor of State, and adjourned from day to day until its labors were completed. Present: Lieutenant Governor A. P. Riddle, Secretary of State E. B. Allen, Attorney General S. B. Bradford, and Auditor of State T. McCarthy.

On motion, the following resolutions were adopted:

Resolved, That the rolling stock of the several railroads in Kansas be assessed for the year 1888 as follows, except as otherwise indicated upon the face of the returns:

Locomotives, each.....	$4,000	Refrigerator cars.....	$400
Passenger cars, all kinds.....	2,000	Commissary cars.....	300
Sleeping cars.....	6,000	Combination cars.....	275
Dining cars.....	6,000	House or box cars.....	275
Official cars.....	3,000	Water cars.....	275
Pay cars.....	2,500	Cattle cars.....	250
Emigrant cars.....	1,200	Oil cars.....	250
Pile-driving cars.....	1,000	Flanger cars.....	250
Mail cars.....	1,000	Stone dump cars.....	280
Mail and express cars.....	1,000	Coal cars.....	200
Baggage, mail and express cars.....	1,000	Platform cars.....	200
Express cars.....	900	Tool cars.....	200
Baggage cars.....	900	Hand cars.....	25
Fruit cars.....	750	Rubble cars.....	20
Steam shovel.....	3,000	Push cars.....	20
Derricks.....	5,000	Derriek or wrecking cars.....	600
Caboose cars, each.....	500	Plow and scraper.....	300
Boarding cars.....	550

Resolved, That the telegraph lines along the several railroads in Kansas be assessed at $40 per mile for one wire and $15 per mile for each additional wire; and that the same be added to the valuation of the right-of-way and main track, said valuation to include instruments and other material used in operation.

Resolved, That the valuation per mile which this Board fixes upon the main track of any railroad is held to include the value of the right-of-way, road-beds, bridges and track.

Resolved, That where this Board assesses buildings used in the operation of any railroad, the same being located on the right-of-way or adjacent thereto, said valuation is intended to include the lot or tract of land upon which the same is located.

Resolved, That switches, side-tracks and turnouts of all railroads be assessed at $2,000 per mile.

Resolved, That sleeping and dining cars not owned by the railroad companies using the same, be assessed to said companies as agents of the owners of said cars, and that the valuations therefor be computed in the proportion that the mileage in this State bears to the total run; and that the same be extended upon the certificates separate from the other property of the railroads to which they are assessed.

Resolved, That where town lots are condemned for right-of-way, or depot reservations, or terminal facilities, or purchased for said purposes, and so much of the same is used for said purposes as to render the remainder useless for other purposes, it is the purpose of this Board to assess the whole of such lots to the railroad company, and they should therefore not be assessed by the local authorities.

Whereas, It appears that the Ellinor Extension of the Chicago, Kansas & Western R. R., located in Chase county, and subdivided as follows, viz.:

	Main track.		Side track.
Toledo township.....	0.64	Ellinor.....	0.19
Falls       ".....	6.12	Gladstone.....	1.67
Bazaar     ".....	3.04	Bazaar.....	0.89

was completed before March 1st, 1887, but not listed for taxation for that year, and not assessed by this Board; therefore,

Resolved, That said railroad track and side track be assessed at double the valuation fixed by the Board for the year 1888; but the buildings shall be assessed but once, as they were not erected on March 1st, 1887.

It appears by the returns made by the Tax Commissioner of the Missouri Pacific Railway system, that  $10\frac{44}{100}$  miles of main track have been returned in LeRoy township. The measurements made by the County Surveyor of Coffey county show but  $10\frac{50}{100}$  miles. The Tax Commissioner returns but  $1\frac{14}{100}$  miles of side track, while the County Surveyor claims  $2\frac{14}{100}$  miles. The Board is of opinion that  $\frac{1}{100}$  miles of this difference is due to the fact that the Tax Commissioner returns it as main track, instead of side track; and  $\frac{1}{100}$  is the measurement of the side tracks from turn-table to round-house, which is always considered as a portion of the round-house and turn-table valuation. The Tax Commissioner contends that some of this side track must really be temporary, for use in construction, and not necessary to the usual operation of the road. The Board has, however, increased the mileage of side track in the city of Leroy for the Kansas & Arizona Division of the Missouri Pacific to 2 miles instead of  $\frac{1}{100}$  of a mile.

As to the ten-acre tract of which mention is made, the right-of-way will include the usual amount of land on each side of center of main track (50 feet.) If buildings or side tracks cover the ground or a portion of it, an additional and reasonable allowance must be made on that account, as the assessment made by the State Board is intended to cover the same, in the valuation put upon the said buildings or side track. If any portion of the tract is left over and above this amount, it may be and should be assessed by the local assessors.

The Board further orders that, as it appears that  $1\frac{14}{100}$  miles of side track escaped taxation last year, it shall be doubly assessed this year.

The Board considered a statement made by the city of Fort Scott, showing the boundaries of said city had been enlarged so as to increase the mileage of the Kansas City, Fort Scott & Springfield Railroad in said city by the addition of  $\frac{67}{100}$  of a mile, and to correspondingly decrease the mileage in Scott township; and it was resolved to change the apportionment made in the returns of said railway company accordingly.

In the matter of the right-of-way and grade of Beaver Valley Railroad, as follows:

Rawlins county.....	16.22 miles
Cheyenne county.....	27.78 "
Total.....	44.00 miles

the Board holds that they are not authorized under the law to assess the same, but that it should be assessed by the local authorities as real estate.

The following protest from the Atchison & Nebraska Railway was considered by the Board:

ATCHISON & NEBRASKA RAILROAD COMPANY—SUPPLEMENTAL REPORT.

To the Honorable State Board of Equalization of the State of Kansas — GENTLEMEN :
The Atchison & Nebraska Railroad Company, for your information, but not for the purpose of assessment against said company, herewith make a supplemental report, relating to Pullman sleeping cars hauled upon its lines of railway during the year ending Feb. 29th, 1888, the same being set forth in a detailed statement hereto attached, and made a part of this report, and marked "Exhibit A."

And the said Atchison & Nebraska Railroad Company respectfully protests against the assessment to said railroad company of the said Pullman sleeping cars set forth in said statement, for the following reasons, to wit:

1. That said cars were not, during the said year ending Feb. 29th, 1888, and are not now, owned, nor was any interest therein owned, by the Atchison & Nebraska Railroad Company, but said cars were and are the sole property of Pullman's Palace Car Company, and if assessable at all in the State of Kansas, should be assessed against said Pullman's Palace Car Company.

2. That said cars were during said year ending Feb. 29th, 1888, used solely for the purpose of transportation of passengers interstate, and were employed in the business of interstate commerce on lines of railway extending interstate; that is, upon lines beginning without the State of Kansas and extending into the State of Kansas, or lines beginning within the State of Kansas and extending out of the State of Kansas, and not upon any lines local to said State; that is, lines beginning and ending in the State of Kansas.

3. That said Pullman's Palace Car Company, the sole owner of said cars, is a corporation organized and existing under and by virtue of the laws of the State of Illinois, and during the year ending February 29th, 1888, was and still is engaged in the manufacturing, equipping, owning, using, furnishing for use, and selling cars, including sleeping, drawing room and parlor cars. That said Pullman's Palace Car Company has no domicile in the State of Kansas, and that said cars have no situs in the State of Kansas for the purposes of taxation; but that the situs of said cars for purposes of taxation is in the said county of Cook and State of Illinois.

4. That said cars are subject to taxation at the home or domicile of said Pullman's Palace Car Company, in the county of Cook, State of Illinois; that the said Pullman's Palace Car Company was for the year 1887 and is for the year 1888, and for each year, compelled to pay a tax in the county of Cook, in the State of Illinois, upon its tangible property as well as upon its capital stock, which tangible property and capital stock represents all of its real, personal, tangible and intangible property without regard to where the same is located, and include its cars used upon the lines of railroad of this company in the State of Kansas, and mentioned in the detailed statement hereto annexed.

5. That the taxation of said cars by States other than that in which the owner thereof has a domicile is in violation of article 1, section 3, of the Constitution of the United States.

6. That in the use of said Pullman sleeping cars on this company's line of railroad, said Pullman's Palace Car Company, during said year, had and still has the exclusive right to furnish to railroad passengers the use or accommodation of seats and sleeping berths in such cars, and received therefor fixed fares, the amount whereof was and is determined solely by said Pullman's Palace Car Company.

7. That the Atchison & Nebraska Railroad Company did not during the year ending February 29th, 1888, nor does it now, nor has it at any time, derived any of the revenues from the sales of seats or berths in said cars, but the entire revenue therefrom is paid directly to said Pullman's Palace Car Company, and is turned directly into the treasury of said company, in the county of Cook in the State of Illinois.

8. That in the use of said cars upon the lines of railway of this company, Pullman's Palace Car Company had at all times during the year ending February 29th, 1888, and does now at all times have an agent or conductor in charge of said cars, and of the collection of tickets or fares for the use of seats or berths in said cars by passengers occupying the same, which said agent or conductor is an employé of the said Pullman's Palace Car Company, and not of this railroad company, and over whom said railroad company has no control.

9. That said Pullman's Palace Car Company received no portion of the railroad fares collected by the railroad company for the transportation of its passengers upon its lines of railroad; but that said railroad fares are entirely distinct from, and have no relation to, the fares paid for the use of seats or berths in said Pullman sleeping cars.

10. That said Pullman sleeping cars should not be assessed or taxed in the State of Kansas, for the year 1887 or 1888.

11. That in no event should said cars be assessed or taxed to this railroad company, for such assessment and taxation would be a wrongful requirement that this company should pay taxes on cars not owned by it, but owned and used by, and at all times, when in use, in the possession of Pullman's Palace Car Company, a foreign corporation.

STATE OF NEBRASKA, COUNTY OF DOUGLAS, ss.

C. D. Dorman, of lawful age, being first duly sworn, upon his oath deposes and says: That he is the Auditor of the Atchison & Nebraska Railroad Company; that he has read the foregoing supplemental report, and knows the contents thereof; and that the facts therein stated are correct and true to the best of his knowledge and information and belief.

And further affiant saith not.

C. D. DORMAN.

Subscribed and sworn to before me, this 30th day of March, 1888.

G. W. LOOMIS, Notary Public.

It was resolved to assess to the said railroad company, as agents of the Pullman Palace Car Company, the number of Pullman cars used in their line in Kansas, as shown by the supplemental report of the railroad company, in proportion to the mileage made by the cars in their total run.

The same action was taken in regard to a similar protest made by the Republican Valley Railroad Company.

The Board considered a statement made by the city of Paola, with copies of city ordinances and certificate of County Surveyor, showing that the boundaries of the city had been enlarged, and in consequence the railroad mileage in Paola township correspondingly decreased; and it was resolved to change the apportionment of mileage in the returns of the various railroads concerned, in accordance therewith.

The Board considered a statement made by the County Clerk of Republic county, relative to railroad property located in the city of Belleville. It was ordered that 1.52 miles of the main track of the Junction City & Fort Kearney Railroad be credited to the city of Belleville, and that all buildings be credited to Freedom township, being located in that part of the city which lies in said township.

The Board considered a statement made by the County Clerk of Ottawa county, and the supplementary report submitted by G. W. Veale, Tax Agent of the Solomon Railway, and it was ordered that the mileage of main track in Center township be divided so as to credit 1.40 miles to the city of Minneapolis. It was also ordered that the local buildings, which had been omitted from the rolls in 1887, be assessed at double their valuation for the year 1888.

The Board considered the several statements made by S. J. Smock, County Clerk of Cowley County, and the plat and certificate made by J. M. Bradley, County Surveyor of said county. It was determined that the return made by the Kansas City & Southwestern Railway, of  $\frac{3}{8}$  mile of side track in Beaver township, was erroneous; and, there being no side track there, that the return of  $\frac{3}{8}$  mile of side track in Cresswell township was erroneous, and that the length should be  $\frac{1}{8}$  mile; that  $1\frac{3}{8}$  miles of side track should be assessed in Arkansas City; that the return of  $4\frac{3}{8}$  miles of side track in Bolton township is erroneous, and that it should be  $4\frac{1}{8}$  miles of main track and  $\frac{3}{8}$  miles of side track; and that  $1\frac{1}{8}$  of such side track be assessed double in 1888 because it escaped assessment in 1887.

The Board considered a complaint made by P. S. Moore, Trustee of Plum Creek township, Montgomery county, relative to the proportion of track of the Southern Kansas Railroad which should be assessed in that township. Explanations were made by Mr. Moore, and by Mr. Learnard, Tax Commissioner of the railroad, and it was ordered that  $7\frac{3}{8}$  miles be credited to Plum Creek township, and  $4\frac{1}{8}$  miles to Independence township.

The buildings and other property on the right-of-way of the several railroads in the State were assessed as shown on the face of the returns.

There being no further business before the Board, on motion it adjourned.

T. MCCARTHY,

Auditor of State, and Secretary State Board of Railroad Assessors.

---

TOPEKA, KANSAS, June 29, 1888.

The Board of Railroad Assessors met in special session, at the office of the Auditor of State.

Present: E. B. Allen, Secretary of State; J. W. Hamilton, Treasurer of State; S. B. Bradford, Attorney General; T. McCarthy, Auditor of State. Quorum present.

On motion, S. B. Bradford was elected chairman pro tem.

The question of the assessment by the Board of the Interstate Rapid Transit Railroad Co., Consolidated, at Wyandotte, and the West Side Circle and Rapid Transit Railway Companies, at Topeka, was taken up for consideration. After mature deliberation upon the question of the assessment by the Board of the roads above referred to, the following resolution was unanimously adopted:

Resolved, That in the opinion of the State Board of Railroad Assessors, the law does not contemplate that this class of property should be assessed by said Board.

The returns of the Wichita & Western, and the Kingman, Pratt & Western, were taken up for consideration, and on motion, the rate per mile was fixed on the Wichita & Western at $4,200 per mile, and on the Kingman, Pratt & Western at $4,000 per mile.

The valuation of buildings and other property located on the right-of-way was fixed at prices noted on the face of the returns.

There being no further business before the Board, it adjourned sine die.

T. MCCARTHY,

Secretary State Board of Railroad Assessors.

The tables on page 5 show the receipts and disbursements of the different funds for each fiscal year in consolidated form, together with the balances on hand at the end of each year.

A true and correct statement of the receipts and disbursements of the various funds belonging to the State, and all securities of which the Treasurer is custodian, will be found by reference to the tables following.

RECOMMENDATIONS AND REMARKS.

The Legislature of 1887 passed a law creating the office of Assistant State Treasurer, and on March 9th, 1887, I appointed Hon. R. R. Moore to this position. His long service as chief clerk to several of my predecessors enables him to be of valuable service to the State in his new position.

ADDITIONAL LEGISLATION ASKED.

I would respectfully call your attention to the passage of an act by the Legislature, which would be general in its nature, allowing counties, townships, school districts, boards of education, etc., who have bonds in this office, and held by the different funds, the privilege of paying them at any time they may have funds in their treasury to do so. Section 265 of the Compiled Laws allows this to be done for school-district bonds belonging to the Permanent Fund, and it should be so amended as to apply to all bonds held by the various school funds in this office.

BONDS FALLING DUE.

I desire to call your attention to the fact that State bonds to the amount of $87,000 will fall due July 1st, 1889. A very small increase to the sinking fund levy will take care of this amount when it falls due. I will say, however, if it is deemed best to refund this amount into new bonds, to run for twenty years, at 3 per cent. interest, payable semi-annually, they can be sold at par. This last, in my judgment, is the best thing to do.

I wish to call attention to recommendations and remarks made by my immediate predecessor, the Hon. Samuel T. Howe, beginning on page 89 of Fifth Biennial Report, upon Assessment and Taxation, Railroad Assessment Law, Telegraph, Telephone and Express Companies' Assessment, Bank Reports, Salaries of the State Officers, etc.; and in addition thereto I wish to say, the various school funds have reached such proportions that it is necessary, for their judicious investment, that the office of Loan Commissioner be created. The officers who are now charged with the investment of this vast fund (nearly $6,000,000) cannot give that attention which should be given this important matter, without neglecting other and important duties. And in my judgment a saving could be made which would amply repay the State for the employment of an officer of this kind.

I take this method of acquainting you and the public of the loyal services rendered myself and the State by R. R. Moore, Assistant State Treasurer; H. N. Coffin, Bond Clerk; Mark P. Miller, Assistant Bond Clerk; Samuel O. Orner, Book-keeper; and Miss M. L. DeBost, Stenographer.

Very respectfully,

J. W. HAMILTON, State Treasurer.
